Torreblanca,2017-09-20 This title was first published in 2001 In 1989 central and Eastern European countries broke free from the Soviet Union and looked upon the European Community to support their return to Europe Some years later leaders of the European Community meeting in Copenhagen in June 1993 endorsed for the first time the membership aspirations of the recently democratized countries of Central and Eastern Europe This insightful text examines the negotiations debates tensions and contradictions behind the process of approximation between the two halves of Europe both within the EC itself as well as between the EC and the countries of Central and Eastern Europe The extensive consultation of unpublished internal documents and a theoretically relevant and well written analysis ensures that this book is an indispensable resource for students and researchers of EC EU relations with Central and Eastern Europe Islam, Politics, Anthropology Filippo Osella, Benjamin Soares, 2010-03-19 Part of The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute Special Issue Book Series Islam Politics Anthropology offers critical reflections on past and current studies of Islam and politics in anthropology and charts new analytical approaches to examining Islam in the post 9 11 world Challenges current and past approaches to the study of Islam and Muslim politics in anthropology Offers a critical comprehensive review of past and current literature on the subject Presents innovative ethnographic description and analysis of everyday Muslim politics in Asia Africa the Middle East and North America Proposes new analytical approaches to the study of Islam and Muslim politics New Zealand Journal of Agricultural Research, 2005 Annual report Göteborgs etnografiska museum, 1981 Effective Computational Geometry for Curves and Surfaces Jean-Daniel Boissonnat, Monique Teillaud, 2006-10-24 Computational geometry emerged as a discipline in the seventies and has had considerable success in improving the asymptotic complexity of the solutions to basic geometric problems including constructions of data structures convex hulls triangulations Voronoi diagrams and geometric arrangements as well as geometric optimisation However in the mid nineties it was recognized that the computational geometry techniques were far from satisfactory in practice and a vigorous effort has been undertaken to make computational geometry more practical This effort led to major advances in robustness geometric software engineering and experimental studies and to the development of a large library of computational geometry algorithms Cgal The goal of this book is to take into consideration the multidisciplinary nature of the problem and to provide solid mathematical and algorithmic foundations for effective computational geometry for curves and surfaces This book covers two main approaches In a first part we discuss exact geometric algorithms for curves and surfaces We revisit two prominent data structures of computational geometry namely arrangements Chap 1 and Voronoi diagrams Chap 2 in order to understand how these structures which are well known for linear objects behave when defined on curved objects The mathematical properties of these structures are presented together with algorithms for their construction To ensure the effectiveness of our algorithms the basic numerical computations that need to be performed are precisely specified and trade-offs are considered between the complexity of the algorithms i.e the number of primitive calls and the complexity of the primitives and their numerical stability Chap Identity and Symbolic Interaction Richard T. Serpe, Robin Stryker, Brian Powell, 2020-04-22 This book examines identity theory's centrality within social psychology and its foundations within structural symbolic interaction highlighting its links not only to other prominent sociological subfields but also to other theoretical perspectives within and beyond sociology. The book provides a synthetic overview outlining the intellectual lineage of identity theory within structural symbolic interactionism and how the Indiana School of identity theory and research associated especially with Sheldon Stryker relates to other symbolic interactionist traditions within sociology. It also analyses the latest developments in response to the push to integrate identity theory which initially focused on role identities with the study of personal group and social identities. Further, it discusses the relationship between identity theory and affect control theory providing a sense of the many substantive topics within sociology beyond social psychology for which the study of identity has important, sometimes underappreciated, implications. The book concludes with a chapter summarizing the interrelated lessons learned while also reflecting on remaining key questions and challenges for the future development of identity theory. Being

Scioto Hopewell: Ritual Drama and Personhood in Cross-Cultural Perspective Christopher Carr, 2022-01-05. This book in two volumes breathes fresh air empirically, methodologically, and theoretically into understanding the rich ceremonial lives, the philosophical, religious knowledge, and the impressive material feats and labor organization that distinguish Hopewell Indians of central Ohio and neighboring regions during the first centuries CE. The first volume defines cross-culturally for the first time the ritual drama as a genre of social performance. It reconstructs and compares parts of 14 such dramas that Hopewellian and other Woodland period peoples performed in their ceremonial centers to help the soul-like essences of their deceased make the journey to an afterlife. The second volume builds and critiques ten formal cross-cultural models of personhood and the self and infers the nature of Scioto Hopewell people's ontology. Two facets of their ontology are found to have been instrumental in their creating the intercommunity alliances and cooperation and gathering the labor required to construct their huge multicomunity ceremonial centers: a relational collective concept of the self defined by the ethical quality of the relationships one has with other beings and a concept of multiple soul-like essences that compose a human being and can be harnessed strategically to create familial-like ethical bonds of cooperation among individuals and communities. The archaeological reconstructions of Hopewellian ritual dramas and concepts of personhood and the self and of Hopewell people's strategic uses of these are informed by three large surveys of historic Woodland and Plains Indians' narratives, ideas, and rites about journeys to afterlives, the creatures who inhabit the cosmos, and the nature and functions of soul-like essences coupled with rich contextual archaeological and bioarchaeological taphonomic analyses. The bioarchaeological taphonomic method of l'anthropologie de terrain, new to North American archaeology, is introduced and applied. In all the research in this book, vitalizes a vision of an anthropology committed to native logic and motivation and skeptical of the imposition of Western world views and categories onto native peoples. Christianity in Indonesia

Susanne Schröter, 2010. Indonesia is a multicultural and multireligious nation whose heterogeneity is codified in the state doctrine the Pancasila Yet the relations between the various social ethnic and religious groups have been problematic down to the present day In several respects Christians have a precarious role in the struggle for shaping the nation In the aftermath of the former president Suharto's resignation and in the course of the ensuing political changes Christians have been involved both as victims and perpetrators in violent regional clashes with Muslims that claimed thousands of lives Since the beginning of the new millennium the violent conflicts have lessened yet the pressure exerted on Christians by Islamic fundamentalists still continues undiminished in the Muslim majority regions The future of the Christians in Indonesia remains uncertain and pluralist society is still on trial For this reason the situation of Christians in Indonesia is an important issue that goes far beyond research on a minority touching on general issues relating to the formation of the nation state

Athens at the Margins Nathan T. Arrington, 2021-10-19 How the interactions of non elites influenced Athenian material culture and society The seventh century BC in ancient Greece is referred to as the Orientalizing period because of the strong presence of Near Eastern elements in art and culture Conventional narratives argue that goods and knowledge flowed from East to West through cosmopolitan elites Rejecting this explanation Athens at the Margins proposes a new narrative of the origins behind the style and its significance investigating how material culture shaped the ways people and communities thought of themselves Athens and the region of Attica belonged to an interconnected Mediterranean in which people goods and ideas moved in unexpected directions Network thinking provides a way to conceive of this mobility which generated a style of pottery that was heterogeneous and dynamic Although the elite had power they were unable to agree on the norms of conspicuous consumption and status display A range of social actors used objects contributing to cultural change and to the socially mediated production of meaning Historiography and the analysis of evidence from a wide range of contexts cemeteries sanctuaries workshops and symposia offers the possibility to step outside the aesthetic frameworks imposed by classical Greek masterpieces and to expand the canon of Greek art Highlighting the
