The Future of Educational Research Noleine Fitzallen, Robyn Reaburn, Si Fan, 2014-04-03 The Future of Educational Research Perspectives from Beginning Researchers provides a snapshot of research across a diversity of fields in education conducted by beginning researchers The five main sections of the book cover research into policy and curriculum teachers experiences educational technologies the teaching and learning of mathematics and literacy development The chapters make valuable contributions to knowledge of contemporary issues in education They illustrate research topics and methodologies that will underpin and provoke future research and demonstrate the potential of these beginning researchers to become leaders in their chosen fields of educational research The chapters also demonstrate the breadth of research topics being undertaken in educational research today For supervisors and research higher degree students the book provides samples of research higher degree student writing that not only exemplify approaches to presenting research but also support the value of publication at all stages of study

Creating Small Scale Social Programs Barbara Schram, 1997-10-14 Built around a single case study Creating New Agency Programs clearly illustrates how to effectively plan implement and evaluate a small scale social program Each step in the planning process is introduced and described in a way that allows the reader to vicariously participate in the evolution of the program Useful charts time lines and resource lists are included and can be easily referenced and utilized This book s emphasis on planning is important not only because it is a much used and generally under taught skill but because successful planning is the process that can turn the dreams of a community into concrete reality This book is geared toward designing programs to meet specific social needs and organizing the relevant and human resources to implement them The programs are specific detail and activity oriented but are designed to support long range goals which may be handed down by a parent organization or the community in general The author s strategy of using a case study serves as a creative learning tool that leads readers through each practical step toward successfully creating their own small scale social program Filling the void of literature on designing programs Creating New Agency Programs is ideal for professionals and students in a variety of fields: social work, human services, clinical counseling psychology, drugs and alcohol psychology, nursing, and management who are faced with the task of planning, designing, and evaluating a program

The New Fundraisers Beth Breeze, 2017-10-30 Charitable fundraising has become ever more urgent in a time of extensive public spending cuts. However, while the identity and motivation of those who donate comes under increasingly close scrutiny, little is known about the motivation and characteristics of the askers, despite almost every donation being solicited or prompted in some way. This is the first empirically grounded and theorised account of the identity, characteristics, and motivation of fundraisers in the UK. Based on original data collected during a 3 year study of over 1,200 fundraisers, the book argues that it is not possible to understand charitable giving without accounting for the role of fundraising

Leadership for World-Class Universities Philip G. Altbach, 2011-07-21 Leadership for World Class Universities reveals how world class thinking and policy can help university leaders employ modern solutions to the challenges facing higher education today. Readers will benefit from best practice advice offered by distinguished international contributors who have excelled by thinking globally without losing sight of their respective national and local environments. Their essays are grounded in empirical research and written to engage the reader, stimulate reflection, and enhance performance. This book focuses especially on developing and middle income countries which face special problems where higher education is expanding most rapidly. Key themes include strategic planning, governance of academic institutions, the role of the academic profession, fundraising, student access and equity, the impact of globalization. Leadership for World Class Universities is a valuable resource for senior university administrators. At the heart of this volume is a focus on how academic leaders can work towards resolving the complex issues facing universities today
