Relationship Morality James Kellenberger, 2010-11-01 The Lily and the Thistle William Calin, 2014-01-01 In The Lily and the Thistle William Calin argues for a reconsideration of the French impact on medieval and renaissance Scottish literature Calin proposes that much of traditional medieval and early modern Scottish culture thought to be native to Scotland or primarily from England is in fact strikingly international and European By situating Scottish works in a broad intertextual context Calin reveals which French genres and modes were most popular in Scotland and why The Lily and the Thistle provides appraisals of medieval narrative texts in the high courtly mode equivalent to the French romans amoureux comic didactic and satirical texts and Scots romance Special attention is accorded to texts composed originally in French such as the Arthurian Roman de Fergus as well as to the lyrics of Mary Queen of Scots and little known writers from the French and Scottish canons By considering both medieval and renaissance works Calin is able to observe shifts in taste and French influence over the centuries

Love Disconsoled Timothy P. Jackson, 1999-11-25 Few concepts are more central to ethics than love but none is more subject to false consolation This 1999 book explores several theological philosophical and literary accounts of love focusing on how it relates to matters such as self interest and self sacrifice and invulnerability and immortality Timothy Jackson first considers key aspects of what the Bible says about love then he further examines the meaning of love and sacrifice through a close reading of novels by Fitzgerald and Hemingway Lastly he evaluates how love constrains and is constrained by other traditional moral concepts Throughout Jackson defends the moral priority of what the Christian tradition calls agape He argues that a proper understanding of agapic love rejects both moral relativism and the comfort of believing that good people cannot be harmed or that God causally necessitates every historical action and event When love is thus disconsolated it neither fears death nor despises life
