Robert Ruarks Africa:

A View from a Tall Hill Terry Wieland, 2020-10-27 Africa hunting short stories sporting Robert Ruark was perhaps the most renowned safari writer of the twentieth century. As a respected columnist and author during his lifetime, his writings have influenced thousands of hunters to travel to Africa to see the places that Ruark immortalized in his writings. Despite his impact, Ruark only wrote for a period of fifteen years, but it was a time where he lived his life to its fullest potential. He travelled all across the world in order to see and do everything he could dream of, but it was in East Africa that he came to find a spiritual home. As the area became increasingly independent of colonial rule, Ruark predicted the economic, social, and political ruin that has since been the daily reality of the region. In this detailed account of Ruark's life, Terry Wieland has written a definitive book on Ruark, the restless traveler, and the times in which he lived, as well as his lifelong fascination with Africa.

Robert Ruark's Africa Robert C. Ruark, 1991-07-01 These are previously uncollected works of Robert Ruark edited by Michael McIntosh. Ruark's tales of African hunting not only explore the animals and their habits but also why people hunt dangerous game.

A View from a Tall Hill Terry Wieland, 2004-03-25 Robert Ruark was the most influential safari writer of the latter 20th century. He was a nationally renowned columnist and author who inspired both hunters who traveled to Africa and those who could only dream about it. This is a biography of Ruark about his work, the times in which he lived, and the strange allure that Africa held for him.

The White Spaces of Kenyan Settler Writing Terrence L. Craig, 2017-03-27 The White Spaces of Kenyan Settler Writing provides an overview of Kenyan literature by white writers in the half century before Independence in 1964. Such literature has been overshadowed by that of black writers to the point of critical ostracism. It deserves attention for its own sake as the expression of a community that hoped for permanence but suffered both disappointment and dispossession. It deserves attention for its articulation of an increasingly desperate colonial and Imperial situation at a time when both were being attacked and abandoned in Africa, as in other colonies elsewhere, and when a counter discourse was being constructed by writers in Britain as well as in Africa. Kenya was likely the best known twentieth century colony for it attracted publicity for its iconic safaris and its Happy Valley scandals. Yet behind such scenes were settlers who had taken over lands from the native peoples and who were trying to make a future for themselves based on the labour, willing or forced, of those people. This situation can be seen as a microcosm of one colonial exercise and can illuminate the historical tensions of such times. The bibliography is an attempt to collect the literary resources of white Kenya in this historically significant period.

Mau Mau in Harlem? G. Horne, 2009-08-31 Based on archival research on three continents, this book addresses the interpenetration of two closely related movements: the struggle against white supremacy and Jim Crow in the U.S. and the struggle against similar forces and for national liberation in Colonial Kenya.

The Lost Classics Robert Ruark, 2024-03-26 A collection of magazine stories that Ruark wrote in the 1950s and 1960s but were never published in book form.

African Settings in Contemporary American Novels Dave Kuhne, 1999-05-30 Africa has long captured the Western imagination as a land shrouded in danger and mystery British and American novels written before World War II established popular conventions and stereotypes about Africa that have been increasingly challenged by contemporary American novels set in Africa Kuhne s book overviews the ways in which Africa has been employed as a powerful setting for American novels written since World War II Kuhne argues that contemporary American novels with African settings are largely didactic that these novels convey specific lessons about Africa and Africans and that they compare African and American cultures in order to evaluate and critique the two worlds The book begins by summarizing the conventions and themes Westerners have traditionally associated with Africa and by detailing how British and American authors from Aphra Behn to Ernest Hemingway depicted Africa before World War II It then looks at contemporary American novels set in invented African nations novels that typically suggest that the problems that trouble actual African nations are the result of colonialism A separate chapter then examines the African novels of African Americans which generally aim to correct the historical record refute stereotypes and detail the horrors of the slave trade The volume also looks at genre fiction set in Africa while a final chapter discusses postcolonial novels with African settings Someone of Value Hugh W. Foster,1992 Field & Stream ,2007-10 FIELD STREAM America s largest outdoor sports magazine celebrates the outdoor experience with great stories compelling photography and sound advice while honoring the traditions hunters and fishermen have passed down for generations Horn of the Hunter R. Ruark,1953-01-01 The story of the author and his wife s two month safari in East Africa in the 1950s Ruark s philosophies are intertwined in the hunting stories to make unforgettable reading
