Contemporary Approaches to Neuropsychological Assessment Gerald Goldstein, Theresa M. Incagnoli, 2013-06-29 This volume reflects in part an update of Clinical Application of Neuropsychological Test Batteries edited by Theresa Incagnoli, Gerald Goldstein and Charles Golden some 10 years ago. While the initial concept of the present editors involved doing a straightforward update of each chapter, it soon became apparent that the field of clinical neuropsychology had changed so dramatically and rapidly that substantial changes in the outline had to be made. It was our view that sufficient interest remained in the standard comprehensive neuropsychological test batteries to make an update worthwhile. We asked four senior people to take on this assignment: James Moses Jr and Arnold Purisch in the case of the Luria-Nebraska Battery and James Reed and Homer Reed for the Halstead-Reitan Battery. These individuals all have long-term associations with these procedures and can be viewed as pioneers in their development. However, it also seemed to us that there was an increasing interest in the psychometric aspects of the standard procedures and in assessment issues related to the relative merits of using standard or individualized assessment strategies. Thus, we have chapters by Elbert Russell and Gerald Goldstein that provide discussions of these current methodological and clinical issues. During the past 10 years, the cognitive revolution has made a strong impact on neuropsychology. The interest of cognitive psychologists in brain function has increased dramatically, and we now have an active field of cognitive neuropsychology, something that was only beginning 10 years ago.

Psychological Assessment and Testing John Spores, 2022-06-08 Expanding upon and updating the first edition, this comprehensive guide instructs readers on how to effectively conduct psychological assessment and testing in their practice, efficiently advancing a case from the initial referral and clinical interview through the testing process and leading to informed diagnosis and treatment recommendations. This second edition incorporates updated editions of all major tests, pertinent revisions from the DSM-5, more in-depth analysis of testing topics, and coverage of new constructs that are the targets of psychological testing relevant to outpatient mental health practice. Readers will learn about the fundamentals of assessment testing and psychological measurement, the complete process of psychological testing using a broad range of major tests, supplemented by interpretive flowcharts and case examples. Downloadable practice and report forms, along with data tables with pre-drafted interpretive excerpts for all tests, are also available for immediate use in clinical practice. Psychologists in both practice and training will come away with the tools and knowledge needed to successfully conduct psychological assessment and testing within the contemporary mental health field.

An Assessment Guide To Geriatric Neuropsychology Holly Tuokko, Thomas Hadjistavropoulos, 2014-04-04 At least half of all neuropsychological assessments are performed on elderly persons but the information clinicians need to make appropriate judgment calls is widely scattered Several books offering general descriptions of the cognitive functioning of the aged or of neuropsychological conditions affecting them are helpful to practitioners but do not provide reliable and valid normative information. Two books that do provide this information do not focus on geriatric populations. A concise yet comprehensive summary of what we now know about those over 65 with an extensive bibliography, An Assessment Guide to Geriatric Neuropsychology, fills the gap. The neuropsychological assessment of elderly persons involves not only the performance-based measurement of various capacities but heavy reliance on reports from caregivers, both formal and informal, about the day-to-day functioning of the affected person. It also raises important yet often neglected ethical concerns. The authors discuss all the measures that detect and discriminate among cognitive disorders of elderly persons, including special measures relevant to caregiver reports, and provide useful tables to assist in differential diagnosis. They also reflect on the ethical issues that often confront the assessor: informed consent, confidentiality, the right of bodily autonomy, and self-determination, and appropriate feedback. This book will be an invaluable resource for all those called on to evaluate older clients.
