Grieve, 2014-01-23 This is an overview of America's first effort in military aid to a foreign sovereign nation at a time when Europe was engaged in open warfare Asia was facing a series of military confrontations and most of the world thought global conflagration was inevitable The work offers insight into the impact of war in Burma a backwater of World War II and examines events that result when great powers go to great lengths to further their own goals The work also examines disagreements among China the United Kingdom the United States and Japan and shows the evolution of aid provision to another country and changing expectations as new information arises Bankers and Diplomats in China 1917-1925 Roberta Allbert Dayer, 2013-11-05 First Published in 1981 Contrary to Chairman Mao's assertion that political power comes from the barrel of a gun this study contends that political power in China in the early 1920s emanated from the boardrooms of foreign banks The author's interest in the way financial concerns have shaped foreign policy began with the discovery that the Lloyd George government attempted to influence the American government's policy on the British war debts by offering concessions concerning the renewal of the Anglo Japanese Alliance This study should provide understanding concerning the causes of Chinese bitterness as well as suggest the conflicts experienced by diplomats in balancing public and private interests A History of China-U.S. Relations (1911-1949) Wenzhao Tao, 2022-03-04 This book contains the history of China U S Relations 1911 1949 including China US relations in Early Republican Period the impact of Versailles Peace Conference and Washington Conference on China US relations US support for Northern Warlord Government the Guangzhou Revolutionary Government and the Nanjing National Government During the War of Resistance Against Japanese Aggression the United States went from neutral to form an alliance with China against Japan After the end of the War China and the United States gradually moved toward confrontation This book also has a brief description of China US relations from 1784 to 1911 An American Missionary in China Yu-ming Shaw, 2020-03-23 This work traced the career of a seminal figure in twentieth century Chinese American relations John Leighton Stuart began his work in China as a missionary in 1904 He moved on to head Yenching University the leading Christian institution of higher learning in China During the Pacific War Stuart was imprisoned by the Japanese When General George C Marshall was sent to China by President Truman in 1945 to mediate peace between the Chinese Nationalists and the Chinese Communists Marshall chose Stuart as Ambassador to help with that mediation and to look after American interests in China Stuart was the last to hold that post before the Chiang Kai shek government's move to Taiwan Shaw's research among materials in English Chinese and Japanese has produced a richly detailed examination of each phase of Stuart's life Shaw presents Stuart as a Wilsonian idealist whose combination of liberal situational values and nationalistic vision put him square in the middle unable fully to support a Nationalist led China and positing instead a Nationalist Communist coalition that would favor the Nationalists and open the door to American influence

American Business and Foreign Policy Joan Hoff Wilson, 2021-10-21 With increasing world economic interdependence and a new position as a creditor nation the American business community became more actively and vocally concerned with foreign policy after World War I than ever before This book details the response of American businessmen to such foreign policy issues as the tariff disarmament allied debts loans and the Manchurian crisis Far from presenting a monolithic front the business community fragmented into nationalist and internationalist camps according to this study Division over each issue varied with the size type and geographic region of the various business interests and despite their formidable economic power business internationalists are shown to have played a more limited role on certain issues than has been formerly assumed Unfortunately for the future development of United States diplomacy and world stability no institutional means for tempering business influence on the formulation of foreign policy or for coordinating economic and political foreign policies were developed in the twenties
