North-South Transfer of Technology Jack Baranson, 1977 Technology Transfer and Innovation for Low-Carbon Development Miria Pigato, Simon Black, Damien Dussaux, Zhimin Mao, Ryan Rafaty, Simon Touboul, 2020-04-09 Technological revolutions have increased the world's wealth unevenly and in ways that have accelerated climate change This report argues that achieving The Paris Agreement's objectives would require a massive transfer of existing and commercially proven low carbon technologies LCT from high income to developing countries where the bulk of future emissions is expected to occur This mass deployment is not only a necessity but also an opportunity Policies to deploy LCT can help countries achieve economic and other development objectives like improving human health in addition to reducing greenhouse gases GHGs Additionally LCT deployment offers an opportunity for countries with sufficient capabilities to benefit from participation in global value chains and produce and export LCTs Finally the report calls for a greater international involvement in supporting the poorest countries which have the least access to LCT and finance and the most underdeveloped physical technological and institutional capabilities that are essential to benefit from technology The Legal Barriers to Technology Transfer under the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change Chen Zhou,2019-03-11 The book discusses climate technology transfer under the UNFCCC framework and China's relevant legislation and practices It first explores theoretical basis of climate change related technology transfer with a particular focus on the differences between climate technology transfer and business as usual performance The book then reviews practices of both technology supplier and user in order to generally identify potential legal barriers and obstacles Finally it sheds light on China providing a comprehensive assessment on barriers that hinder the trans boundary transfers of low carbon technologies and need to be overcome in future The issues concerned involve two of the most dynamic areas in current China's lawmaking progress environment laws and Intellectual Property laws The book provides an in depth analysis on China's legislation and practices in this regard At international level the legal framework of climate technology transfer is examined in a systematic prudent and constructive manner On this basis the book highlights potential common consistency and possible coordination between the UNFCCC and the WTO regime This book is accessible to both Chinese and international environmental law specialists It appeals to a broad readership including environmental scientists economists concerned with China's intellectual property law foreign investment law and anyone interested in the topic how to green intellectual property rights regime for climate technology transfer in the China context North-South Trade, Employment and Inequality Adrian Wood,1994-02-17 Drawing on three fields of economics international labour and development this study shows that expansion of North South trade in manufactures has had a far greater impact on labour markets than earlier work suggested In the South unskilled workers have benefited most from this trade but in the North the gains have been concentrated on skilled labour while unskilled workers have suffered falling wages and rising unemployment This decline in the economic position of unskilled workers has increased inequality and aggravated crime and other forms of social erosion on both sides of the Atlantic The failure of Northern governments to recognize that trade with the South has these adverse side effects and to take appropriate counter measures has fuelled the rise of protectionism the worst possible response which slows economic progress in both regions The best solution for the longer term in the North is more investment in education to raise the supply of skilled labour However the benefits of this investment will emerge slowly During the next one or two decades Professor Wood argues other measures are also urgently needed to boost the demand for and incomes of unskilled workers Canada and South Asian Development Choudhry,2021-11-01 Developing the Global South Paulos Milkias,2010 For four decades the UN has attempted to foster development in the countries of the global south The book provides a synopsis of these efforts from the Brandt Commission Report to Boutros Boutros Ghali's Agenda for Development Prof Milkias presents opposing arguments in allotting responsibility for the growing gap between the North and the South and details the Millennium Development Goals and assesses their successes and failures so far He provides suggestions for closing the gap for removing the debt burden that is currently crushing the nations of the South and for relieving the poverty ignorance and disease that plague so much of humanity Methodological and Technological Issues in Technology Transfer Bert Metz,2000-10-05 This IPCC

Special Report provides a state of the art overview of how to achieve and enhance technology transfer to respond to global climate change North-South and South-South F. Stewart,1991-11-25 an important and timely contribution to the study of South South economic relations It provides a cogent and detailed analysis Henock Kifle South Letter provides some interesting insights into the determinants and consequences of South South trade Frances Stewart The World Economy This comprehensive incisive work represents both historical depth and topical breadth This well written analysis makes an important contribution to development studies including development economics and development geography Georges G Cravins The Journal of Asian Studies These essays explore interactions between North and South and South and South in trade technology and finance focusing on the interests of the South and particularly the poor The conventional neo classical approach is shown to have many theoretical deficiencies the consequences are often harmful to Southern interests while the poor are neglected The author concludes that the South should adopt a bargaining approach to N S negotiations and urges for closer South South relations in trade technology and finance New Perspectives on Foreign Aid and Economic Development B. Mak Arvin,2002-05-30 The success or failure of economic assistance programs is a shared responsibility of recipient countries and donors The negative attitude about aid prevalent today underscores a perception the aid has failed Critics often blame corrupt regimes weak governments or poor economic policies However the poor track record of aid is also due to donors inability to allocate limited funds effectively and poor coordination of their aid efforts Declining aid budgets have led to fundamental questioning of foreign aid s allocation and utility while the apparent ineffectiveness of aid has shrunk aid budgets and turned public opinion against providing it This edited collection containing pieces written by leading development specialists evaluates these emerging questions of allocation and efficiency Development economists policy makers and development specialists will benefit from reading this work Chapters examine the optimal and intertemporal allocation of aid the role and accountability of NGOs in allocation the importance of untying a new perspective on low levels of aid and links between the allocation pattern of donors Additional chapters deal with the impact of aid on economic growth democracy wage inequality between skilled and unskilled labor and the role of governance and institutional capacity in aid effectiveness An effective balance between theoretical and empirical models is offered to better illustrate the issues involved The Effects of Chinese FDI in Southeast Asia Jean-Marc Blanchard,2025-10-16 This book explores the economic and political effects of Chinese outward foreign direct investment COFDI through in depth and comparative analyses of COFDI in economically and politically diverse Southeast Asia countries Featuring 21 case studies of COFDI in Indonesia Thailand the Philippines Malaysia Myanmar and Cambodia the book looks at three core effects namely employment technology transfer and domestic political effects The case studies also explore the negative social outcomes of Chinese investments in these nations as well as serious environmental issues linked to COFDI ranging from the destruction of forests to the loss of biodiversity to air and noise pollution Revealing both the negative and positive impacts of COFDI in these Southeast Asian nations this book will be a valuable resource to policymakers as well as students and scholars of Chinese and Southeast Asian economics and politics

SouthSouth Trade and Finance in the Twenty-First Century Omar

Dahi,Firat Demir,2016-10-10 This book is a contribution to the international trade and economic development literature and is based on a decade of joint research and collaboration on South South economic relations Given the increasing focus on the economic power of some developing countries for example the 2013 Human Development Report s Rise of the South it is particularly appropriate and timely NP The book s findings are based on rigorous empirical examination of South South trade and finance and it provides an even handed assessment from the perspective of long term development goals rather than mainstream welfare approaches or ideological theoretical worldview NP This work directly engages with the new developmentalism literature that has challenged the neoliberal orthodoxy and its policy approach which focuses on liberalization privatization and deregulation It also engages with literature by examining whether the increase in South South trade facilitates or inhibits the possibilities for developmentalist economic policy in developing countries The book shows concrete and positive results from South South trade particularly related to industrial development and also documents how South South trade is dominated by large developing countries and that South South trade liberalization may be counterproductive

Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change Wytze van der Gaast,Katherine Begg,2012-05-22

The latest scientific knowledge on climate change indicates that higher greenhouse gas concentrations in the atmosphere through unchecked emissions will provoke severe climate change and ocean acidification Both impacts can fundamentally alter environmental structures on which humanity relies and have serious consequences for the food chain among others Climate change therefore poses major socio economic technical and environmental challenges which will have serious impacts on countries pathways towards sustainable development As a result climate change and sustainable development have increasingly become interlinked A changing climate makes achieving Millennium Development Goals more difficult and expensive so there is every reason to achieve development goals with low greenhouse gas emissions This leads to the following five challenges discussed by Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change 1 To place climate negotiations in the wider context of sustainability equity and social change so that development benefits can be maximised at the same time as decreasing greenhouse gas emissions 2 To select technologies or measures for climate change mitigation and adaptation based on countries sustainable development and climate goals 3 To create low greenhouse gas emission and climate resilient strategies and action plans in order to accelerate innovation needed for achieving sustainable development and climate goals on the scale and timescale required within countries 4 To rationalize the current directions in international climate policy making in order to provide coherent and efficient support to developing countries in devising and implementing strategies and action plans for low emission technology transfers to deliver climate and sustainable development goals 5 To facilitate development of an international framework for financial resources in order to support technology development and transfer improve enabling environments for innovation address equity issues such as poor people's energy access and make implementation of activities possible at the desired scale within the country The solutions presented in Challenges and Solutions for Climate Change show how ambitious measures can be undertaken which are fully in line with domestic interests both in developing and in developed countries and how these measures can be supported through the international mechanisms

The Globalization of Clean Energy Technology Kelly Sims Gallagher, 2017-02-24 An examination of barriers that impede and incentives that motivate the global development and deployment of cleaner energy technologies with case studies from China The development and deployment of cleaner energy technologies have become globalized phenomena Yet despite the fact that energy related goods account for more than ten percent of international trade policy makers academics and the business community perceive barriers to the global diffusion of these emerging technologies Experts point to problems including intellectual property concerns trade barriers and developing countries limited access to technology and funding In this book Kelly Gallagher uses analysis and case studies from China's solar photovoltaic gas turbine advanced battery and coal gasification industries to examine both barriers and incentives in clean energy technology transfer Gallagher finds that the barriers are not as daunting as many assume these technologies already cross borders through foreign direct investment licensing joint R & D she proposes a new model of global technology diffusion that casts doubt on aspects of technology transfer theory

Technology Transfers and Non-Proliferation Oliver Meier, 2013-09-05 This edited volume examines the issue of the proliferation of dual use technology and the efforts of the international community to control these technologies Efforts to stop the spread of weapons of mass destruction WMD increasingly focus on preventing the proliferation and misuse of dual use technologies information materials and equipment that can be easily applied for peaceful and hostile purposes The threat of terrorist attacks with nuclear biological or chemical weapons in particular makes it necessary to develop a sustainable non proliferation policy that effectively hinders the misuse of dual use technologies In this book leading non proliferation experts from different regions of the world reflect on the political legal and technical obstacles with an aim to finding a better balance between control and cooperation in dual use technology transfer regulations This broad approach makes it possible to compare regimes which may be structurally different but are similar in the way they attempt to regulate dual use technology transfers by balancing controls and cooperative approaches This book will be of much interest to students of weapons proliferation arms control global governance international organizations and international security

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1985-07 Macroeconomic Interactions Between North and South David Currie, David Vines, 1988-08-26 This volume contains the proceedings of a September 1987 conference and
