Nostalgia in the Early Modern World Harriet Lyon,Alexandra Walsham,2023 How can the concept of nostalgia illuminate the culturally specific ways in which societies understand the contested relationship between the past present and future The word nostalgia was invented in the late seventeenth century to describe the debilitating effects of homesickness Now widely defined as a sense of longing for a lost past initially it was more closely linked with dislocation in space By exploring some of its many textual visual and musical manifestations in the tumultuous period between c 1350 and 1800 this volume resists the assumption that nostalgia is a distinctive by product of modernity It also forges a fruitful link between three lively areas of current scholarly enquiry memory temporality and emotion The contributors deploy nostalgia as a tool for investigating perceptions of the passage of time and historical change unsettling experiences of migration and geographical displacement and the connections between remembering and forgetting affect and imagination Ranging across Europe and the Atlantic world they examine the moments sites and communities in which it arose alongside how it was used to express both criticism and regret about the religious political social and cultural upheavals that shaped the early modern world They approach it as a complex mixed feeling that opens a new window into individual subjectivities and collective mentalities

Preparing for Death, Remembering the Dead Tarald Rasmussen,Jon Øygarden Flæten,2015-04-22 Death and dying were not in the main focus of the denominational conflicts of the 16th century However pious literature covered these topics again and again not only before the Reformation but after it as well Here certain denominational differences are clearly visible

Partly these differences consist in the use of genres For example funeral sermons are an often used genre among Lutherans while they are much rarer in the Reformed tradition Similar differences can be observed concerning epitaphs In Roman Catholic areas funeral sermons and epitaphs are common in the 16th century too but their religious function is often a different from the one in Lutheranism Beyond such interdenominational differences there are also interesting continuities and connections which the contributors of the volume analyze For example there is a certain continuity between 16th century Lutheran funeral sermons and the late medieval tradition of ars moriendi The volume contains papers presented at the Second RefoRC Conference in Oslo in 2012 and is characterized by a multiconfessional and multidisciplinary approach with contributions from Church History Art History Archaeology History of Literature and Cultural History Within a field of research dominated by specialized contributions e g on ars moriendi traditions or on specific traditions of funeral monuments and funeral sermons the broad approach of this volume may further stimulate to comparative and cross confessional reflection
