Cognitive Therapy with Couples and Groups Arthur Freeman, 2013-11-22 It is with great pride and satisfaction that I welcome the publication of Cognitive Therapy with Couples and Groups For several years Arthur Freeman Director of Clinical Services at the Center for Cognitive Therapy has been a leader in attempting to extend a cognitive approach to new problems and new populations and to expand the approaches for treating the depressed outpatients for whom this approach was first developed Dr Freeman brought to the Center the full range and depth of a diverse clinical background which had and continues to broaden and enrich his work both as a therapist and as a teacher I believe he has applied these dimensions of his experience fully in developing and editing this volume. The chapters in this book clearly reflect those clinical problems that have attracted the keenest interest on the part of practicing cognitive therapists which are encountered so frequently in the course of treating depression. The utilization of cognitive therapy with couples, families, groups, and in training is a clear example of this process, an intriguing topic in its own right. Conversely, coping with special clinical phenomena such as loneliness is a familiar problem to therapists of depressed patients. Laura Primakoff demonstrates her creativity and experience in her treatment of this subject. Similarly, the chapters on alcoholism and agoraphobia are timely elaborations of the original cognitive model for the individual treatment of depression.

Resources in Women's Educational Equity: Special Issue, 1979      Sex Bias in the Schools Janice Pottker, Andrew Fishel, 1977

The 41 selections included in this volume represent the best examples of the use of different research techniques to document empirically the existence of sex bias in the schools and its effects on American women and girls.
