Northern Vision:

States of Nature Tina Loo, 2011-11-01 Since the early days of the fur trade wildlife has been powerfully and inspiring emblematic of Canada Yet the story of saving Canada's wildlife is largely unknown States of Nature is one of the first books to trace the development of Canadian wildlife conservation from its social political and historical roots While noting the influence of celebrity conservationists such as Jack Miner and Grey Owl Tina Loo emphasizes the impact of ordinary people on the evolution of wildlife management in Canada She also explores the elements leading up to the emergence of the modern environmental movement ranging from the reliance on and practical knowledge of wildlife demonstrated by rural people to the more aloof and scientific approach of state sponsored environmentalism Illustrated with evocative images of the Canadian wilderness of yesteryear and supported by historical case studies States of Nature will appeal to historians policy makers and wildlife managers as well as to general readers fascinated by the natural world and its champions Investing in Place Sean Markey, Greg Halseth, Don Manson, 2012-08-01 The future of northern British Columbia a vast resource rich region of vibrant cultures and diverse communities could be either driven by a narrow economic agenda or guided by innovative place based solutions that seek to build viable communities and resilient local and regional economies Investing in Place is about creating the foundations for renewing northern British Columbia's rural and small town economies Markey Halseth and Manson argue that renewal is not about nostalgic reliance on the policies and economic strategies of the past rather it is about building a pragmatic and innovative vision for development one that acknowledges both the opportunities and the challenges posed by resource development and global and technological change For policy makers and residents alike the path to renewal lies in place based development which consists of people working together at all levels of the community and region to take advantage of local opportunities in a sustainable responsible way Canada James M. Roth, 2024-09-18 The history of Canada can seem like a subject as large and expansive as the country itself and for those of us who haven't attended a history class in a while it may just feel too big to tackle Academic histories full of footnotes and jargon aren't for everyone but everyone deserves to know the history of the country they call home Direct but never dry historian James M Roth starts at the country's geographical beginnings at the end of the last Ice Age and weaves Canada's tale from there From contrasting early New World civilization against established Old World tradition contextualizing Indigenous history within the rest of Canadian history explaining today's complex relationships between English and French Canadians with a play by play analysis of events giving meaning to countless social and political movements by looking at the bigger picture and covering everything else in between in commuter length chapters Canada The First 20 000 Years is a history book for the everyday Canadian Images of the North, 2009-01-01 This interdisciplinary volume seeks to examine and explore the various issues surrounding image construction identity making and representations of the North as well as the interconnectedness between those issues The aim is to elucidate the multiple aspects of the idea of the North both as a mythological space and a discursive system created and shaped by cultures outside the North as well as from within The objective of the research project Iceland and Images of the North is to elucidate several aspects of images of the North and to explore their functions in the present focusing especially on Iceland What effect have Iceland and its people had on images of the North and how do those images influence the Icelanders and other nations The project will be a cooperative interdisciplinary undertaking by researchers in the humanities and social sciences Canada and the Idea of North Sherrill E Grace, 2002-04-15 Canada and the Idea of North examines the ways in which Canadians have defined themselves as a northern people in their literature art music drama history geography politics and popular culture From the Franklin Mystery to the comic book superheroine Nelvana Glenn Gould's documentaries the paintings of Lawren Harris and Molson beer ads the idea of the north has been central to the Canadian imagination Sherrill Grace argues that Canadians have always used ideas of Canada as North to promote a distinct national identity and national unity In a penultimate chapter The North Writes Back Grace presents newly emerging northern voices and shows how they view the long tradition of representing the North by southern activists artists and scholars With the recent creation of Nunavut increasing concern about northern ecosystems and social challenges and renewed attention to Canada's role as a circumpolar nation Canada and the Idea of North shows that nordicity still plays an urgent and central role in Canada at the start of the twenty first century

Geopolitics Jason Dittmer, Jo Sharp, 2014-06-27 It has been increasingly impossible to think about our changing world without coming across the term geopolitics In the wake of the invasion and occupation of Iraq by the United States United Kingdom and others geopolitics has been offered as an explanation for the occupation's failure to reinvent the Iraqi state and as a blueprint for future action But what is geopolitics Drawing both on academic and political material this book introduces readers to the concept of geopolitics from the first usage of the term to its more recent reconceptualisations The concept of geopolitics is introduced through four thematic sections Imperial Geopolitics Cold War Geopolitics Geopolitics after the Cold War and Reconceptualising Geopolitics Each section includes key writings from a range of diverse and leading authors such as Said Agnew Dalby O Tuathail Gregory Barnett and Kaplan and is accompanied by a critical introduction by the editors to guide the reader through the material This Reader establishes the foundations of geopolitics while also introducing readers to the continuing significance of the concept in the 21st century This Reader provides an essential resource that exposes students to original writing The Editors provide a pathway through the material with Section Introductions to assist the readers understanding of the context of the material and impacts of the writings The readings included draw from a range of authors writing from a range of locations The Reader concludes with the latest changes in geopolitical thought incorporating feminist and other perspectives Humanities, 2000 Perils of Plenty Jonathan N. Markowitz, 2020-04-02 Among scholars who focus on the politics of natural resources conventional wisdom asserts that resource scarce states have the strongest interest in securing control over resources Counterintuitively however in Perils of Plenty Jonathan N Markowitz finds that the opposite is true. In actuality, what states make influences what they want to take. Specifically, Markowitz argues that the more economically dependent states are on resource extraction rents for income, the stronger their preferences will be to secure control over resources. He tests the theory with a set of case studies that analyze how states reacted to the 2007 exogenous climate shock that exposed energy resources in the Arctic. Given the dangerous potential for conflict escalation in the Middle East and the South China Sea and the continued shrinkage of the polar ice cap, this book speaks to a genuinely important development in world politics that will have implications for understanding the political effects of climate change for many years to come.

Lessons From The Arctic Emily Tsui, Thomas S Axworthy, Sara French, 2020-08-06. Lessons from the Arctic: The Role of Regional Government in International Affairs is a collection of articles written by twenty-six leading and emerging scholars from across the circumpolar region. Each author assesses and explores the processes of regional governance in the Arctic from an interdisciplinary perspective. The topics include Indigenous internationalism, paradiplomacy, federalism, global institution building, and more.

Harold Innis and the North William J. Buxton, 2013-06-01. Harold Innis is widely understood as the proponent of the Laurentian school of historiography, which mapped Canadian development along an East-West axis. Harold Innis and the North turns the axis North-South by examining Innis's intense and abiding interest in the North and providing new perspectives on this seminal figure in Canadian political economy and communication studies. This collection reveals that Innis's advocacy of the North was closely bound up with his vision of northern Canada as the site of a second industrial revolution based on mining, hydroelectric power, pulp and paper, and enabled by new forms of transportation. Long preoccupied with Canada's coming of age as a balanced and integrated industrial nation-state, Innis grappled with the same issues about the North in the Canadian nation that we are dealing with today. Chapters explore the breadth of Innis's northern activities, including his early studies of the fur trade, his biography of eighteenth-century explorer and cartographer Peter Pond, his review essays on the North for the Canadian Historical Review, his leadership of the Rockefeller-sponsored Arctic Survey, and his trip to the Soviet Union. Harold Innis and the North crafts a new narrative about the nature and scope of Innis's intellectual project and provides a unique appreciation of his multi-faceted professional identity. Contributors include Sergei Arkhipov, North Ossetian State University and NGO; Vladikavkaz Institute of Economics; Jeffrey Brison, Queens; George Colpitts, Calgary; Matthew Evenden, UBC; Barry Gough, Churchill College, Cambridge; and Kings College London; Paul Heyer, Wilfrid Laurier; Jim Mochoruk, North Dakota; Liza Piper, Alberta; Shirley Roburn, Concordia; Peter van Wyck, Concordia; Jeff Webb, Memorial.
