Basics Architecture 01: Representational Techniques Lorraine Farrelly, 2008-01-08 Basics Architecture 01 Representational Techniques by Lorraine Farrelly explores the concepts and techniques used to represent architecture It describes a broad array of methodologies for developing architectural ideas ranging from two and three dimensional conceptual sketches through to the working drawings required for the construction of buildings and offers a range of practical drawing methods showing how to present and plan layouts make conceptual sketches work with scale use collage and photomontage to create contemporary images along with techniques to prepare and plan design portfolios The book also deals with a variety of media from those used in freehand sketching through to cutting edge computer modeling and drawing techniques Using examples from leading international architects and designers along with more experimental student work a broad range of interpretations possibilities and applications are demonstrated Students and practitioners will find this a useful and clear companion to a vital aspect of architectural design

Cut and Paste Urban Landscape Mira Engler, 2015-08-11 During the post war era the emerging consumer economy radically changed both the discourse and practice of architecture It was a time where architecture became a mainstream commodity whose products sold through mass media a time in which Thomas Gordon Cullen came to be one of Britain's best known twentieth century architectural draftsmen Despite Cullen's wide acclaim there has been little research into his life and work particularly his printed images and his methods of operation This book examines Cullen's drawings and book design and also looks into his process of image making to help explain his considerable popularity and influence which continues to this day It presents the lessons Cullen had to offer in today's design culture and practice and looks into the post war consumerist design strategies that are still used today

Artists' Impressions in Architectural

Design Bob Giddings, Margaret Horne, 2003-09-02 This book analyses the ways in which architects have presented their designs for clients and the public both historically and contemporarily Draughtsmanship Ronald Fraser Reekie, 1957

Managing the Building Design Process Gavin Tunstall, 2006-08-14 Managing the Building Design Process explains the designer's role in the creation of new buildings from the development of the plan through to completion. One key case study is used throughout the book so that the reader can clearly follow the process leading to the creation of a new building. This new edition expands on the first edition including sections on CAD and sustainability incorporating updates to legislation and adding new illustrations as well as discussion points and useful references at the end of every chapter. Gavin Tunstall is an architect and a lecturer in the School of Architecture Design and the Built Environment at Nottingham Trent University UK.

Architectural Drawing David Dernie, 2010-10-04 This book focuses on the exciting possibilities for representing the built environment with all the techniques both ancient and modern that are now available. It teaches students the following skills: how to draw using a range of media, the basic rules of making effective spatial images, how to read a drawing and how to express ideas through appropriate media and forms of communication. Following a brief introduction, the book is divided into three sections: Media, Types and Places. Each section is illustrated with exemplary drawings and accompanying commentaries. Step by step sequences and practical tips will further help students to make the most of their newly acquired skills. This book is an indispensable practical and inspirational resource in architectural schools and practices alike.
