Reflections of Growth as a Reggio Emilia Inspired Arts Integration Educator Katherine Miriam Briner, 2024 The Reggio Emilia Approach is an educational philosophy that puts children at the center of everything involved The main principles of the Reggio Emilia Approach covered in this paper include the Hundred Languages which are the idea that children communicate in multiple different ways the atelier which is a space that gives opportunities for exploration and social interaction and documentation which is a form of representation that shows a child's thinking and work The goal of my work was to reflect on my growth as an educator who incorporates arts into the general education classroom and takes inspiration from the Reggio Emilia Approach Due to my background with both the arts and the Reggio Emilia Approach I enjoyed my interactions with the Mosaic of Marks Words Materials exhibition and atelier the Book study surrounding the exhibition and atelier and the 4th North American Reggio Emilia Alliance fall conference During these experiences notes on my reflections thoughts and learnings were dutifully taken and analyzed for themes From these themes I saw growth in my understanding of Hundred Languages as I realized that they are access points of knowledge and impact how children learn information as well as share what they know The Hundred Languages are superpowers that give children the ability to believe in themselves and their peers as they discover more about them and use them to communicate I learned that the atelier is an interactive space where interactions happen between children between children and materials and between the Hundred languages helping to create holistic learning Documentation a process I was unsure of before is now something I look forward to using in my classroom to give power to the students process by continually documenting in the moment instead of afterward Growing as a Reggio Emilia inspired arts integration educator through this process has helped me develop the confidence and skills that will influence my presence in my future classroom

The Glocalization of Early Childhood Curriculum Philip Hui Li, Jennifer J. Chen, 2023-02-03 With empirical evidence and theoretical critique this book unveils the myths and debates e.g. child centeredness versus teacher directedness about early childhood curricula revealing their unique social cultural and historical roots Analyzing globally advocated early childhood curricula and ideologies such as the developmentally appropriate practice the child centered approach constructivism and globalized childhood this book argues that the direct adoption of these contextually bound approaches in local environments may be inappropriate if social and cultural compatibility is lacking The authors then examine how early childhood curricula may be implemented in a hybrid form Featuring case studies from American and Chinese contexts this book offers insights and recommendations for the future development and redeployment of early childhood curriculum studies and practices in a post truth era This volume serves as a valuable resource for scholars and students of early childhood education and comparative education as well as for key education stakeholders

The Power of We Julie K. I Love Forest School Martin Pace, 2014-10-14 This is not a treatise to get children into the outdoors that is acknowledged as read This is a book which considers the following i Different approaches educators can take to working with children in outdoor environments ii The benefits of each approach favouring those which are more child led iii The book will examine how practice in the woodland can influence educators and how they can support children s learning outdoors and indoors The book will bring new understandings to practice in the nursery garden or school grounds and will include an evaluation of how practice at Reflections Nursery has changed and developed in this context

The School I'd Like Catherine Burke, Ian Grosvenor, 2003-12-08 In 2001 The Guardian launched a competition called The School I'd Like in which young people were asked to imagine their ideal school This vibrant groundbreaking book presents material drawn from that competition offering a unique snapshot of perceptions of today s schools by those who matter most the pupils The book is wonderfully illuminated by children s essays stories poems pictures and plans Placing their views in the centre of the debate it provides an evaluation of the democratic processes involved in teaching and learning by identifying consistencies in children s expressions of how they wish to learn highlighting particular sites of disease in the education system today illustrating how the built environment is experienced by today's children posing questions about the reconstruction of teaching and learning for the twenty-first century. This book offers a powerful new perspective on school reform and is essential reading for all those involved in education and childhood studies including teachers, advisors, policy makers, academics, and anyone who believes that children's voices should not be ignored. The New Early Years Foundation Stage: Changes, Challenges And Reflections Beckley, Pat, 2013-08-01. This book provides an overview of the proposed changes to the Early Years Foundation Stage framework, raising contemporary issues.
