Holocaust literature is seemingly a helpful method to reveal testimonies and survivor experiences. Thus this topic has reached a certain status in literature. Today a huge variety of texts deal with the Holocaust in multi-faceted ways which cover nearly all literary genres. This essay will primarily concentrate on the works of Anne Frank A Diary of a Young Girl, Charlotte Delbo Auschwitz and After and Art Spiegelman The Complete Maus. The second focus then will be on Primo Levi's The Drowned and the Saved, who was also studied on the module. These texts are outstanding and inimitable in how they treat the Holocaust, how they have reached people's hearts and minds, and how other people began to deal with the happenings of these dreadful times after their publication. All texts represent examples of different literary genres like Anne Frank's diary or Art Spiegelman's comic book. Charlotte Delbo's work combines three types of literature in one masterpiece: namely prose, poetry, and drama, whereas Levi's account is a more or less philosophical analysis of the question why all this could happen. However, reading such literature does not automatically imply that the Holocaust in itself can fully be understood. On the contrary, it can only provide a way of approaching the circumstances which millions of prisoners endured. Hence many Holocaust survivors tried to use the art of writing to overcome the terrifying things they had seen, and most of all the things they had to endure physically and psychologically in the concentration and death camps or in the Jewish ghettos, and from which they had and still continued to suffer. They had to struggle between the desire to forget but yet face the memory every day, and the impulse to remember, uncover, and record every detail of its reality. To speak about the unspeakable seemed impossible. Bearing witness therefore was not likely to be the first thing on the inmate's mind.

1 How was it that not just those who suffered under Hitler's regime but the second generation, their children, were able to find the will to write down their testimonies?

Guide to Reference Books Robert Balay, Vee Friesner Carrington, Murray S. Martin, 1996. Presents an annotated bibliography of general and subject reference books covering the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, history, science, technology, and medicine.

The Diary of Mary Berg Mary Berg, 2013-10-01. The first eye-witness account ever published of life in the Warsaw Ghetto. Mary Berg was fifteen when the German army poured into Poland in 1939. She survived four years of Nazi terror and managed to keep a diary throughout. This astonishing, vivid portrayal of life inside the Warsaw Ghetto ranks with the most significant documents of the Second World War. Mary Berg candidly chronicles not only the daily deprivations and mass deportations but also the resistance and resilience of the inhabitants, their secret societies, and the youth at the forefront of the fight against Nazi terror. Above all, The Diary of Mary Berg is a uniquely personal story of a life-loving girl's encounter with unparalleled human suffering and offers an extraordinary insight into one of the darkest chapters of human history.
