A Nonviolent Theology of Love Sharon L. Baker

Putt, 2021-02-02 The impetus behind the ease with which the church has periodically justified violent behavior lies in its conceptual image of God as a violent deity This book emerges out of a passion to think differently albeit biblically about the character of God and articulates a theological construction of a nonviolent God an alternative to any image of God that seems to condone human violence It calls the church to rethink theology as something other than what might be termed redemptive violence and encourages Christians to reinterpret Scripture and traditional theological beliefs in ways that are more faithful to the God disclosed in Jesus of Nazareth Students of theology need a fresh glimpse of the love mercy and redemptive power of God through Jesus As it follows the structure of the Apostles Creed through the various theological topics this book reminds Christians to share in God's desires for peace and love and to recommit themselves to the call of God to be ministers of reconciliation and lovers of both neighbors and enemies even while at times responding to violence with nonviolent resistance

Rethinking Research in the Art Museum Emily Pringle, 2019-07-16 Rethinking Research in the Art Museum presents an original and radical perspective on how research can function as an agent of change in art museums today The book analyses a range of art organisations and draws on numerous interviews with museum professionals to outline the limitations of existing models of museum research Arguing for a more democratic formulation in tune with the current needs and ambitions of the art institution Emily Pringle puts forward a framework for practitioner led co produced research that redefines how knowledge is created in the museum Recognising that museums today negotiate multiple agendas the book outlines the value of constructing the art museum professional as a practitioner researcher and their work as a mode of practice based research be they educators archivists curators or conservators Locating these arguments within the framework of new museology critical pedagogy professional and organisational studies and epistemology the book offers insights and guidance for those interested in how art museums function and the role research plays within these complex institutions Rethinking Research in the Art Museum provides a timely and important resource for museum professionals and scholars students artists and community members It should be of particular interest to those invested in exploring how art museums can continue to make the most of their unique resources whilst becoming more collaborative inclusive and relevant to the twenty first century
