Francophone Literatures Belinda Elizabeth Jack, 1996 The canon of French literature has been the subject of much debate and now increasingly francophone literatures are demanding more attention in student French literature courses The first study in English of francophone literatures this book introduces the diverse bodies of texts in French from the numerous French speaking areas around the world with separate sections covering Africa French Canada the Creole Islands and Europe and will provide students at both undergraduate and A level with a comprehensive introductory survey of the subject Francophone literatures emerge from rich bi and multi lingual cultures in part as colonial legacies They also challenge the monopoly of the French literary tradition

This introductory survey celebrates the linguistic difference of such texts and the creative possibilities offered by deviance from an established tradition demanding new critical approaches. The texts studied here cast a new light upon French literature in terms of their diverse perspectives upon writing history, politics and culture, their violent rewritings, subversive versions and parodies, sometimes forming an elaborate pastiche of celebrated French texts. Guides to further reading, a select bibliography and an extensive index combine to make the book an extremely readable introductory overview of a hitherto little explored area.

With Open Eyes, 2023-12-18. Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies, historiography, the social sciences and cultural anthropology. Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature, including the Afro Caribbean, that moves beyond worn-out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities. The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western, these days usually Japanese, technology. It is a vigorously African institution, it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it, but is often enough the only means of transport available; it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news, storytelling and political debate. Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa, to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates, to overcoming notions of absolute cultural, ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world. Matatu will be published as a journal as of 2016. All back volumes are still available in print.

Un tournant dans l'oeuvre de Bernard Dadié Richard Bonneau, 1972 Faces of African Independence, 1988 In Search of African Theatre Scott Kennedy, 1973 JONALA, 1968 Africa Phyllis M. Martin, Patrick O'Meara, 1995. Since the publication of the first edition of this book in 1977, Africa has established itself as the most popular introductory text for African studies courses in North America. This third edition has been completely revised and brought up to date since the 1986 edition, reflecting changes in African society and politics and in the scholarship available on this vast and complex continent.
