Seventeen Syllables:

Seventeen Syllables Hisaye Yamamoto, 1994 Hisaye Yamamoto's often reprinted tale of a naive American daughter and her Japanese mother captures the essence of the cultural and generational conflicts so common among immigrants and their American born children. On the surface Seventeen Syllables is the story of Rosie and her preoccupation with adolescent life. Between the lines however lurks the tragedy of her mother who is trapped in a marriage of desperation. Tome's deep absorption in writing haiku causes a rift with her husband which escalates to a tragic event that changes Rosie's life forever. Yamamoto's disarming style matches the verbal economy of haiku in which all meaning is contained within seventeen syllables. Her deft characterizations and her delineations of sexuality create a haunting story of a young girl's transformation from innocence to adulthood. This casebook includes an introduction and an essay by the editor, an interview with the author, a chronology, authoritative texts of Seventeen Syllables 1949 and Yoneko's Earthquake 1951, critical essays, and a bibliography. The contributors are Charles L. Crow, Donald C. Goellnicht, Elaine H. Kim, Dorothy Ritsuko McDonald, Zenobia Baxter, Mistri Katharine Newman, Robert M. Payne, Robert T. Rolf, and Stan Yogi. Seventeen Syllables and Other Stories

Hisaye Yamamoto, 1988 In addition to the contents of the original volume, this edition brings back into print the following works: Death Rides the Rails to Poston, Eucalyptus, A Fire in Fontana, Florentine Gardens. Seventeen Syllables Diantha Ain, 2016-08-03 Diantha Ain's unique approach to haiku and graphics presents for your pleasure and perusal twelve categories of positive human behaviors, sentiments, emotions, and ideals in a concise and thought-provoking manner. She offers you food for thought which your mind and belief system may require time to digest, but haiku encourage revisiting. You may discover some you'll want to share with friends or loved ones who look to you for support. For more than thirty years, Diantha has found great joy in writing and sharing her haiku. She hopes that you can find the same kind of joy and satisfaction in reading them and perhaps write some of your own. The Columbia Guide to Asian American Literature Since 1945 Guiyou Huang, 2006-08-08 The Columbia Guide to Asian American Literature Since 1945 Bold Words Rajini Srikanth, Esther Yae Iwanaga, 2001 This anthology covers writings by Asian Americans in all genres from the early twentieth century to the present. Some sixty authors of Chinese, Filipino, Japanese, Korean, South Asian, and Southeast Asian American origin are represented with an equal split between male and female writers. The collection is divided into four sections: memoir, fiction, poetry, and drama, prefaced by an introductory essay from a well-known practitioner of that genre, Meena Alexander, on memoir; Gary Pak on fiction; Eileen Tabios on poetry; and Roberta Uno on drama. The selections depict the complex realities and wide range of experiences of Asians in the United States. They illuminate the writers' creative responses to issues as diverse as resistance, aesthetics, biculturalism, sexuality, gender relations, racism, war, diaspora, and family. Words Matter

King-Kok Cheung, 2000-02-01 In this age of rapid transition, Asian American studies and American studies in general are being reconfigured to reflect global migrations and the diverse populations of the United States. Asian American literature in particular has embodied the crisis of identity that is at the heart of larger academic and political debates surrounding diversity and the inclusion and exclusion of immigrant and refugee groups. These issues underlie the very principles on which literature, culture, and art are produced, preserved, taught, and critiqued. Words Matter is the first collection of interviews with 20th century Asian American writers. The conversations that have been gathered here—interviews with twenty writers possessing unique backgrounds, perspectives, thematic concerns, and artistic priorities—effectively dispel any easy categorizations of people of Asian descent. These writers comment on their own work and speak frankly about aesthetics, politics, and the challenges they have encountered in pursuing a writing career. They address, among other issues, the expectations attached to the label Asian American, the burden of representation shouldered by ethnic artists, and the different demands of mainstream and ethnic audiences.

Articulate Silences King-Kok Cheung, 2018-07-05 In this pathbreaking book, King Kok Cheung sheds new light on the thematic and rhetorical uses of silence in fiction by three Asian American women: Hisaye Yamamoto, Maxine Hong Kingston, and Joy Kogawa. Boldly articulating the unspeakable, these writers break the silence imposed by families or ethnic communities and defy the dominant culture that suppresses the voicing of minority experiences. Yet at the same time, they demonstrate how silences, voiceless gestures, textual ellipses, authorial hesitations can themselves be articulate. Drawing on theoretical works on women's writing, on ethnicity and race, and on postmodernism and history, Cheung takes issue with Anglo American feminists who valorize speech unequivocally and with revisionist Asian American male critics who attempt to refute Orientalist stereotypes by renouncing silence. She challenges Eurocentric views of speech and silence as polarized, hierarchical, and gendered, and proposes an approach to Asian American literature which overturns the East-West or dual personality model. Yamamoto, Kingston, and Kogawa interweave speech and silence, narration and ellipses, autobiography and fiction as they adapt and recast Asian and Euro American precursors. Drawing freely from both traditions, they reinvent the past by decentering, disseminating, and interrogating authority, but not by reappropriating it. A fresh and subtle response to issues relating to cultural diversity, Articulate Silences will be important reading for scholars and students in the fields of literary theory and criticism, women's studies, Asian American studies, and ethnic studies.

The Vajrabhairava Tantra Aleksandra Wentz, 2025-09-02 A groundbreaking work on the little studied Indian origins of an influential tantric Buddhist practice, along with a fresh English translation. The deity Vajrabhairava or Yamantaka is well known as the central figure of tantric practice in multiple lineages of Tibetan Buddhism and is also found in Chinese and Japanese Buddhism. Less is known about its foundational Indian context. The Vajrabhairava Tantra, dedicated to the buffalo-headed deity Vajrabhairava, arose around the eighth century and had a considerable impact on the formation of religious praxis in the medieval Indian Buddhist world. This book contains a translation of the Vajrabhairava Tantra from the recently discovered Sanskrit text and a comprehensive study of its elements, its origins, and Indian commentators, and of the history of its transmission to Tibet. The annotation to the translation excerpts all six Indian commentaries on the tantra found in the

Tibetan canon One highly innovative contribution this work makes to the fields of tantric Buddhist studies and more generally to South Asian religions is the way it breaks down traditional disciplinary boundaries between tantra and magic It shows that the genesis of tantric traditions cannot be reduced to a one way influence of Hindu Shaivism on Buddhism or vice versa but indicates a widespread culture of magic a common ritual syntax that crossed sectarian linguistic and socio cultural boundaries one that came to be significantly diminished in later Shaiva and Buddhist tantras The study comprises the first half of the book and the second half is the translation which explains the construction of the mandala the magical applications of the practice the extraction of the mantra the visualization and the preparation of the pata painting and the homa fire ritual A dozen color plates illustrate Vajrabhairava in his Solitary Hero and other forms along with mandalas of five different lineages keys for which are provided in the appendix Not only is the English translation of the Vajrabhairava Tantra the first to be based on a Sanskrit manuscript but also the comprehensive study of all six canonical commentaries is the first to investigate the key commentaries by Akshobhya and Krishnacharya Almost Touching the Skies Florence Howe, Jean Casella, 2000 The Feminist Press celebrates its own coming of age with an anthology of distinguished women s writings

Jessica Milner Davis, 2006-02-17 Understanding Humor in Japan breaks new ground in the study of humor and sheds light on much that is taken for granted about the role of laughter in civilized societies

The Hotel Haikus TS Hawkins & T.

McLean, 2013-02-21 The landlord fails to change the locks evicted tenants make a revengeful return and set the apartment building on fire Flames firefighters and fear of the unknown pen a hilariously tragic haiku over and over again From homelessness to a hotel that looked like the backdrop for any American horror film poetry became the vehicle trudging these two souls to sanity

Unhuman Tour: Kusamakura Soseki Natsume, KINOSUKE NATSUME better known by his pen name Soseki was one of if not greatest fiction writers modern Japan has produced A man of solid university education unlike many another of the fraternity he established a school of his own in point of originality in style and what is more important in the angle from which he observed human affairs More points of difference about him from others were the complete absence in his case of romantic elements and adversities almost always inseparable from the early life of literary geniuses and the sudden blazing into fame from obscurity except as a popular school teacher and then a university professor with some partiality for the hokku school of poetry Soseki Natsume was born in January 1867 a third son of an old family in Kikui cho Tokyo His education after a primary school course took a deviation for some years into the old fashioned study of Chinese classics It was probably then that he laid foundation perhaps unknown to himself of the development of his literary talent that later blossomed out so picturesquely and he was different also in this respect from the later Meiji era writers who went many of them through a Christian mission school and were all under the influence of Western literature In 1884 our future novelist entered the Yobimon College intending to become an architect but later changing his mind he took a course in the Literature Department of Tokyo Imperial University from which he graduated in 1892 While in the university Soseki formed a close friendship with Shiki Masaoka which lasted until the latter's death separated them in 1904 Shiki Masaoka was the greatest figure in the revival of hokku poetry in rejuvenated Japan and Soseki's association with him accounts for the novelist's mastery of that branch of literature After finishing his post graduate course in the university in 1895 Kinnosuke Natsume taught successively in Matsuyama Middle School in Iyo and the Fifth High School in Kumamoto making no name particularly for himself except as a bright promising scholar He took a wife unto himself in 1896 and was four years later sent by the Government to England to study English literature In three years he returned home to be appointed Lecturer in Tokyo Imperial University About this time his London Letters in Shiki Masaoka's Hokku magazine the Hototogisu began to attract attention but it was not till the publication of the first book of maiden work I Am A Cat that he suddenly entered the temple of fame That was in 1905 The Cat with its perfect novelty of conception style study of human nature etc made him at once a star of first magnitude in the literary firmament and from that time on for the next five years his productions long and short followed in a constant stream including Botchan Innocent in Life Kusamakura Unhuman Tour Sanshiro Kofu The Miner Hinageshi The Corn poppy and many others some perhaps many of which are assured an immortal life

Kusamakura

Reading Asian American Literature

Sau-ling Cynthia Wong, 1993-07-12 A recent explosion of publishing activity by a wide range of talented writers has placed Asian American literature in the limelight As the field of Asian American literary studies gains increasing recognition however questions of misreading and appropriation inevitably arise How is the growing body of Asian American works to be read What holds them together to constitute a tradition What distinguishes this tradition from the mainstream canon and other minority literatures In the first comprehensive book on Asian American literature since Elaine Kim's ground breaking 1982 volume Sau ling Wong addresses these issues and explores their implications for the multiculturalist agenda Wong does so by establishing the intertextuality of Asian American literature through the study of four motifs food and eating the Doppelgänger figure mobility and play in their multiple sociohistorical contexts Occurring across ethnic subgroup gender class generational and historical boundaries these motifs resonate with each other in distinctly Asian American patterns that universalistic theories cannot uncover Two rhetorical figures from Maxine Hong Kingston s The Woman Warrior Necessity and Extravagance further unify this original wide ranging investigation Authors studied include Carlos Bulosan Frank Chin Ashley Sheun Dunn David Henry Hwang Lonny Kaneko Maxine Hong Kingston Joy Kogawa David Wong Louie Darrell Lum Wing Tek Lum Toshio Mori Bharati Mukherjee Fae Myenne Ng Bienvenido Santos Monica Sone Amy Tan Yoshiko Uchida Shawn Wong Hisaye Yamamoto and Wakako Yamauchi
