Why Gardens Matter Joanna Geyer-Kordesch, Donald Smith, 2020-11-25 So many gardening books tell you what to plant and where and when But how often do they tell you to just sit and enjoy them And when you do you can find yourself thinking of things in a different way With an exceptional academic career in natural history and medicine writer Joanna Geyer Kordesch found reflection consolation and healing in the soothing healing powers of gardens after suffering from a major stroke Sharing profound reflections on how gardening has helped her regenerate Why Gardens Matter is as enlightening as it is inspirational With contributions from Donald Smith this is a powerful plea for us to reflect on our gardens and to acknowledge the life affirming values of our green spaces Food Gardens for a Changing World Daniela Soleri, David A Cleveland, Steven E Smith, 2019-06-28 Food gardening is becoming increasingly popular as people look for new ways to live more sustainably and minimize harm to the environment This book addresses the 21st century trends which bring new challenges to food gardening anthropogenic climate change environmental degradation natural resource scarcity and social inequity and explains the basic biological ecological and social concepts needed to understand and respond to them Examples throughout the text demonstrate how to successfully use these concepts while supporting gardeners values and their goals for themselves their communities and the world Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture - Volume III Olaf Christen, Victor Squires, Rattan Lal and Rober J. Hudson, 2010-05-24 Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture is a component of Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Interdisciplinary and Sustainability Issues in Food and Agriculture provides the essential aspects and discusses a number of issues of importance in the development of specific agriculture and food supply systems that are closely related to general developmental trends of humankind In this context technology and economic development as well as socio cultural developments affect productivity and a secure supply with food These three volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs A Philosophy of Gardens David E. Cooper, 2006-02-02 Why do gardens matter so much and mean so much to people That is the intriguing question to which David Cooper seeks an answer in this book Given the enthusiasm for gardens in human civilization ancient and modern Eastern and Western it is surprising that the question has been so long neglected by modern philosophy Now at last there is a philosophy of gardens Not only is this a fascinating subject in its own right it also provides a reminder that the subject matter of aesthetics is broader than the fine arts that ethics is not just about moral issues but about the good life and that environmental philosophy should not focus only on wilderness to the exclusion of the humanly shaped environment David Cooper identifies garden appreciation as a special human phenomenon distinct from both from the appreciation of art and the appreciation of nature He explores the importance of various garden practices and shows how not only gardening itself but activities to which the garden especially lends itself including social and meditative activities contribute to the good life And he distinguishes the many kinds of meanings that gardens may have from representation of nature to emotional expression from historical significance to symbolization of a spiritual relationship to the world Building on the familiar observation that among human beings creations the garden is peculiarly dependent on the co operation of nature Cooper argues that the garden matters as an epiphany of an intimate co dependence between human creative activity in the world and the mystery that allows there to be a world for them at all A Philosophy of Gardens will open up this subject to students and scholars of aesthetics ethics and cultural and environmental studies and to anyone with a reflective interest in things horticultural
