Forshaw Guardian Translated from the German by Jamie Bulloch Dangerous Characters Elaine Hatfield, Richard L. Rapson, 2008-11-19 Dangerous Characters is about people of all kinds stuck with their unique personalities and trying to negotiate their ways through life's bramble strewn path. As intellectual historians, psychologists of love and psychotherapists Elaine Hatfield and Richard L. Rapson bring to bear their sharp and wry observations upon a constellation of vivid characters.

Why I Wore Lipstick to My Mastectomy Geralyn Lucas, 2014-04-01 A bold memoir of one young woman's courageous battle with breast cancer, the basis for the Emmy-nominated Lifetime movie starring Sarah Chalke. People Having recently graduated from Columbia Journalism School and landed her dream job at 20, the last thing twenty-seven-year-old Geralyn expects to hear is a breast cancer diagnosis. And there is one part of the diagnosis that no one will discuss with her: what it means to be a young woman with cancer in a beauty-obsessed culture. Trying to find herself while losing her vibrancy and her looks, Geralyn embarks on a road of self-acceptance that will inspire all women. Although her story is explicitly about a period of time when she was driven by fear and uncertainty, Geralyn managed a transformation that will encourage all women under siege to discover their own courage and beauty. The important and outrageous lessons of Why I Wore Lipstick come fast and furious with the same gusto that Geralyn has learned to bring to every aspect of her life.

"Transculturation in British Art, 1770-1930" Julie F. Codell, 2017-07-05 Examining colonial art through the lens of transculturation, the essays in this collection assess painting, sculpture, photography, illustration, and architecture from 1770 to 1930 to map these art works' complex and unresolved meanings, illuminated by the concept of transculturation. Authors explore works in which transculturation itself was being defined, formed, negotiated, and represented in the British Empire and in countries subject to British influence: the Congo Free State, Japan, Turkey. Through cross-cultural encounters of two kinds, works created in the colonies subject over time to colonial and to postcolonial spectators' receptions and copies, or multiples of works that traveled across space, located in several colonies or between a colony and the metropole, thus subject to multiple cultural interpretations.

Life Through These Eyes Michael S. Lambiotte, 2017-04-26 Remember this as you read Life Through These Eyes Vol II: There is always a story within a story. I am often asked, "Are your characters real?" Oh, yes, they are all real. Very real to me. I loved a few, disliked many, and spent years trying to forget some. The book covers six decades of my life stories of love, exceptional friendships, pets, raising humans, marriage at its best and worst, really mean people, holiday memories, men being men, and much more. At age fifty-eight, I discovered I had a message I wanted to share: A message that contained memories from childhood to retirement, wonderful and sometimes painful life lessons, praise and criticism regarding my community and events, and people that made me angry and disillusioned. I found an outlet for many hurtful experiences. Also, I found a way to channel my political feelings. Writing became my therapist.
