Refiguring The Father New Feminist Readings Of Patriarchy:

Refiguring the Father Patricia Yaeger, Elizabeth Kowaleski-Wallace, 1989 An exciting investigation of the ways literary and cultural texts have not only shaped the difficult terms of the daughter father relationship but also prescribed a role for fathers that is paradoxical and contradictory These 15 essays seek to enter into a new dialogue with both the tenets of patriarchy and with the initiating symbolic gestures of feminist discourse that have helped to maintain the father's voracious and hierarchical position in western culture The problem is not simply to change the focus of feminist inquiry from father as center to mother as center but to reinvent the discourse of the father to unsettle an oedipal dialectic that insists on revealing the father as the gaze as bodilessness or as the symbolic and to develop a new dialectic that refuses to describe the father function as if it were univocal and ahistorical

The Father-Daughter Plot Rebecca L. Copeland, Esperanza Ramirez-Christensen, 2001-07-31 This provocative collection of essays is a comprehensive study of the father daughter dynamic in Japanese female literary experience Its contributors examine the ways in which women have been placed politically ideologically and symbolically as daughters in a culture that venerates the father They weigh the impact that this daughterly position has had on both the performance and production of women's writing from the classical period to the present Conjoining the classical and the modern with a unified theme reveals an important continuum in female authorship a historical approach often ignored by scholars The essays devoted to the literature of the classical period discuss canonical texts in a new light offering important feminist readings that challenge existing scholarship while those dedicated to modern writers introduce readers to little known texts with translations and readings that are engaging and original Contributors Tomoko Aoyama Sonja Arntzen Janice Brown Rebecca L Copeland Midori McKeon Eileen Mikals Adachi Joshua S Mostow Sharalyn Orbaugh Esperanza Ramirez Christensen Edith Sarra Atsuko Sasaki Ann Sherif

Jane Austen Laurence W. Mazzeno, 2011 A comprehensive look at the academic criticism of Jane Austen from her time down to the present Among the most important English novelists Jane Austen is unusual because she is esteemed not only by academics but by the reading public Her novels continue to sell well and films adapted from her works enjoy strong box office success The trajectory of Austen criticism is intriguing especially when one compares it to that of other nineteenth century English writers At least partly because she was a woman in the early nineteenth century she was long neglected by critics hardly considered a major figure in English literature until well into the twentieth century a hundred years after her death Yet consequently she did not suffer from the reaction against Victorianism that did so much to hurt the reputation of Dickens Tennyson Arnold and others How she rose to prominence among academic critics and has retained her position through the constant shifting of academic and critical trends is a story worth telling as it suggests not only something about Austen's artistry but also about how changes in critical perspective can radically alter a writer's reputation

Laurence W Mazzeno is President Emeritus of Alvernia University Reading Pennsylvania Evelina Frances Burney, 2000-09-14 The reputation of Frances Burney 1752 1840 was largely established with her first novel Evelina Published anonymously in 1778 it is an epistolary account of a sheltered young woman's entrance into society and her experience of family Its comedy ranges from the violent practical joking reminiscent of Smollett's fiction to witty repartee that influenced Austen The Broadview edition is based on the second edition of the novel 1779 which incorporates Burney's revisions and corrections Its appendices include contemporary reviews of Evelina as well as eighteenth century works on the family and on comedy

What Else But Love? Philip M. Weinstein, 1996 Philip Weinstein examines questions of race and gender through the works of two major twentieth century American novelists William Faulkner and Toni Morrison From publisher description

Redefining Fatherhood Nancy E. Dowd, 2000-07-01 Most fathers parent less than most mothers Those fathers who do parent equally or more so than mothers are poorly supported by our society For children this means a loss of adult care as well as an ongoing and sharply defined differentiation between fathers and mothers Fathers are not present in children's lives to a significant degree if at all or when they are present they are often rendered socially invisible For many men their parenthood is defined as biological or economic while a minority of men struggle against the presumption that they are not caregivers In Redefining Fatherhood Nancy Dowd argues that this skewed social pattern is mirrored and supported by law Dowd makes the case for reenvisioning fatherhood away from genes and dollars and toward nurture Integrating economic social and legal aspects of fathering she makes the case for focusing on social nurturing behavior as the core meaning of fatherhood In this nuanced and complex analysis she explores the barriers to redefinition including concepts of masculinity the interconnections between fathers and mothers male violence and homophobia Redefining Fatherhood offers a progressive view on how men and society at large can change understandings and practices of fatherhood

The Problem of the Passions Cynthia Burack, 1995-03 Women says conventional wisdom are warm nurturing caregivers with an intrinsically enhanced capacity for attachment and compassion Feminists says the popular image are full of rage devoid of the feelings that are natural to women How have feminists themselves dealt with this dualism and more specifically with the disagreeable passions What has too often been missing from discussions of women's psychology in social theory is an account of women as ambivalent both empathic and enraged loving and hating The Problem of the Passions fills this void Examining the work of such feminist theorists as Carol Gilligan Nancy Chodorow Jessica Benjamin and Dorothy Dinnerstein in a new light Burack argues that feminist social theory can be repaired through attention to the pioneering psychoanalytic work of Melanie Klein Sure to be of interest to feminists psychoanalysts political scientists and social theorists The Problem of the Passions is essential reading for anyone concerned with feminism and questions of identity in social thought

Authority and Reform Mark G. Vásquez, 2003 As a reformatory force the literary text encouraged activism among all its readers but affected and was affected by women more profoundly than and differently from men

Incest and the English Novel, 1684-1814 Ellen Pollak, 2003-06-13 She argues that the historical realignment of the categories of class kinship and representation that took place with the shift from patriarchal to egalitarian models of familial order marked a transformative moment in the cultural construction of incest

Turning the Pages of American Girlhood Emily Hamilton-Honey, 2013-02-26 Alternating chapters of historical background and literary analysis this study argues that postbellum series books inspired young women by illustrating the ways in which girls could participate in social change whether through church societies benevolent organizations educational institutions or political groups By 1900 however the socialization of series heroines had shifted to the consumer marketplace where girls could develop personality and taste through their purchases Both models had benefits Religious faith and political activism gave young women moral power within their communities consuming gave them opportunities to indulge individual desires and often to socialize in public without adult oversight This work adds to the existing scholarship on girls culture not only by examining the beginnings of series fiction for girls and the models of womanhood it presented but also by tracing the shifting social ideologies of girlhood throughout the 19th and early 20th centuries

Daphne du Maurier A. Horner, S. Zlosnik, 1998-04-08 Daphne du Maurier Writing Identity and the Gothic Imagination is the first full length evaluation of du Maurier's fiction and the first critical study of du Maurier as a Gothic writer Horner and Zlosnik argue that the fears at the heart of du Maurier's Gothic fictions reflect both personal and broader cultural anxieties concerning sexual and social identity Using the most recent work in Gothic and gender studies they enter the current debate on the nature of Female Gothic and raise questions about du Maurier's relationship to such a tradition

Regendering the School Story Beverly Lyon Clark, 2004-08-02 In 18th through 20th century British and American literature school stories always play out the power relationships between adult and child They also play out gender relationships especially when females are excluded although most histories of the genre ignore the unusual novels that probe the gendering of school stories When the occasional man wrote about girls schools as Charles Lamb and H G Wells did he sometimes empowered his female characters granting them freedoms that he had experienced at school Women who wrote about boys schools often gave unusual emphasis to families and at times revealed the contradictions in the schoolyard code against telling tales or presented competing versions of masculinity such as the Christian gentleman versus the self made man Sometimes these middle class white women projected their sense of estrangement onto working class and minority women Sometimes they wrote school stories that were in dialog with other genres as when Mrs Henry Wood wrote a sensation story or like Louisa May Alcott they domesticated the boys school story giving prominence to a female viewpoint

New Fathers? Contemporary American Stories of Masculinity, Domesticity and Kinship Helena Wahlström, 2010-10-12 What do novels such as Annie Proulx's The Shipping News Michael Cunningham's A Home at the End of the World and Jayne Anne Phillips MotherKind have in common with films such as Smoke and Mrs Doubtfire This study explores the intersection of masculinity and domesticity in contemporary film and literature It argues that these texts produced since the 1990s address with some urgency the notion of new fatherhood in the United States They offer explorations of the idea that American fatherhood around the turn of the twenty first century is changing and they problematize the legitimacy of new fathers and alternative families in a national culture where the old patriarch and the nuclear family still often loom large in the imagination of many Americans
