Encyclopedia of Nineteenth-Century Photography John Hannavy, 2013-12-16 The Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography is the first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photography up to the beginning of the twentieth century It sets out to be the standard definitive reference work on the subject for years to come Its coverage is global an important first in that authorities from all over the world have contributed their expertise and scholarship towards making this a truly comprehensive publication The Encyclopedia presents new and ground breaking research alongside accounts of the major established figures in the nineteenth century arena Coverage includes all the key people processes equipment movements styles debates and groupings which helped photography develop from being a solution in search of a problem when first invented to the essential communication tool creative medium and recorder of everyday life which it had become by the dawn of the twentieth century The sheer breadth of coverage in the 1200 essays makes the Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography an essential reference source for academics students researchers and libraries worldwide Le Mythe Negre Patrick Lavarte Dodd, 2006 La poésie congolaise ♦ l'aube d'un jour nouveau (Essai). Complément au cours de littérature négro-africaine pour les classes du secondaire ♦ l'usage de l'enseignant, de l'élève et de tout lecteur curieux NORBERT MBU-MPUTU, Frantz Fanon and the Future of Cultural Politics Anthony C. Alessandrini, 2014-07-01 This book focuses on a reading of Frantz Fanon's work and life asking how the work of a revolutionary writer such as Fanon might be best appropriated for contemporary political and cultural issues Separate chapters introduce Fanon's life and examine the question of Fanon as our contemporary review the field of Fanon studies that has grown up around his work bring Fanon into conversation with the critical contemporary figures Edward Said Michel Foucault Jamaica Kincaid and Paul Gilroy and turn to Fanon's work to think through the contemporary popular uprisings that have come to be known as the Arab Spring The book concludes by arguing that a reevaluation of Fanon's life and work can provide us with a particular set of lessons about solidarity lessons that are crucial for the contemporary political struggles that face us today and that will continue to confront us in the future Finding Something Different Frantz Fanon and the Future of Cultural Politics is inspired by Fanon's unsparing struggle against the depredations of racism and colonialism and his lifelong commitment to finding something different The Anatomy of Blackness Andrew S. Curran, 2011-09-19 2012 Outstanding Academic Title Choice Magazine This volume examines the Enlightenment era textualization of the Black African in European thought Andrew S Curran rewrites the history of blackness by replicating the practices of eighteenth century readers Surveying French and European travelogues natural histories works of anatomy pro and anti slavery tracts philosophical treatises and literary texts Curran shows how naturalists and philosophes drew from travel literature to discuss the perceived problem of human blackness within the nascent human sciences describes how a number of now forgotten anatomists revolutionized the era's understanding of black Africans and charts the shift of the slavery debate from the moral mercantile and theological realms toward that of the black body itself In tracing this evolution he shows how blackness changed from a mere descriptor in earlier periods into a thing to be measured dissected handled and often brutalized Penetrating and comprehensive The Anatomy of Blackness shows that far from being a monolithic idea eighteenth century Africanist discourse emerged out of a vigorous varied dialogue that involved missionaries slavers colonists naturalists anatomists philosophers and Africans themselves

Le Tumulte Noir Jody Blake, 1999-01-01 Jody Blake demonstrates in this book that although the impact of African American music and dance in France was constant from 1900 to 1930 it was not unchanging This was due in part to the stylistic development and diversity of African American music and dance from the prewar cakewalk and ragtime to the postwar Charleston and jazz Successive groups of modernists beginning with the Matisse and Picasso circle in the 1900s and concluding with the Surrealists and Purists in the 1920s constructed different versions of la musique and la danse negre Manifested in creative and critical works these responses to African American music and dance reflected the modernists varying artistic agendas and historical climates

Elemental Difference and the Climate of the Body Emily Anne Parker, 2021 In nineteenth century Europe differences among human bodies were understood to be matters of scientific classification At the height of scientific acceptance it was unthinkable that race or sex or diagnosis or indigence were invention Today however differences among human bodies are understood as matters of social construction The philosophy of social construction understands differences among humans to be matters of human imposition Social constructionism s way of understanding the origin of differences among humans is so well established as to have no currently viable alternatives even among new materialists social constructionism s most ardent critics This book argues that new materialists and social constructionists share a distinction between the political and the ecological Emily Anne Parker centers her argument on the philosophical concept of the polis according to which there is one complete human form It is this form that is to blame for our current political and ecological crisis Political hierarchies and ecological crises are often considered to be two different problems for example many speak of parallel problems climate change and racial injustice Parker argues that these are not parallel crises so much as one problem the polis The philosophy of the polis asserts that there is one complete human body and that body is meant to govern all other things In that sense there are not two crises but instead one concern to perceive the ways in which this tradition of the polis constrains the present Elemental difference in the polis is appreciated in the fact that empirical bodily non identity an Aristotelian concept can be called upon to elevate one group of bodies among the rest Parker builds from Sylvia Wynter who argues that the very idea of empirical bodily non identity begins with the modern science of racial anatomy or what Wynter calls biocentrism Parker argues that biocentrism is a feature of the polis according to which the one complete body was defined by its capacity for disembodied thought The sciences of racial anatomy are a more explicit commitment to biocentrism but the ranking of matter with respect to one complete human a body that is the site of supra natural thinking is a practice that has always characterized the polis

In this way the polis is responsible for both political and ecological hierarchy It is as responsible for what is euphemistically called climate change as it is for the political hierarchy that constitutes it Elemental Difference and the Climate of the Body ultimately bridges the insights of social constructionism and new materialisms to create a philosophy of elemental difference Difference rather than needing to be either dismissed based on its social construction or reified in keeping with the hierarchies of the polis is crucial for addressing contemporary crises of the polis

Frantz Fanon's 'Black Skin, White Masks' Max Silverman,2017-10-03 First published in 1952 Frantz Fanon's Black Skin White Masks is one of the most important anti colonial works of the post war period It is both a profound critique of the conscious and unconscious ways in which colonialism brutalises the colonised and a passionate cry from deep within a black body alienated by the colonial system and in search of liberation from it This volume is the first collection of essays specifically devoted to Fanon's text It offers a wide range of interpretations of the text by leading scholars in a number of disciplines Chapters deal with Fanon's Martinican heritage Fanon and Creolism ideas of race and racism and new humanism Fanon and Sartre representations of Blacks and Jews and the psychoanalysis of race gender and violence Contributors offer new ways of reading the text and the volume as a whole constitutes an important contribution to the growing field of Fanon studies

Chinese Emigration China. Commission to ascertain the condition of Chinese coolies in Cuba,1876 The Black Art Renaissance Joshua I. Cohen,2020-07-21 Reading African art's impact on modernism as an international phenomenon The Black Art Renaissance tracks a series of twentieth century engagements with canonical African sculpture by European African American and sub Saharan African artists and theorists Notwithstanding its occurrence during the benighted colonial period the Paris avant garde discovery of African sculpture known then as art nègre or black art eventually came to affect nascent Afro modernisms whose artists and critics commandeered visual and rhetorical uses of the same sculptural canon and the same term Within this trajectory black art evolved as a framework for asserting control over appropriative practices introduced by Europeans and it helped forge alliances by redefining concepts of humanism race and civilization From the Fauves and Picasso to the Harlem Renaissance and from the work of South African artist Ernest Mancoba to the imagery of Negritude and the cole de Dakar African sculpture's influence proved transcontinental in scope and significance Through this extensively researched study Joshua I Cohen argues that art history's alleged centers and margins must be conceived as interconnected and mutually informing The Black Art Renaissance reveals just how much modern art has owed to African art on a global scale

Revue coloniale internationale,1886 Structural Models and African Poetics Sunday O. Anozie,2016-08-19 In this pioneering work first published in 1981 Sunday O Anozie examines the relevance of structuralism and semiology to literary criticism in general and to African poetics in particular Behind the growing body of African literature lies an immense reservoir of oral tradition for which the proper tools of analysis and interpretation have yet to be found This book represents the first comprehensive full scale exposition analysis and critique of structuralism by a non Western and non European scholar From an African viewpoint it examines the roles to be played by structuralism and post structuralism in the development of the general principles governing poetics and literary creativity in Africa This title will be of interest to students of literature and literary theory French Cultural Studies for the Twenty-First Century Masha Belenky, Kathryn Kleppinger, Anne O'Neil-Henry, 2017-03-30 French Cultural Studies for the Twenty First Century brings together current scholarship on a diverse range of topics from French postcards and Third Republic menus to Haitian literary magazines and representation of race in vaudeville theater in order to provide methodological insight into the current practice of French cultural studies The essays in the volume show how scholars of French studies can effectively analyze what we term non traditional sources in their historical and geographical contexts In doing so the volume offers a compelling vision of the field today and maps out potential paradigms for future research This book builds upon previous scholarship that defined the stakes of using an interdisciplinary approach to analyze cultural objects from France and Francophone regions and aims to evaluate the current state of this complex and constantly evolving field and its current methodological practices

Nationalists and Nomads Christopher L. Miller, 1998 How does African literature written in French change the way we think about nationalism colonialism and postcolonialism How does it imagine the encounter between Africans and French And what does the study of African literature bring to the fields of literary and cultural studies Christopher L Miller explores these and other questions in Nationalists and Nomads Miller ranges from the beginnings of francophone African literature which he traces not to the 1930s Negritude movement but to the largely unknown virulently radical writings of Africans in Paris in the 1920s to the evolving relations between African literature and nationalism in the 1980s and 1990s Throughout he aims to offset the contemporary emphasis on the postcolonial at the expense of the colonial arguing that both are equally complex with powerful ambiguities Arguing against blanket advocacy of any one model such as nationalism or hybridity to explain these ambiguities Miller instead seeks a form of thought that can read and recognize the realities of both identity and difference Life and Death on the Plantations Michael Harrigan, 2021-04-12 From the first half of the seventeenth century missionaries of the Society of Jesus ministered to the free and enslaved populations of the French Caribbean colonies Amongst their number were Jean Mongin 1637 1698 and Claude Breban 1695 1735 whose letters vividly depict the experience of the evolving colonial world Writing from Martinique and Saint Kitts Saint Christophe Mongin describes his attempts to convert Protestants his ministry to the populations of slaves and their mistreatment by colonists as well as concerns with unorthodox spiritualities Breban depicts the rhythms of life in the burgeoning slave colony of Saint Domingue with the distinctive cultural and linguistic practices and cruelty of its plantation environment Mongin and Breban's letters reflect debates about the transatlantic slave trade and the nature of human difference and testify to the cultural and social environment of early Creole societies The letters in this volume are an unrivalled source of information about the lives of enslaved people in the early modern French Caribbean Transcriptions of manuscripts in French are accompanied by facing page translations into English and notes
