

Life, Birth and Death in Democritus. Atomistic Reflections Between Physics and Ethics*

MIRIAM CAMPOLINA DINIZ PEIXOTO

/ Federal University of Minas Gerais /

Judging by the series of texts concerning the subject of life, birth and death in Democritus, we find, in his reflections and enquiries, his interest in the way men of his time faced the processes of birth and death. His reflections include a wide range of perspectives and aspects that include examining human behaviour in the face of death and investigating how it reveals a certain temperament or inclination, inquiring about the nature of these processes and extending the analyses of the processes of birth and death to whole beings through the couple generation-corruption. Democritus' physical doctrine postulates that birth/generation and death/corruption are truly no more than just aggregation and separation of substances or primary elements. In this exposition, we intend to examine the main theses and arguments which appear in all testimonies and fragments through which
