Serving The Common Good A Postcolonial African Perspective On Higher Education Society And Politic:

Serving the Common Good Kiluba L. Nkulu, 2005 Serving the Common Good combines critical analysis and interpretation of theory and practice for higher education in Africa and in the West. It demonstrates the current urgent need to articulate an educational ideal relevant to the cultural, economic, political, and social problems of the twenty-first century. Utilizing Julius K Nyerere's vision of education for the common good, a pragmatically balanced articulation of a postcolonial African perspective on higher education. Kiluba L. Nkulu emphasizes a human-centered approach to community and national development. Serving the Common Good offers a provocative and unique perspective on the state of higher education in Africa and will be useful in courses on African Studies, Education and Society, Educational Foundations and Inquiry, Higher Education and Leadership, Political Economy and Sociology. The Bibliographic Index, 2005 Bibliographic Index, 2006 Joyce in the Belly of the Big Truck; Workbook Joyce A. Cascio, 2005-05 Higher Education in Postcolonial Africa Michael Oládèjo Afoláyan, 2007 American Book Publishing Record, 2005 Higher Education Transformation in Africa Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, Logan Govender, Dennis Zami Atibuni, 2024-11-05 This book critically interrogates the notion of transformation in higher education, focusing on epistemological and structural issues in postcolonial and contemporary Africa. The book considers the multifaceted challenges facing higher education in the continent and uses the concept of transformation as a common thread weaving through a range of issues including epistemology, identity, relevance, research, collaboration, and decoloniality. Arguing for a holistic approach towards progressive and innovative education systems, the book calls for a fundamental transformation that expands access, enhances quality, and competitiveness, addresses past injustices, and improves the capacity to act together for a more sustainable and just future. Overall, the book makes a powerful case for the power of transformation in higher education to shape the social, economic, and cultural fabric of society. This book's critical evaluation of knowledge production in Africa will be an important read for researchers and policymakers involved in Africa's higher education sector. Political Science in Europe Thibaud Boncourt, Isabelle Engeli, Diego Garzia, 2020-05-28 The last half century has been a defining period for the development of political science in Europe. Disciplinary norms have become institutionalized in professional organizations, training units, and research centres. The scholarly community has dramatically grown in size across the continent. The analytical and methodological tools of the discipline are increasingly sophisticated, and the knowledge disseminated under the label political science is bigger than it has ever been. Political Science in Europe takes stock of these developments and reflects on the achievements of the discipline and the challenges it faces. Is there a distinctive European blend of political science? Is the European political science community cohesive and inclusive? How does the discipline cope with the neoliberalisation of academia and the diffusion of illiberal politics? Leading and up-and-coming political scientists answer these questions by discussing the discipline's key concepts and intellectual trends, its professional structures, and its relationship with its social economic and political environment

University Community Engagement and Lifelong Learning Julia

Preece, 2017-07-13 This book offers a conceptual re think of how university community engagement functions as a lifelong learning resource for communities While having a specific focus on the South African context it has important implications for other universities which are concerned with their communities and makes a compelling argument for the university as a public good in spite of current trends towards marketization and commodification of higher education The book draws on a theoretical framework of capabilities asset based community development and the adult learning concept of dialogue to propose a model whereby the boundary walls of the university become metaphorically porous so that community members feel free to interact with the university as equal members of society A historical outline of African universities is provided as well as an exploration of the evolution of terms for community engagement service learning and learning cities and an examination of the policy and practice implications for the ideological model of a porous university

Bryan Dewsbury,Susannah McGowan,Sheila S. Jaswal ,Desiree Forsythe,2024-09-24 Research demonstrates that STEM disciplines perpetuate a history of exclusion particularly for students with marginalized identities This poses problems particularly when science permeates every aspect of contemporary American life Institutions repeated failures to disrupt systemic oppression in STEM has led to a mostly white cisgender and male scientific workforce replete with implicit and or explicit biases Education holds one pathway to disrupt systemic linkages of STEM oppression from society to the classroom Maintaining views on science as inherently objective isolates it from the world in which it is performed STEM education must move beyond the transactional approaches to transformative environments manifesting respect for students social and educational capital We must create a STEM environment in which students with marginalized identities feel respected listened to and valued We must assist students in understanding how their positionality privilege and power both historically and currently impacts their meaning making and understanding of STEM
