

The background of the book cover is a light cream color. It is populated with numerous stylized, hand-drawn chromosomes. Some are green with red dots at the centromeres, while others are red with green dots. They are scattered across the top half of the cover. The bottom half of the cover is a solid black band. Inside this band, there are more stylized chromosomes, some in red and some in green, appearing to be in motion or interacting. A white curved line separates the top half from the black band.
