New Themes In Palliative Care:

New Themes In Palliative Care Clark, David, Hockley, Jo, Ahmedzai, Sam, 1997-09-01 The contributors examine the challenges faced by this multidisciplinary speciality as it seeks to combine high grade pain and symptom control with sensitive psychological spiritual and social care Ethical and resourcing aspects are discussed EBOOK: New Themes In Palliative Care David Clark, Jo Hockley, Sam Ahmedzai, 1997-09-16 Palliative care is moving through an important period of expansion and development spreading beyond its original hospice base to encompass care in the community in hospitals health centres clinics and nursing homes It can now be found in over 70 countries of the world What challenges does this multidisciplinary speciality face as it seeks to combine high grade pain and symptom control with sensitive psychological spiritual and social care What are the implications of current constraints on health policy and planning How do ethical issues about resource allocation and end of life care impinge Can palliative care be further extended to include conditions other than cancer New Themes in Palliative Care addresses these and many related issues in ways which will be readily accessible to students of health and social care as well as to those involved in purchasing or providing palliative care services and to social scientists interested in chronic illness death and dying Its editors are respected experts in the field with backgrounds in the social sciences nursing and medicine and the book's contributors include leading international figures from a wide range of palliative care and academic disciplines EBOOK: Palliative Care in Ireland Julie Ling, Liam O'Siorain, 2005-05-16 This book describes the history and development of palliative care services in the Republic of Ireland Written from a multi professional perspective the book appeals to anyone with an interest in hospice and palliative care in Ireland In attempting to explore what is different about Irish palliative care this book delves into the cultural religious and social factors particular to modern Ireland from the historical roots of the Irish palliative care movement through to the publication of the Government's blueprint for the future development of services Palliative Care In Ireland explores the provision of palliative care services bereavement the influence of folklore holistic care faith religion and spirituality and the important contributions of the voluntary sector The changing face of Ireland is described and challenges ahead are considered This is the first book to truly capture the Irish dimension and is essential reading for those in emerging services worldwide where similar challenges are faced and where local and national influences determine the uniqueness of a particular model of service delivery The book is key reading for students and researchers as well as all those involved in the delivery and management of palliative care services Contributors Jide Afolabi Maria Bailey Frank Brennan David Clark Sin ad Donnelly Matthew Farrelly Stephen Higgins Jacqueline Holmes Kaye Kealy Michael Kearney Ann Keating Orla Keegan Christy Kenneally Philip Larkin Peter Lawlor Julie Ling Anna Marie Lynch John McCormack Regina McQuillan Michael J Murphy Tony O'Brien Eileen O'Leary Liam O'Siorain Maeve O'Reilly Patrick J Quinlan Deirdre Rowe Siobhan Sheehan Geraldine Tracey Onja Van Doorslaer Eithne Walsh Rethinking palliative care Sinclair, Paul, 2007-04-04 This book's striking message is that palliative care does not deliver on its aims to value people who are dying and make death and dying a natural part of life This book draws from wider social science perspectives and critically and specifically applies these perspectives to palliative care and its dominant medical model Applying Social Role Valorisation the author argues for the de institutionalisation of palliative care and the development of an alternative framework to the approaches found in hospices palliative care units and community based palliative care services He offers a new conceptualisation of death and loss that refines and expands modern understandings in a way that also resonates with traditional religious views concerning death Wide ranging recommendations advise fundamental change in the concept of palliative care the way support and services are organised and the day to day practice of palliative care Rethinking palliative care will be of interest to academics students and practitioners in palliative care as well as those in disability social policy sociology social work religion thanatology nursing and other health related fields A Hospice in Change Martin Lipscomb,2013-10-15 A Hospice in Change Applied Social Realist Theory reports upon a study into aspects of the ways in which structural and organisational developments professional cultures and bedside or patient focused clinical practice interact within a single UK institution While the findings of this study are time and context specific the events and social processes being described may nonetheless resonate closely with the experience of healthcare practitioners at other hospices both within and without the UK The work examines themes and ideas that hospice and palliative care practitioners as well as those involved or interested more broadly in end of life issues may find relevant It is argued that differential morphogenesis can be identified between structures social and cultural and agents individual and group at an independent healthcare charity in southern England A Hospice in Change connects theory and philosophy with concrete research practice to provide a worked example of Margaret Archer's realist social theory Developing Holistic Care for Long-term Conditions Carl Margerison,Steve Trenoweth,2009-10-16 Comprising four sections this text introduces the policy and background to caring for people with chronic illness as well as the psychosocial impact of long term conditions Essential skills for practice are explored including holistic assessment symptom control and the promotion of effective partnership between client and carer in supporting coping recovery and end of life care There is an emphasis on maximising individual health potential and resilience with the role of nutrition exercise complementary therapy and spirituality considered The focus is on client centred care which addresses the whole person mind and body The extensive final section presents examples of key health issues where UK national guidelines have been published including Long term neurological conditions Diabetes Mental health Cancer Coronary heart disease Older people Handbook of Death and Dying Clifton D. Bryant,2003-10 Dying is a social as well as physiological phenomenon Each society characterizes and consequently treats death and dying in its own individual ways ways that differ markedly These particular patterns of death and dying engender modal cultural responses and such institutionalized behavior has familiar economical educational religious and political implications The Handbook of Death and Dying takes stock of the vast literature in the field of thanatology arranging and
