

Narrative: Culture and Change

- “The myths, beliefs, and practices preferred by a culture or group of cultures will find their way into those cultures’ narratives where they can be reinforced, criticized, or simply reproduced. It is possible to apprehend social change through changes in thematic or formal trends in narrative over time” (Turner 89).

Literacy, Narrative and Culture Jens Brockmeier, David R Olson, Min Wang, 2013-12-16 An important contribution to the multi disciplinary study of literacy narrative and culture this work argues that literacy is perhaps best described as an ensemble of socially and historically embedded activities of cultural practices It suggests viewing written language producing and distributing deciphering and interpreting signs are closely related to other cultural practices such as narrative and painting The papers of the first and second parts illustrate this view in contexts that range from the pre historical beginnings of tracking signs in hunter gatherer cultures and the emergence of modern literate traditions in Europe in the 17th to 19th century to the future of electronically mediated writing in times of the post Gutenberg galaxy The chapters of the third present results of recent research in developmental and educational psychology Contributions by leading experts in the field make the point that there is no theory and history of writing that does not presuppose a theory of culture and social development At the same time it demonstrates that every theory and history of culture must unavoidably entail a theory and history of writing and written culture This book brings together perspectives on literacy from psychology linguistics history and sociology of literature philosophy anthropology and history of art It addresses these issues in plain language not coded in specialized jargon and addresses a multi disciplinary forum of scholars and students of literacy narrative and culture

Narrative Cultures and the Aesthetics of Religion Dirk Johannsen, Anja Kirsch, Jens Kreinath, 2020-01-29 Narrative Cultures and the Aesthetics of Religion presents the aesthetics of narrativity in religious contexts by approaching narrative acts as situated modes of engaging with reality equally shaped by the immersive character of the stories told and the sensory qualities of their performances Introducing narrative cultures as an integrative framework of analysis the volume builds a bridge between classical content based approaches to narrative sources and the aesthetic study of religions as constituted by sensory and mediated practices Studying stories in conjunction with the role that performative acts of storytelling play in the Media Culture & Morality Keith Tester, 2013-07-23 First published in 1994 The media report terrible events But the academic study of the media is increasingly trivial and lacking in moral seriousness Media Culture and Morality examines how this paradoxical situation could have emerged The author seizes upon the disparity between the enormous production of books in the field and the lack of substantive insights generated He argues that such a mass of self conscious criticism should have provided a moral critique of contemporary culture not the quagmire of theoretical verbiage and threadbare politicizing we are faced with today The book is a disturbing speculation on the fate of moral and cultural values in a media dominated world Mission Unaccomplished Alan Nadel,2025 Throughout his career prominent film scholar Alan Nadel has explored the idea of cultural narratives and how every social unit sees and explains the world through the stories we tell In this book he identifies how the war film genre has changed in the 21st century after 9 11 and more specifically Bush s announcement of Mission Accomplished He explains how the traditional war film narrative in which soldiers have a specific mission or objective to achieve in battle changed to one in which war is treated as a daily occupation with no larger mission that will lead even in the long run to peace He examines how films such as Saving Private Ryan at the end of the 20th century have morphed into films such as Jarhead The Hurt Locker and The Green Zone With the indefinite and ill planned occupation of Afghanistan and Iraq including the privatization of many military services through contractors this new situation has led to films in which we follow soldiers day to day lives as they go through their duties or even after they ve come home as in American Sniper Another change in war films during the Global War on Terror puts the emphasis on just surviving and getting out such as in Hacksaw Ridge which even carries over to films about for example WWII such as Dunkirk Again combatants have no specific goal other than escaping or helping others to escape or just surviving long enough to go home Nadel shows how this change has also affected non war films such as Sully Captain Phillips Deepwater Horizon and Get Out and even the television series Lost Nadel deftly moves between political history and film analysis with this wide ranging lucid examination of the changing nature and role of war films Shadows of Perception: Psychological and Sociological Factors Behind Conspiracy Belief Kathlene Herberger,2025-02-07 Explore the intricate web of conspiracy theories with Shadows of Perception This comprehensive book delves deep into the psychological and sociological factors that drive belief in conspiracies Uncover the foundational theories definitions and scope of conspiracy thinking Examine the architecture of mistrust within our institutions and society and uncover the unlikely connections through quantum shadows Debunk the myths with critical thinking strategies and understand the societal impact of conspiracies including their consequences and solutions Through three detailed case studies The X Event The Y Phenomenon and The Z Narrative this book illustrates how conspiracy theories develop and persist Gain insights into the psychology of individual belief and the sociology of collective dynamics Learn effective strategies to combat misinformation and discover emerging trends in the future of disinformation Explore policy and regulatory approaches to addressing the problem and build resilience through individual and collective actions Shadows of Perception is your guide to understanding the shadows that shape our beliefs and influence our world Writing the Ghetto Yoonmee Chang,2010-11-08 In the United States perhaps no minority group is considered as model or successful as the Asian American community Rather than living in ominous ghettos Asian Americans are described as residing in positive sounding ethnic enclaves Writing the Ghetto helps clarify the hidden or unspoken class inequalities faced by Asian Americans while insightfully analyzing the effect such notions have had on their literary voices Yoonmee Chang examines the class structure of Chinatowns Koreatowns Little Tokyos and Little Indias arguing that ghettoization in these spaces is disguised She maintains that Asian American literature both contributes to and challenges this masking through its marginalization by what she calls the ethnographic imperative Chang discusses texts from the late nineteenth century to the present including those of Sui Sin Far Winnifred Eaton Monica Sone Fae Myenne Ng Chang rae Lee S Mitra Kalita and Nam Le These texts are situated in the contexts of the Chinese Exclusion Era Japanese American internment during World War II the globalization of Chinatown in the late twentieth century the Vietnam War the 1992 Los Angeles riots and the contemporary emergence of the ethnoburb
