Reducing Toxics Susan Hearn, 2002 Reinventing Environmental Regulation Alfred A. Professor Marcus, Donald A. Professor Geffen, Ken Professor Sexton, 2010-09-30 Project XL eXcellence and Leadership was the flagship effort by the Clinton administration for cleaner cheaper and smarter regulation Under Project XL business promised better performance in exchange for a regulatory approach focused more on results than means with the Environmental Protection Agency EPA measuring pollution reduction across rather than at individual sources within a facility Reinventing Environmental Regulation is a compelling account of the breakdown in negotiations to implement Project XL at a tape manufacturing plant of 3M a company widely recognized as environmentally progressive Marcus Geffen and Sexton discuss the conflicting goals of participants the influences of personality and organizational culture and complications caused by changes in 3M's external business environment They compare the 3M case with EPA negotiations involving Intel Merck and Weyerhaeuser finding similarly contentious though less fatal disagreements about the meaning of superior environmental performance In common with other recent proposals Project XL emphasized cooperative flexible regulatory approaches Reinventing Environmental Regulation demonstrates the difficulty of putting these appealing ideas into practice while offering encouragement for continued innovations Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy ,1996 At the Point of Production Charles Levenstein,2017-07-28 At the Point of Production a compilation of contributions to New Solutions Journal of Occupational and Environmental Health Policy locates workers health and safety problems in the broad political economy It argues that without a deep understanding of the social political economic context of particular industries or workplaces we cannot fully grasp the process of recognition and control of industrial hazards The contributors report on a series of case studies all of which used the point of production framework to investigate particular problems or industries The focus of the first section is on globalization the impact of privatization on the health and safety of workers and communities in Brazil and Mexico The next section addresses environmental issues the unintended effects of environmental regulation on workers the situation of hazardous waste workers and emergency responders the implementation of toxics use reduction and the role of workers in pollution prevention In the third section the contributors explore the intersection of labor relations with gender relations at the point of production A final chapter deals with some of the practical issues involved in conducting occupational health research in the contested terrain of the workplace Managing the Environment, Managing Ourselves Richard N. L. Andrews,2020-03-17 In the third edition of this definitive book Richard N L Andrews looks back at four centuries of American environmental policy showing how these policies affect contemporary environmental issues and public policy decisions and identifying key policy challenges for the future Andrews crafts a detailed and contextualized narrative of the historical development of American environmental policies and institutions This volume presents an extensively revised text with increased detail on the 50 year history of the modern environmental policy era and updated through the Obama and Trump administrations Pesticide Drift and the Pursuit of Environmental Justice Jill Lindsey Harrison,2011-07-29 An examination of political conflicts over pesticide drift and the differing conceptions of justice held by industry regulators and activists The widespread but virtually invisible problem of pesticide drift the airborne movement of agricultural pesticides into residential areas has fueled grassroots activism from Maine to Hawaii Pesticide drift accidents have terrified and sickened many living in the country s most marginalized and vulnerable communities In this book Jill Lindsey Harrison considers political conflicts over pesticide drift in California using them to illuminate the broader problem and its potential solutions The fact that pesticide pollution and illnesses associated with it disproportionately affect the poor and the powerless raises questions of environmental justice and political injustice Despite California s impressive record of environmental protection massive pesticide regulatory apparatus and booming organic farming industry pesticide related accidents and illnesses continue unabated To unpack this conundrum Harrison examines the conceptions of justice that increasingly shape environmental politics and finds that California s agricultural industry regulators and pesticide drift activists hold different and conflicting notions of what justice looks like Drawing on her own extensive ethnographic research as well as in depth interviews with regulators activists scientists and public health practitioners Harrison examines the ways industry regulatory agencies and different kinds of activists address pesticide drift connecting their efforts to communitarian and libertarian conceptions of justice The approach taken by pesticide drift activists she finds not only critiques theories of justice undergirding mainstream sustainable agriculture activism but also offers an entirely new notion of what justice means To solve seemingly intractable environmental problems such as pesticide drift Harrison argues we need a different kind of environmental justice She proposes the precautionary principle as a framework for effectively and justly addressing environmental inequities in the everyday work of environmental regulatory institutions Chemicals and Development ,2008 Reclaiming the Environmental Debate Richard Hofrichter,2000 Reflecting a diversity of voices and critical perspectives the essays in this book range from critiques of traditional thinking and practices to strategies for shifting public consciousness to create healthy communities
