Setting Limits Medical Goals In An Aging Society:

Setting Limits Daniel Callahan,1988 The author reexamines our medical and social policies concerning the aged and makes several cogent recommendations Setting Limits Daniel Callahan,1995 Sparking controversy in medical social and professional circles the nation s most respected medical ethicist strikes at the heart of America s growing health care crisis the care of the aged The New York Times Book Review calls Setting Limits A pivotal work the benchmark for future moral medical and policy discussions of aging Setting Limits Daniel Callahan,1995-03-01 A provocative call to rethink America s values in health care The Encyclopedia of Aging Richard Schulz,2006 Print CourseSmart Old Age and the Search for Security Carole Haber,Brian Gratton,1993-12-22 Haber and Gratton lay to rest many conventional assumptions concerning the place of older persons in American history Choice Haber and Gratton s meaty little book does more than provide an intelligent synthesis of existing old age history its new interpretations insights and shifts of emphasis will provoke responses and help move historians work away from the now threadbare original disputes in e field toward new questions and approaches American Historical Review Indeed Haber and Gratton give us a refreshingly multidimensional history of the shift in old age security from work assets or children to government annuities Contemporary Sociology the history of old age has finally come of age The authors successfully synthesize the best of the earlier social and cultural studies with new empirical evidence and recent findings of economic historians Journal of Economic History A truly revisionary interpretation of the cultural and structural forces that shaped the elderly s lives from the colonial period to the present Lucid and controversial it is bound to be widely cited and hotly contested W Andrew Achenbaum This social history of the American elderly offers a provocative new view of aging in the United States It revises traditional assumptions about the economic status of the old and challenges the long held contention that industrialization destroyed family relationships Aging: Culture, Health, and Social Change David N. Weisstub,David C. Thomasma,S. Gauthier,G.F. Tomossy,2013-06-29 Culture Health and Social Change is the first of three volumes on Aging conceived for the International Library of Ethics Law and the New Medicine Leading scholars from a range of disciplines contest some of the predominant paradigms on aging and critically assess modern trends in social health policy How we approach and understand aging will have indelible effects on existing and future elder citizens Acknowledging the cultural variances that exist in the human experience of aging is therefore of vital importance in order to respond to individual needs in a manner that is not paternalistic discriminatory or exclusionary Aging in Hong Kong Jean Woo,2012-09-06 With the longest life expectancy for men and the second longest for women Hong Kong typifies our planet s aging population The daily lives of its older adults closely match the advantages and disadvantages experienced by urban elders in other developed countries For these reasons Hong Kong s elderly serve as a salient guide to older people s social psychological and healthcare needs concerns of increasing importance as the world grows older Aging in Hong Kong examines this emblematic population as a case study specifically in comparison with their counterparts in the West shedding light on diverse interrelated currents in the aging experience Referencing numerous international studies the book contrasts different health service arrangements and social factors and relates them to a variety of health outcomes Its wide ranging coverage documents health and illness trends reviews age friendly policy initiatives relates health literacy to patients active role in their own care and discusses elders as an underserved group in the division of limited health funding and resources This multiple focus draws readers attention to policies that need revisiting or retooling as chapters analyze major life areas including Living environment Retirement and post retirement employment issues Financial asset management Health literacy regarding aging issues Elder positive service delivery models Ageism in the prioritization of healthcare End of life issues By assembling such a wealth of data on its subject Aging in Hong Kong puts ongoing challenges into clear focus for gerontologists sociologists health and cross cultural psychologists public health policymakers and others involved in improving the quality of elders lives The Meanings of Age Bernice L.

Neugarten,1996-12-15 Neugarten who explains and highlights Neugarten s contributions in light of the most recent research in the fields of gerontology and social policy Carefully edited by Dail A Neugarten each chapter presents the reader with Bernice Neugarten s original formulations on topics such as age norms and age constraints the changing meanings of age and age neutral social policy Public Health and Aging Tom Hickey,Marjorie A. Speers,Thomas R. Prohaska,1997-05-02

The role of public health in the planning coordination and delivery of health promotion and disease prevention services to older people living outside of institutional settings Selected by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title Current issues in the public health arena have challenged the system to broaden its traditional focus on infectious disease to include chronic disease as well As this change in emphasis takes place professionals must be prepared to address the special chronic health concerns of older people living in the community This textbook meets the training needs of those professionals Public Health and Aging examines the role of public health in the planning coordination and delivery of health promotion and disease prevention services to older people living outside of institutional settings Here experts in the areas of health care policy and care of aged persons analyze the scientific basis for the practice of public health in an increasingly aging society Reviewing a wide range of the social cultural financial and environmental factors that influence the health experiences of older population groups the authors delve into the epidemiology of age related chronic illnesses program development methodological issues data collection and analysis strategies for intervention and ethics From outlines for community based program planning and development to discussions about the future challenges for health care systems and services this book is an ideal reference for gerontology public policy and public health professionals and professionals in training Ethics, Health Policy and (Anti-) Aging: Mixed Blessings Maartje Schermer,Wim Pinxten,2014-07-08 This volume focuses on the ethical and philosophical issues that arise in an aging society and the implications of these issues for healthcare and social policy After a brief overview of biomedicine s changing approach of ageing and longevity and of the new expectations that these changes generate various ethical social and policy issues that surround aging and longevity are discussed First the images and social meanings of aging and old age in our society are explored including their normative dimensions and implications for policy Next ethical issues in the care for frail elderly are discussed as well as notion of good care and end of life decisions Finally the ethical and social implications of emerging possibilities for anti aging and lifespan extension are considered The book concludes with an overview of the relevance of the issues discussed for policy making on professional national and international levels The Generational Equity Debate John Williamson,Diane M. Watts-Roy,Eric R. Kingson,1999 Contains 13 essays which discuss social security and Medicare policies and the equitable distribution of social benefits across generations Debates the existence of a crisis and examines proposals for the reform of social security financing Aging Nation James H. Schulz,Robert H. Binstock,2008-05-15 Schulz and Robert H Health Care for an Aging Population Chris Hackler,1994-01-01 Pivoting on Daniel Callahan s proposal to withhold publicly funded life prolonging medical care from the very old in his 1989 Setting Limits Medical Goals in an Aging Society 14 essays consider the health care crisis looming early in the next century as the baby boomers reach retirement age They discuss the role of the aged in society what the old and young deserve of each other the source of medical cost increases implications of rationing according to age and proposals for a system that will address both immediate problems and long term conditions Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Successful Aging Martin Bloom,Waldo C. Klein,2013-12-01 There is a near universal folk saying that everyone wishes to live a good long life but no one wishes for old age More contemporarily the rock and roll band Little Feat sang You know that you re over the hill when your mind s making promises your body can t fill This book is about the good long life It is a book about primary prevention strategies in the aging process it is not about preventing that process It is not about being old Instead it is about the things that individuals and the helping professionals who provide them with counsel and assistance can do to prevent the preventable problems of advancing age and to better manage those changes in functioning that cannot be prevented In short it is about extending all our capacities to the fullest so that we can better keep all those promises that we make to ourselves and others Aging is a life long process We focus here on the changes that are taking place in our selves and in our society as we age In particular we focus on what we can do to affect these changes by the choices we make and how we live This book offers primary prevention strategies for mature and older adults with the recognition that mature adulthood starts as soon as we are old enough to truly appreciate our active role in our own aging processes Economic Security and Intergenerational Justice Theodore R. Marmor,Timothy M. Smeeding,Vernon L. Greene,1994 The Elderly Martin Lyon Levine,2017-05-15 Aging is a public health priority that is becoming increasingly important in both developed and less developed nations with individual health care providers and law makers each facing difficult ethical and policy dilemmas The complex issues physicians deal with include informed consent and patient decision making capacity use of advance care planning and decision making by family and medical staff and withdrawing and withholding life sustaining interventions Broader questions include has aging been over medicalized Is it ethical for older patients to receive less medical care than younger ones through unspoken practice or formal rationing Is there inevitable conflict between the generations over scarce medical resources How should physician patient and family confront end of life decisions How have different nations responded to increasing numbers of the elderly Have social values changed as to family responsibility and individual autonomy This volume brings together the most significant published essays in the field

Aging and Health Care Marcia G. Ory, Kathleen Bond, 2024-05-10 Of all the problems associated with a rapidly growing aging population health care demands top priority Research on health care for older people requires an understanding of the basic principles of aging and its related social processes while popular assumptions on the subject are often ill informed and are based more on misconceptions about aging than on scientific knowledge Originally published in 1989 Aging and Health Care focuses on the most urgent health care problems of older people at the time and explores possible solutions Drawing on up to date social and behavioral research it provides a sound basis on which to build practices and policies on aging and health care The contributors examine the complex relationships among aging persons their health care needs and the current health care and support systems Individual chapters contribute in particular to our understanding of the interactions of the health care system with individual aging processes and the interdependence between the informal and formal care systems With its emphasis on the interrelationships of health care with the biological psychological and social changes that people experience as they grow older Aging and Health Care will still be of historical interest to those studying in social science aging and public health Services to the Aging and Aged Paul K. Kim, 2021-03-04 This series attempts to address the topic of aging from a wide variety of perspectives and to make available some of the best gerontological thought and writings to researchers professional practitioners and students in the field of aging as well as in other related areas This volume is an invaluable resource for those persons seeking a broad comprehensive coverage of current public policies and service programs for the elderly Besides dealing with present gerontological services it also explores the emerging challenges that these services must face in the future One of the outstanding features of the book is that its contributors include some of the most prominent authorities in the field of gerontology This is an exceptionally important and timely volume and is a much needed addition to the literature on aging

Who Lives, Who Dies, Who Decides? Sheldon Ekland-Olson, 2017-10-20 Who Lives Who Dies Who Decides looks at several of the most contentious issues in many societies The book asks whose rights are protected How do these rights and protections change over time and who makes those decisions This book explores the fundamentally sociological processes which underlie the quest for morality and justice in human societies The author sheds light on the social movements and social processes at the root of these seemingly personal moral questions The third edition contains a new chapter on torture entitled Taking Life and Inflicting Suffering

Aging Well May Wykle, Sarah Gueldner, 2011 Aging Well Gerontological Education for Nurses and Other Health

Professionals brings a fresh outlook to gerontological education and promotes the experience of aging as a positive circumstance and elders as a treasure of society Discussion centers on the application of research findings to encourage elders to rise above and beyond disability to help them retain their identity of personhood and integrate into society in general and their immediate community in particular Contributors include individuals from the academic gerontological community and clinicians as well as experts from related fields such as social policy and community planning This comprehensive text contains vital information necessary to caring for elders including topics such as disease and disabilities associated with aging to illuminate underlying philosophical tenants and social issues Each chapter provides a summary of the key points with suggestions on how to apply them on a daily basis
