Their contribution to agriculture industry and services is critical. However, planners and policy makers frequently ignore women's economic roles, drawing simplistic conclusions from inadequate data. Women and Work in South Asia provides a cross-cultural perspective on research on women's work in South Asia. Integrating macro and micro analysis, Asian and Western contributors analyse the inadequacies of official statistics and explore through case studies the cultural and socio-economic position of women at work in the region. Sustainable Development and the Digital Economy

Mohammad Nabil Almunawar, Patricia Ordóñez de Pablos, Muhammad Anshari, 2023-10-06 The advancement of technology such as data analytics and artificial intelligence (AI) has led to the birth of Industry 4.0, in which technology seems to be the centre of development. However, as the Covid-19 pandemic created havoc, the entire world production chain has been seriously affected, highlighting that machines alone, although fully connected and automated, cannot function without people. This book addresses the pillars of moving towards Industry 5.0 for sustainable development, drawing on examples from Asia. As Asian nations are moving fast toward the digital economy, this edited collection offers new perspectives on understanding emerging business opportunities as well as the challenges faced. Chapters span the three pillars of Industry 5.0: human-centricity, sustainability, and resilience, and includes topics related to people management for creating wealth, technology advancements in supporting creativity, resilience, and agility of organisations, as well as the important issue of sustainability in future industrial development. With rich empirical studies from leading researchers, this book will be a reference for academics and scholars across business disciplines, including information technology and innovation management, organisational and strategic management, as well as those interested in industrial development and sustainability.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT OF FAMILIES THROUGH URBAN OUT-MIGRATION Dr. Sunitha V Ganiger, 2020-06-11 Introduction Migration is a multi-faceted phenomenon which is of vital importance in the process of economic development, manpower planning, urbanization, and social change. Rao M. S. B. 1986. It is a pragmatic and a ubiquitous phenomena as throughout the globe we find that migration is contributing to the socio-economic development which enables man to overcome the tyranny of political, social, economic, and psychological fluctuations of a region. Like for instance, the partition of India and Pakistan was one of the major catalysts for migration during the late 1940s when millions of persons abandoned this land and migrated to Pakistan and vice versa. Similarly, of late many Indian computer engineers are migrating to western countries, thus leading to brain drain, which is causing a severe menace of the millennium. Since time immemorial man has been ruthlessly migrating from one place to another, and nowadays because of the increased transportation and communication, man is more agile. Thus, migration is entirely determined by the human yearning for the decision to move. Individual migration also brings changes in the process of family formation and growth. Once migration has occurred from the land of origin both the household and the local population must adapt to the loss or gain However the impact of an individual migration on the origin depends on the duration of absence and remittances returned David P L 1996

Campbell,1990 A comparative study of the impact of increased modernization in the rural sector on seven important developing countries This book should be of interest to students and lecturers in development studies Entrepreneurship and Development in Nepal Pawan Adhikari,Jay Mitra,Shovita Dhakal

Adhikari,Rupesh Krishna Shrestha,2024-09-27 This book illustrates a connection between entrepreneurship and development in an emerging economy context focusing on Nepal That entrepreneurship contributes to sustainable development by creating jobs elevating economic growth promoting innovation and mitigating social and environmental challenges is discussed in other works Entrepreneurship is linked to several sustainable development goals However relatively little is known about entrepreneurship in Nepal at an international level and rarely have researchers attempted to explore the relationship between entrepreneurship and development in the Nepalese context In this regard this book generates valuable insights not only contributing to policy implications but also setting a direction for entrepreneurship research in Nepal within a wider context of sustainable development In particular the book discusses several important issues on entrepreneurship including migrant entrepreneurship entrepreneurial ecosystem social entrepreneurship entrepreneurial finance community based entrepreneurship and tourism entrepreneurship issues which are intrinsically connected to the sustainable development of the country In addition to policy contributions the book provides a direction for facilitating theoretically underpinned work in entrepreneurship and development in the Nepalese context The factors driving entrepreneurship including specific social cultural and historical factors that remain relevant for emerging economies and emancipation inclusion and participation which are central to achieving development are to be theorized in order to better understand the relationship between entrepreneurship and development The topics covered by the book will be of interest to policy makers from ministries and departments international organizations and development partners Development Strategies for the Rural Poor Mohamad Riad El Ghonemy,1984-01-01 An Agrarian History of South Asia David Ludden,2011-02-17

Originally published in 1999 David Ludden s book offers a comprehensive historical framework for understanding the regional diversity of agrarian South Asia Adopting a long term view of history it treats South Asia not as a single civilization territory but rather as a patchwork of agrarian regions each with their own social cultural and political histories The discussion begins during the first millennium when farming communities displaced pastoral and tribal groups and goes on to consider the development of territoriality from the sixteenth to the nineteenth centuries Subsequent chapters consider the emergence of agrarian capitalism in village societies under the British and demonstrate how economic development in contemporary South Asia continues to reflect the influence of agrarian localism As a comparative synthesis of the literature on agrarian regimes in South Asia the book promises to be a valuable resource for students of agrarian and regional history as well as of comparative world history Bibliography of Agriculture ,1963
