Redesigning Accountability:

Redesigning Accountability Systems for Education Susan Fuhrman, Richard F. Elmore, 2004-01-17 Now more than ever policymakers face a number of difficult and technical questions in the design and implementation of new accountability approaches This book gathers the emerging knowledge and lessons learned offered by leading scholars in the field

Redesigning Accountability Systems for Education. CPRE Policy Briefs. RB-38 Susan H. Fuhrman, 2003 To assist in the redesign of accountability systems the Consortium for Policy Research in Education CPRE and the Center for Research on Evaluation Student Standards and Testing CRESST sought to assemble knowledge from new research on emerging accountability systems A book Redesigning Accountability Systems for Education edited by Susan H Fuhrman and Richard F Elmore Teachers College Press in press contains chapters by leading accountability researchers This issue of CPRE Policy Briefs summarizes the book by focusing on four questions the authors of the book address 1 How valid are new accountability systems 2 How fair are new accountability systems 3 What are the effects of new accountability systems and 4 What is necessary to improve the functioning of accountability systems This Policy Brief reviews the many issues that states are confronting as they implement accountability systems and provides guidance for states looking to fine tune or redesign accountability systems to help meet policies as they were intended Specifically this Brief offers recommendations for improving accountability systems by enhancing the use of expert technical advice by improving the collection and interpretation of system data and by investing in capacity building to ensure that both students and educators have the necessary means to effectively respond to accountability systems Contains 1 footnote Redesigning Schools for Success

Charles E. Ruebling, 2006 Redesigning Teaching William A. Firestone, Beth D. Bader, 1992-01-01 Redesigning Teaching provides concrete case studies of school districts implementing teacher reforms The cases describe the changes give the history and dynamics of each project examine how teachers respond to new policies and procedures and tell how state policy affects local efforts to change teaching The book also suggests that while short term improvements can be accomplished through bureaucracy serious reform requires professionalization The authors identify challenges that state governments school administrators and teachers associations must face if they really want to professionalize teaching Who's in Charge Here? Noel Epstein, 2004-09-27 Few Americans are aware that their nation long ago created a separate government for education supposedly to shield it from political interference Some experts believe that at the heart of today's school debates is a push to put the larger government presidents governors mayors in the drivers seat or even to dump democratic school governance entirely The results are mixed One clear result however is a vexing tangle of authority and accountability Whos in Charge Here untangles it all REDESIGNING ACCOUNTABILITY: FROM MUDDLES TO MAPS. , 2003 Using Data to Improve Student Learning Graham S. Maxwell, 2021-04-21 This book offers a coherent research based overview and analysis of theories and practices in using data to improve student learning It clarifies what use of data means and differentiates the different levels of decision making in education relating to the system district school classroom or individual student The relationship between data and decision making is considered and various movements in the use of data to improve student learning are analysed especially from the perspective of their assumptions and effects This leads to a focus on effective educational decision making as a social process requiring collaboration among all relevant participants It also requires a clear understanding of educational aims and these are seen to transcend what can be assessed by standardised tests The consequences of this analysis for decision processes are explored and conclusions are drawn about what principles might best guide educational practice as well as what ambiguities remain Throughout the focus is on what existing research says about each of the issues explored

Perspectives in Educational Leadership Sonya Douglass Horsford, 2010 New Perspectives in Educational Leadership examines educational administration and leadership within the complex social political and community contexts that inform and influence the work of today's educational leaders. With particular attention to the implications and larger contexts of shifting demographics, high stakes accountability, and globalization on schools and society in the twenty-first century, this volume seeks to advance lines of inquiry presented in other areas of education research that have yet to be fully explored or imagined in the field of educational leadership. This unique blend of empirical, theoretical, and conceptual research by both established and emerging scholars in the field directly acknowledges and addresses the demands of leading increasingly diverse and complex school communities. Topics include the social and cultural dynamics of leadership, reflective practice, politics of equity and adequacy, critical servant leadership, and the possibilities of transformative leadership within these dynamic educational contexts. As a primary or supplementary text in educational administration, leadership, and foundations courses, New Perspectives in Educational Leadership provides a much-needed complement to the traditional topics of instructional leadership and education management given the expanding and increasingly complex conditions that face educational administrators and school leaders today.

Teaching and Measuring Cognitive Readiness Harold F. O'Neil, Ray S. Perez, Eva L. Baker, 2013-07-18 Teaching and Measuring Cognitive Readiness presents theoretical and empirical findings regarding cognitive readiness and assessments of their impact on adult learning. The term readiness is used in assessing student preparation for K-12 schools, while in the military and in industry, readiness denotes preparation to be effective in performing a mission or a job. Cognitive Readiness is viewed through a Knowledge, Skills, and Attributes (KSA) lens. Teaching and Measuring Cognitive Readiness deals with: a) the primacy of cognitive readiness as attributes or individual difference variables; b) the need for cognitive readiness instructional and assessment strategies; c) the need to integrate assessment into cognitive readiness training; d) the need for theory-driven evaluation studies to increase knowledge and efficacy in teaching cognitive readiness; and e) the need for a solid psychometric approach to the use of cognitive readiness assessments.

Leading With Inquiry and Action Matthew Militello, Sharon F. Rallis, Ellen B. Goldring, 2009-07-23 This essential guide for educational leaders skillfully blends scholarship with practice and integrates theory with real-world examples. Through case studies, the authors show the reader how to develop, support, and improve a collaborative inquiry action process for improving teaching and learning. If we are going to have schools that successfully educate all students to high standards, then we need principals who translate the lessons of this book into practice. Andrew Lachman, Executive Director, Connecticut Center for School Change. Enhance learning with a collaborative inquiry-based system of leadership. With sociopolitical forces prompting calls for school improvement, school leaders look for ways to expand their expertise in instructional leadership and strengthen their role in shaping classroom practice. Leading With Inquiry and Action presents a systematic, ongoing process for collecting information, making decisions, and taking action to improve instruction and raise student achievement. The authors illustrate this collaborative inquiry action cycle with a running vignette of an experienced principal and offer questions and exercises to guide individual reflection and group discussion Thoroughly grounded in research this book helps administrators Identify areas for instructional improvement Determine community supported solutions and build stakeholder commitment Articulate an action plan based on multiple data sources Take steps that support teacher development Systematically evaluate program results Educational improvement requires informed leadership This practical guide provides an efficient and functional framework for transforming current or aspiring principals into inquiry minded action oriented instructional leaders From Bureaucracy to Business Enterprise Michael J. Whincop, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2003 This book analyzes the policy initiatives used in Australia New Zealand the United Kingdom and the United States to improve the efficiency of government service delivery such as commercialization privatization and in particular corporatization The book looks at how markets corporate governance processes and judicial and administrative reviews affect the efficiency and ethics of service delivery The book crosses a number of academic disciplines corporate law and governance law and economics public choice theory ethics and public law and administration It will also be of value to a range of professional constituencies to those involved in governance functions in government and privatized corporations to professionals servicing these organizations and to officials administering government services These issues are also highly pertinent to emerging economies where governance of public services is crucial to the transition to market democracy
