most notable poets offer insightful personal and detailed responses to and assessments of Larry's life and work. Especially touching and salient are the interviews with Philip Levine, Peter Everwine, C. G. Hanzlicek, and David St. John. Fresno poets and friends who knew him best and who knew Larry from the start. They testify to his talent, humanity, and unmatched originality and voice. For lovers of Larry's poetry of contemporary poetry, this is an invaluable collection. Christopher Buckley, author of A Condition of the Spirit. As I read through the interviews in Prismatics, I found myself pausing in the middle of chapters rather than between them so as to savor the feeling of always being immersed in a rich and rewarding conversation. I love the cumulative warmth of this book of so many poets speaking affectionately and thoughtfully about one of the great American poets of the 20th century as friend, colleague, lover, co-conspirator, and cynosure. But more than a commemoration of Larry, Levis' Prismatics offers meditations on passion, creativity, self-destruction, ambition, and the nature of literary legacy. It's a book as capacious and complex as the poetry of Levis itself. Nicky Beer, author of The Octopus Game and The Diminishing House.

With appendices and indexes. Breath Philip Levine, 2011-09-07. Always a poet of memory and invention, Philip Levine looks back at his own life as well as the adventures of his ancestors, his relatives, and his friends, and at their rites of passage into an America of victories and betrayals. He transports us back to the street where he was born early in the final industrial century to help us envision an America he's known from the 1930s to the present. His subjects include his brothers, a great uncle who gave up on America and returned to czarist Russia, a father who survived unspeakable losses, the artists and musicians who inspired him, and fellow workers at the factory who shared the best and worst of his coming of age. Throughout the collection, Levine rejoices in song: Dinah Washington wailing from a jukebox in midtown Manhattan, Della Daubien hymning on the crosstown streetcar, Max Roach and Clifford Brown at a forgotten Detroit jazz palace, the prayers offered to God by an immigrant uncle dreaming of the Judean hills, the hoarse notes of a factory worker who, completing another late shift, serenades the sleeping streets. Like all of Levine's poems, these are a testament to the durability of love, the strength of the human spirit, the persistence of life in the presence of the coming dark. The Simple Truth Philip Levine, 2011-08-31. Winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1995. Written in a voice that moves between elegy and prayer, The Simple Truth contains thirty-three poems whose aim is to weave a complex tapestry of myth, history, both public and private, family memory and invention in a search for truths so basic and universal they often escape us all. World
