Psycho-social Explorations of Trauma, Exclusion and Violence Christopher Scanlon, John Adlam, 2022-01-06 The central theme of this book is the operation of intersecting discourses of power privilege and positioning as they are revealed in fraught encounters between in groups and out groups in our deeply fractured world The authors offer a unique perspective on inter group dynamics and structural violence at local societal cultural and global levels dissecting processes of toxic othering and psychosocial re traumatisation The book offers the Diogenes Paradigm as a unique conceptual tool with which to analyse the ways in which those of us who come to be located outside or on the margins of dominant social structures are in one way or another the inheritors of the legacies of centuries of oppression and exclusion This analysis offers a distinctive psycho social redefinition of trauma that foregrounds the relationship between the inhospitable environments we generate and the experiences of unhousedness that we thereby perpetuate Written in an engaging and accessible style Psycho social Explorations of Trauma Exclusion and Violence directly addresses pressing global issues of racial trauma human mobility and climate disaster and offers a manifesto for the creative re imagining of the places and spaces in which conversations about restructuring and reparation can become sustainable This is an essential and compelling book for anyone committed to social justice especially for all practitioners working in health social care and community justice settings and researchers and academics across the behavioural and social sciences

The Anxious City Richard J. Williams,2004-03-01 In the Western world cities have arguably never been more anxious practical anxieties about personal safety and metaphysical anxieties about the uncertain place of the city in culture are the small change of journalism and political debate Cities have long been regarded as problems in need of drastic solutions In this context the contemporary revival of city centres is remarkable But in a culture that largely fears the urban how can the contemporary city be imagined How is it supposed to be used or inhabited What does it mean Taking England since WWII as its principal focus this provocative and original book considers the Western city at a critical moment in its history

The Politics of Commitment Anthony M. Clohesy,2025-11-19 This book examines the nature of our commitment to the long term survival of humanity It addresses the lack of a sustainable and ethical commitment to a shared and binding future for the well being of those who will come after us While other texts focus on the threats to our survival such as climate catastrophe or nuclear annihilation this study argues that a greater threat to our survival is our disposition of ambivalence about the value of future lives The other claim of the book is that to avoid our extinction we have to recover a sense of ourselves as beings worthy of salvation Clearly argued and jargon free the book will be useful for scholars with an academic interest in philosophy psychology sociology history culture studies and population ethics

Bioviolence William Watkin,2021-07-18 Aylan Isis Begum Grenfell Trump Harambe Guantanamo Syria Brexit Johnson COVID migrants trolling George Floyd Trump Gazing over the fractured contested territories of the current global situation Watkin finds that all these diverse happenings have one element in common They occur when biopolitical states in trying to manage and protect the life rights of their citizens habitually end up committing acts of coercion or disregard against the very people they have promised to protect When states tasked with making us live find themselves letting us die then they are practitioners of a particular kind of force that Watkin calls bioviolence This book explores and exposes the many aspects of contemporary biopower and bioviolence neglect exclusion surveillance regulation encampment trolling fake news terrorism and war As it does so it demonstrates that the very term violence is a discursive construct an effect of language made real by our behaviours embodied by our institutions and disseminated by our technologies In short bioviolence is how the contemporary powers that be make us do what they want Resolutely interdisciplinary this book is

The Ideas That Rule Us Chris Grocott, 2024-10-07 It may seem surprising that the economic choices we make in society are often determined by ideas rather than scientific evidence or financial resources The consequences of such choices are often stark such as the austerity policies which eroded our ability to withstand crises like the Covid 19 pandemic This book explores the ideas that rule how our economy works how government operates and how workers organise A small number of historical economic ideas remain stubbornly prevalent and powerful today However they are largely based on questionable assumptions about human behaviour and unproven theoretical ideas about economics They were founded within the realms of philosophy and politics rather than hard science This book illustrates how politicians have selectively borrowed convenient economic concepts in order to promote and defend policies which entrench and escalate inequalities and other structural problems This accessible book invites readers to question the ideas that rule us and explore the challenges facing society It invites progressive thought about how we need to urgently organise action for the future

Studies in the Rhetoric of Fiction
Ana-Karina Schneider,2015-09-18 Studies in the Rhetoric of Fiction investigates the contemporary novel s relation to its forerunners the picaresques romances and sentimental novels of the 18th century Henry Fielding Laurence Sterne and Jane Austen are stable landmarks while of the contemporary practitioners a handful recur from one chapter to the next particularly Julian Barnes Ian McEwan and Kazuo Ishiguro The chapters share an interest in the rhetoric of fiction broadly understood as the way in which fictional works achieve their effects on readers whether by directly addressing a hypothetical reader using irony and parody orchestrating competitions between divergent narratives imitating musical structures inviting intertextual readings or openly taking issue with traditional conventions and expectations Chapters focusing on narrative strategy and metanarrative comment therefore alternate with those interrogating reading practices and readerly participation in the rhetorical interchange This collection of essays however does not propose a consistent theory of the rhetoric of fiction nor does it claim any generalisable validity for its findings Rather it consists of a series of readings that address various formal aspects of the novels they focus on showing rhetoric in action pointing out the complex ways in which its means and strategies change in time and across genres and media It restores a sense that whatever old tricks the author or narrator is perceived to be up to they are an invitation to the reader to take part in the fun The book will appeal to students and scholars in the early stages of their research encouraging readings that identify rhetorical strategies that challenge conventional forms and expectations It is therefore largely free of rhetorical terminology making sparing use of it when distinctions must be drawn and the more technical aspects of novels are interrogated
