Montgomery County The Second Hundred Years:

Montgomery County, the Second Hundred Years Jean Barth Toll, Michael J. Schwager, 1983 Norristown Michael A. Bono, Jack Coll, 2007 The village of Norris was founded by Isaac Norris a Quaker merchant and mayor of Philadelphia and his family in 1704 More than a century later on March 31 1812 Norristown was officially incorporated as a Pennsylvania state borough and it was the first borough to be incorporated in Montgomery County Laid out along the banks of the Schuylkill River both business and the community prospered Over the years the area has attracted business and visitors alike including a visit in 1960 from John F Kennedy Norristown offers a delightful flashback to the fascinating history of this community through vintage photographs from area residents and organizations Hatboro The Millbrook Society with the Regenhard Collection, 2000-02-16 The Crooked Billet Inn although no longer standing remains one of the most recognizable and well loved spots in Hatboro It was there where one of Hatboros founders John Dawson operated an inn and eatery and where George Washington ate and slept during his pursuit of the British Army during the Revolutionary War It is because of the popularity of the Crooked Billet Inn that Hatboro was often known simply as The Billet There is no confusing Hatboro for anywhere else since it is the only town with that name in the United States First settled in the early 1700s Hatboro grew to become an industrial and educational giant Hatboro includes among many others exceptional images of the former Loller Academy which helped Hatboro become an educational center in an otherwise rural area Also highlighted are the Brewster Aviation Company and the equipment Brewster manufactured for the military during World War II Of course the Crooked Billet Inn and the Battle of Crooked Billet Willow Grove Park and the music of John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert are revisited in these pages as well as some lesser known stories like those of the horrors of having two competing phone companies and the story of Matilda Trappe and Collegeville Lisa Minardi, 2017-02-06 Located in the scenic Perkiomen Valley the adjacent boroughs of Trappe and Collegeville have a rich and fascinating history Trappe was founded in 1717 by German immigrant Jacob Schrack Sr who ran a tavern known as the Trap after which the village was named Its most famous early residents were Lutheran patriarch Henry Melchior Muhlenberg and his sons Peter a Revolutionary War general and Frederick first speaker of the US House of Representatives Collegeville initially known as Freeland developed primarily in the 1800s following the completion of the Perkiomen Bridge in 1799 It was named after several early colleges including Freeland Seminary established in 1848 and the Pennsylvania Female College established in 1851 These institutions were succeeded by Ursinus College in 1869 A pioneer in women s education Ursinus became coeducational in 1880 Trappe and Collegeville were formally incorporated as separate boroughs in 1896 Bridgeport Jack Coll, 2007 Located just 14 miles northwest of Philadelphia Bridgeport is a stone s throw from Valley Forge National Historic Park Incorporated in 1851 the tiny village of 422 acres had 500 residents living within its boundaries In 1723 Swedish and Welsh immigrants settled along the Schuylkill River with the Eastburn and Holstein families among the first to settle Irish immigrants found work in

Bridgeport as early as 1860 and Italian immigrants poured into Bridgeport in the 1890s finding work in the quarries and along the railroads and canals Through vintage photographs Bridgeport celebrates the families and industries that have helped shape this borough

American Breweries of the Past David G. Moyer, 2009-10 On the Waters of the Wissahickon Eric Plaag, 2015-10-30

In this comprehensive history of Erdenheim Farm On the Waters of the Wissahickon separates the facts from the multitude of fictions revealing the complex and intriguing history behind this important agricultural center along the Wissahickon Creek in Montgomery County Pennsylvania Featuring more than one hundred historical and contemporary illustrations and maps Eric Plaag's engaging and thorough history of the property chronicles its storied past as well as the inherent value in preserving its future One of the last intact agricultural parcels in Whitemarsh and Springfield Townships Erdenheim Farm was at the center of the thoroughbred horseracing world from the 1860s until the late twentieth century Its illustrious owners have included Aristides Welch Norman W Kittson Robert N Carson George D Widener Jr and Fitz Eugene Dixon Jr through whom Erdenheim accumulated a rich and fascinating historical pedigree and worldwide attention over the past two centuries The property is also the subject of extensive lore including the longstanding rumor that Sirhan Sirhan worked at the farm shortly before his assassination of Robert F Kennedy as well as legends that the farm's guests may have included the Marquis de Lafayette and as many as eight U S presidents Once the home of the Lenni Lenape tribe who in turn sold the property to William Penn during the seventeenth century the land that would eventually become Erdenheim Farm passed to German immigrant Johann Georg Hocker and several neighboring farmers by 1763 While the farm's name is often attributed to Hocker Erdenheim loosely translating as earthly home in German and Hocker built the farmhouse most closely associated with this name for much of the nineteenth century the farm's name probably originates with Dr James A McCrea Under McCrea's ownership during the 1850s Erdenheim began building a reputation as a highly regarded livestock farm Its owner from the 1860s until the 1880s Aristides Welch brought national attention to Erdenheim through his purchase of major horseracing champions such as Flora Temple and Leamington transforming the farm into a significant breeding and training operation that produced dozens of national racing champions over the next several decades Under its next two owners Norman W Kittson and Robert N Carson Erdenheim's reputation declined even as its boundaries dramatically expanded but during the twentieth century owner George D Widener Jr revived Erdenheim's significance as a world class thoroughbred operation and livestock showplace Upon Widener's death his nephew Fitz Eugene Dixon Jr became Erdenheim's primary caretaker and began the painstaking process of preserving Erdenheim even as encroaching suburban sprawl threatened its survival Through a landmark agreement with the Natural Lands Trust Dixon permanently protected the oldest parts of Erdenheim Following Dixon's death in 2006 the Whitemarsh Foundation and nearly a dozen individuals and organizations including Peter and Bonnie McCausland worked together to complete a massive land conservation deal to preserve permanently the majority of Erdenheim's approximately 450 acres as one of the last remaining open spaces in Montgomery County and a unique example of the Philadelphia region's agricultural past Ellery's Protest Stephen D. Solomon, 2007-07-11 An engrossing story of one of the landmark cases in First Amendment history Church and Estate Thomas F. Rzeznik, 2013-06-20 In Church and Estate Thomas Rzeznik examines the lives and religious commitments of the Philadelphia elite during the period of industrial prosperity that extended from the late nineteenth century through the 1920s. The book demonstrates how their religious beliefs informed their actions and shaped their class identity while simultaneously revealing the ways in which financial influences shaped the character of American religious life. In tracing those connections it shows how religion and wealth shared a fruitful yet ultimately tenuous relationship Remembering Norristown Stan Huskey, 2009-08-31 Olympians, soldiers and abolitionists have all hailed from the bustling shores of Norristown, Pennsylvania. Beginning as a modest seventeenth-century settlement along the hidden river, it became an industrial boomtown and attracted waves of immigrants to its forges, railways and mills. Local journalist Stan Huskey brings together lively vignettes and fascinating firsthand accounts to introduce such characters as Union general Winfield S. Hancock, hero of Gettysburg, and baseball greats Tommy Lasorda and Mike Piazza. From tales of calamitous train wrecks to the bygone era of streetcars, Huskey brings readers back to the glow of the hometown lights Hope Lodge and Mather Mill Loretta Treese, 2001 Tells the story of Hope Lodge, built in the 1740s, which is today one of the finest surviving examples of Georgian architecture. The guide includes a tour of the interior and identifies the differences between the decors of the Colonial era and the Colonial Revival of the early twentieth century, as the house is furnished in both styles. Also explores nearby Mather Mill Urban Reform and Sexual Vice in Progressive-Era Philadelphia James H. Adams, 2015-07-01 This book examines the intersection and interplay between Progressive Era rhetoric regarding commercialized vice and the realities of prostitution in early twentieth-century Philadelphia. Arguing that any study of commercial sexual vice in a historical context is difficult given the paucity of evidence, this work instead focuses on reformers' construction of a cultural view of prostitution, which Adams argues was based more upon their perceptions of the trade than on reality itself. Looking at the urban core of the city, Progressive reformers saw vice, immorality and decay, but as they frequently had little face-to-face interaction with prostitutes plying their trade, they were forced to construct culturally fueled archetypes to explain what they believed they saw. Ultimately, reformers in Philadelphia were battling against a rhetorical creation of their own design, and any study of anti-vice reform in the early twentieth century tells us more about the relationship between activists and the government than it does about vice itself The Jim Crow North Matthew George Washington, 2024-06-25 Located approximately forty miles northwest of Philadelphia, the working-class borough of Pottstown does not immediately come to mind as an influential site of the Black freedom struggle. Yet this small town in Pennsylvania served as a significant hub of interracial civil rights activism with regional as well as national impact. In The Jim Crow North: The Struggle for Civil Rights in Pottstown, Pennsylvania, Matthew George Washington adds another interpretive perspective to historiography by using both the freedom North and the long civil rights movement theoretical models to frame the borough's unique history Primary documents including newspaper accounts census records oral histories and correspondence present a vivid account of a rapidly changing town from the dawn of its civil rights movement during World War II to the revitalization of its NAACP branch in the early 1950s and its activism throughout the 1960s Placing special emphasis on the demographic nature of the movement Washington explores how interracial collaboration among the working class made up the movement's critical base and how through it all Black activists remained front and center This critical examination of Pottstown illuminates the struggle for African American civil rights in one of the long ignored urban spaces of the North providing a rich and in depth portrait of the Black freedom struggle of postwar America The Darby School of Art Mark W. Sullivan, 2023-11-15 This first full length account of the Darby School of Art overturns Philadelphia's long held unwarranted reputation and demonstrates that Philadelphia was a hub of avant garde painting in the early twentieth century This first full length account of the Darby School of Art overturns Philadelphia's long held unwarranted reputation as artistically stodgy unwilling and unable to embrace Impressionism post Impressionist and abstract art and demonstrates that Philadelphia was more avant garde in the early twentieth century than previously thought This is the story of an almost completely forgotten summer art school that flourished first in Darby PA and then in Fort Washington PA between 1898 and 1918 The Darby School of Art was founded and operated by Thomas Anshutz and Hugh Breckenridge two artists who taught during the academic year at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts Anshutz and Breckenridge brought a lot of new ideas about painting back to Philadelphia after their European sojourns and introduced those ideas to a public that was initially not very responsive to Impressionism Post Impressionism and semi abstract art But an appreciation for modern styles of painting began to slowly grow among Philadelphia artists and collectors and Anshutz and Breckenridge were in the forefront of this development They also sympathized with what some have called the New Woman movement which backed women who wanted to pursue careers outside of the home In this new history expert Mark Sullivan argues that the Philadelphia area was a genuine hub of avant garde painting in the early twentieth century even though it has earned the reputation of lagging far behind New York City in its openness to new styles of painting It also discusses how the Darby School should be recognized as an institution that got behind the idea of women as professional artists at a time when that concept was quite radical Our Lady of Mount Carmel Italian Feast Jack Coll, Maureen McQuaid, 2008 By 1890 Italian immigrants began settling in Bridgeport to work in the mills and factories along the Schuylkill River With more than 5 000 residents by 1923 the need for an Italian parish was evident Rev John Colantonio was sent to establish the parish and in 1924 construction began on the lower church Shortly thereafter Bridgeport's oldest and longest running event was created in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Feast Since its beginning the feast has continued to be a family tradition The vintage images in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Italian Feast feature that tradition and the thousands of visitors who have made a pilgrimage to Bridgeport each year to celebrate the feast Legendary Locals of Ambler Frank D.

Quattrone,2015-06-15 One of the few towns in America named after a woman Ambler derives its driving spirit of selflessness and community from the heroine of the Great Train Wreck of 1856 Mary Ambler a humble Quaker mill owner who came to the aid of dozens of disaster victims may have been the first of countless Ambler personalities who have devoted themselves to the greater good of the thriving little borough located just outside Philadelphia Legendary Locals of Ambler celebrates the lives of the sung and unsung heroes political and civil servants businessmen and builders restaurateurs and devotees of the arts and founders of charitable institutions such as Henry G Keasbey and Richard V Mattison William E Strasburg George E Saurman Bud Wahl Mattie Dixon and Peggy Dolan whose contributions have made a significant difference in the lives of so many William L. Price George E. Thomas,2000-03 Price a disciple of Frank Furness who practiced in Philadelphia from 1883 to 1916 established the character of two of the nation s greatest resorts Atlantic City and Miami thus shaping the architecture of the Roaring Twenties Pennsylvania Farming Sally McMurry,2017-06-08 Since precolonial times agriculture has been deeply woven into the fabric of Pennsylvania s history and culture Pennsylvania Farming presents the first history of Pennsylvania agriculture in more than sixty years and offers a completely new perspective Sally McMurry goes beyond a strictly economic approach and considers the diverse forces that helped shape the farming landscape from physical factors to cultural repertoires to labor systems Above all the people who created and worked on Pennsylvania s farms are placed at the center of attention More than 150 photographs inform the interpretation which offers a sweeping look at the evolution of Pennsylvania s agricultural landscapes right up to the present day Economic Development Within the Philadelphia Metropolitan Area Anita A. Summers,Thomas F. Luce,2016-11-11 This book focuses on economic relationships within the eight counties in the Philadelphia Primary Metropolitan Statistical Area Long term economic developments changes in socioeconomic profiles between 1960 and 1980 and patterns of employment are examined on a county by county Special attention is given to the spread and growth of employment in high technology industries the interdependencies between jobs and residents in the city and suburbs and the roles of federal and state aid to the region Conshohocken in Vintage Postcards Phillip Welsh,Sharon Welsh,2002 The Lenni Lenape called this place gueno sheiki hacki ing meaning beautiful or peaceful valley Incorporated in 1850 Conshohocken s colorful history had its beginnings as Native American territory prior to 1684 when William Penn purchased the land from the Tammany people Soon Quakers purchased land built homes and opened mills Conshohocken begins with tales and images of early history and continues with rare views that capture some of the majestic mansions built by the founding fathers the tree lined avenues with trolleys and horse drawn carriages the firehouses and train station and schools and the many families and faces that have brought Conshohocken to life
