Picassos Guernica The Whidden Lectures:

Picasso's Guernica, The Whidden Lectures for 1966 Anthony Blunt, 1969 Picasso's 'Guernica' Anthony Blunt, 1969 Degenerate Moderns E. Michael Jones, 1993 In this groundbreaking new book Jones shows how some of the major determining leaders in modern thought and culture have rationalized their own immoral behavior and projected it onto a universal canvas The main thesis of this book is that in the intellectual life there are only two ultimate alternatives either the thinker conforms desire to truth or he conforms truth to desire In the last one hundred years the western cultural elite embarked upon a project which entailed the reversal of the values of the intellectual life so that truth would be subjected to desire as the final criterion of intellectual value In looking at recent biographies of such major moderns as Freud Kinsey Keynes Margaret Mead Picasso and others there is a remarkable similarity between their lives and thought After becoming involved in sexual license early on they invariably chose an ideology or art form which subordinated reality to the exigencies of their sexual misbehavior Secular Martyrdom in Britain and Ireland Quentin Outram, Keith Laybourn, 2018-01-30 This edited collection examines the concept and nature of the people's martyrology raising issues of class community religion and authority It examines modern martyrdom through studies of Peterloo Tolpuddle Featherstone Tony Pandy Emily Davison fatally injured by the King's horse on Derby Day 1913 the 1916 Easter Rising Jarrow the town that was murdered and martyred in the 1930s David Oluwale a Nigerian killed in Leeds in 1965 and Bobby Sands the IRA hunger striker who died in 1981 It engages with the burgeoning historiography of memory to try to understand why some events such as Peterloo Tony Pandy and the Easter Rising have become household names whilst others most notably Featherstone and Oluwale are barely known It will appeal to those interested in British and Irish labour history as well as the study of memory and memorialization The Dancer Defects David Caute, 2003-09-04 The cultural Cold War between the Soviet Union and the West was without precedent At the outset of this original and wide ranging historical survey David Caute establishes the nature of the extraordinary cultural competition set up post 1945 between Moscow New York London and Paris with the most intimate frontier war staged in the city of Berlin Using sources in four languages the author of The Fellow Travellers and The Great Fear explores the cultural Cold War as it rapidly penetrated theatre film classical music popular music ballet painting and sculpture as well as propaganda by exhibition Major figures central to Cold War conflict in the theatre include Brecht Miller Sartre Camus Havel Ionesco Stoppard and Konstantin Simonov whose inflammatory play The Russian Question occupies a chapter of its own based on original archival research Leading film directors involved included Eisenstein Romm Chioruelli Aleksandrov Kazan Tarkovsky and Wajda In the field of music the Soviet Union in the Zhdanov era vigorously condemned modernism formalism and the avant garde A chapter is devoted to the intriguing case of Dmitri Shostakovich and the disputed authenticity of his autobiography Testimony Meanwhile in the West the Congress for Cultural Freedom was sponsoring the modernist composers most vehemently condemned by Soviet music critics Stravinsky Schoenberg Hindemith

among them Despite constant attempts at repression the Soviet Party was unable to check the appeal of jazz on the Voice of America then rock music to young Russians Visits to the West by the Bolshoi and Kirov ballet companies the pride of the USSR were fraught with threats of cancellation and the danger of defection Considering the case of Rudolf Nureyev Caute pours cold water on overheated speculations about KGB plots to injure him and other defecting dancers Turning to painting where socialist realism prevailed in Russia and the impressionist heritage was condemned Caute explores the paradox of Picasso's membership of the French Communist Party Re assessing the extent of covert CIA patronage of abstract expressionism Pollock De Kooning Caute finds that the CIA's role has been much exaggerated likewise the dominance of the New York School Caute challenges some recent one dimensional American accounts of Cold War culture which ignore not only the Soviet performance but virtually any cultural activity outside the USA The West presented its cultural avant garde as evidence of liberty even through monochrome canvases and dodecaphonic music appealed only to a minority audience Soviet artistic standards and teaching levels were exceptionally high but the fear of freedom and innovation virtually guaranteed the moral defeat which accelerated the collapse of the Soviet Union

Imagining Childhood Erika Langmuir, 2006-01-01 The images of children that abound in Western art do not simply mirror reality they are imaginative constructs representing childhood as a special stage of human life or emblematic of the human condition itself In a compelling book ranging widely across time national boundaries and genres from ancient Egyptian amulets to Picasso's Guernica Erika Langmuir demonstrates that no historic period has a monopoly on the discovery of childhood Famous pictures by great artists as well as barely known anonymous artefacts illustrate not only Western society's perennially ambivalent attitudes to children but also the many and varied functions that works of art have played throughout its history
