Progress In Self Psychology Volume 1:

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 1 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 The premier volume in the Progress in Self Psychology Series was completed two years after Heinz Kohut's death in 1981. Hence this volume has a unique status in the history of self psychology: it bears the imprint of Kohut while charting a course of theoretical and clinical growth in the post-Kohut era. Biographical reminiscences about Kohut, Strozier Miller, and commentaries on Kohut's The Self Psychological Approach to Defense and Resistance (chapter seven of How Does Analysis Cure?) by M. Shane, P. Tolpin, Brandchaft, and Oremland are juxtaposed with a section of self-psychological reassessments of interpretations by Basch, A. and P. Ornstein. Goldberg's clinical papers cover the self-object transferences of Hall, Shapiro, patient compliance, Wolfe, and the self-pity response of Wilson, while theoretical contributions present ideas of Stolorow, Bacal, White, and Detrick that are foundational to their subsequent writings. This volume helped to shape the theoretical and clinical agenda of self psychology in the decades following Kohut's death.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 11 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 Volume 11 begins with a timely assessment of self psychology and intersubjectivity theory with original contributions by Carveth Troup and Powell and a critical commentary by P. Ornstein. Clinical studies span the transferences, the complementarity of individual and group therapy, the termination phase, and multiple personality disorder. A special section on dying and mourning encompasses women professionals and suicide, the self psychology of the mourning process, and the self-object function of religious experience with the dying patient. The volume concludes with theoretical and applied studies of personality testing in analysis, writer's block, The Guilt of the Tragic Man, and the historical significance of self psychology. A testimony to the evolutionary growth of self psychology, The Impact of New Ideas will be warmly welcomed by readers of the Progress in Self Psychology series.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 12 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Volume 12 of the Progress in Self Psychology series begins with reassessments of frustration and responsiveness, optimal and otherwise, by MacIsaac, Bacal, and Thomson; the Shanes and Doctors; The philosophical dimension of self psychology is addressed by Riker, who looks at Kohut's bipolar theory of the self, and Kriegman, who examines the subjectivism/objectivism dialectic in self psychology from the standpoint of evolutionary biology. Clinical studies focus on self and mutual regulation in relation to therapeutic action, countertransference, and the curative process, and the consequences of the negative self-object in early character formation. A separate section of child studies includes a case study exemplifying a self-psychological approach to child therapy and an examination of pathological adaptation to childhood parent loss. With a concluding section of richly varied studies in applied self psychology, Basic Ideas Reconsidered promises to be basic reading for all students of contemporary self psychology.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 20 William J. Coburn, 2013-07-04 Transformations in Self Psychology highlights the manner in which contemporary self psychology has become, in the words of series editor William Coburn, a continuing series of revolutions within a revolution. Of special note are contributions that explore the bidirectional influences between self psychology and other explanatory paradigms The volume begins with Stern's thoughtful attempt to integrate self psychological and relational perspectives on transference countertransference enactments Fosshage and Munschauer's presentation of a case of extreme nihilism and aversiveness elicits a series of discussions that constructively highlights divergent perspectives on the meaning and role of enactment in treatment and on the so called empathy authenticity dichotomy The productive exploration of theoretical differences also enters in the redefinition of notions of gender and sexuality a topic of increasing interest to self psychologists Differing perspectives which give rise to differing clinical emphases emerge in the exchanges of Clifford and Goldner and of VanDerHeide and Hartmann The special contextualist demands of work with intercultural couples foster a more integrative sensibility with self psychological borrowings from interpretive anthropology and attachment theory Clinical contributors to Volume 20 explore manifestations of a tension that permeates all analytic work that between the patient's newly emerging ability to expand the self in growth consolidating ways and the countervailing dread to repeat Enlarged by Malin's personal reflections of Fifty Years of Psychoanalysis and by book review essays focusing on the writings of Lachmann and Stolorow respectively Transformations in Self Psychology bespeaks the continuing vitality of contemporary self psychology

Progress in Self Psychology Arnold Goldberg, 1989      Progress in Self Psychology, V. 13 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13
Volume 13 provides valuable examples of the very type of clinically grounded theorizing that represents progress in self psychology The opening section of clinical papers encompasses compensatory structures facilitating responsiveness repressed memories mature selfobject experience shame in the analyst and the resolution of intersubjective impasses Two self psychologically informed approaches to supervision are followed by a section of contemporary explorations of sexuality Contributions to therapy address transference and countertransference issues in drama therapy an intersubjective approach to conjoint family therapy and the subjective worlds of profound abuse survivors A concluding section of studies in applied self psychology round out this broad and illuminating survey of the field      Progress in Self Psychology, V. 8 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13
New Therapeutic Visions begins with Lachmann and Beebe's developmental perspectives on representational and selfobject transferences followed by commentaries In Section II the self psychological approach is brought to bear on the clinical treatment of an adolescent girl incest survivors addictive personalities patients exhibiting codependency and a case of desomatization Section III on applied self psychology contains chapters on the theory of creativity subjectivism relativism and realism in psychoanalysis and quantum physics and self psychology The final section offers two critical review essays on major contributions to the self psychology literature by Wolf by Bacal and Newman and by Lichtenberg Stolorow's chronicle of his personal odyssey into self psychology and intersubjectivity theory rounds out volume 8 of the Progress in Self Psychology series      Self Psychology Jill Gardner, 2024-09-04
This book offers an in depth explanation of the concepts of self psychology and pragmatic steps for recognizing and using these concepts in clinical work helping clinicians move from theory to practice Both early and contemporary concepts in self psychology and intersubjectivity theory are discussed in successive chapters of the book with illustrative examples drawn from the author's experience working in diverse settings with a wide range of mental health practitioners. Individual chapters shed light on brief treatment, supervision, interpretation, development, agency, and nuances of empathic communication among other topics. In addressing these topics, specific tools for conceptualizing clinical data and guidelines for intervention are also described. The emphasis on helping people via a sustained focus on their internal subjective experience and creating a new selfobject bond with the therapist unifies the chapters in this volume. With its rich clinical vignettes and accessible language, Self Psychology: Moving from Theory to Practice is also a valuable resource for supervisors and teachers of self psychology, whether in analytic training institutes, graduate schools of psychology, counseling and social work, or continuing education programs.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 16 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Volume 16 of Progress in Self Psychology How Responsive Should We Be illuminates the continuing tension between Kohut's emphasis on the patient's subjective experience and the post-Kohutian intersubjectivists' concern with the therapist's own subjectivity by focusing on issues of therapeutic posture and degree of therapist activity. Teicholz provides an integrative context for examining this tension by discussing affect as the common denominator underlying the analyst's empathy, subjectivity, and authenticity. Responses to the tension encompass the stance of intersubjective contextualism, advocacy of active responsiveness, and emphasis on the thoroughgoing bidirectionality of the analytic endeavor. Balancing these perspectives are a reprise on Kohut's concept of prolonged empathic immersion and a recasting of the issue of closeness and distance in the analytic relationship in terms of analysis of the tie to the negative selfobject. Additional clinical contributions examine severe bulimia and suicidal rage as attempts at self-state regulation and address the self-reparative functions that inhere in the act of dreaming. Like previous volumes in the series, volume 16 demonstrates the applicability of self psychology to nonanalytic treatment modalities and clinical populations. Here self psychology is brought to bear on psychotherapy with placed children, on work with adults with nonverbal learning disabilities, and on brief therapy. Rector's examination of twinship and religious experience, Hagman's elucidation of the creative process, and Siegel and Topel's experiment with supervision via the internet exemplify the ever-expanding explanatory range of self psychological insights.

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 14 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 Volume 14 of Progress in Self Psychology The World of Self Psychology introduces a valuable new section to the series: publication of noteworthy material from the Kohut Archives of the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis. In this volume, From the Kohut Archives features a selection of previously unpublished Kohut correspondence from the 1940s through the 1970s. The clinical papers that follow are divided into sections dealing with Transference and Countertransference, Selfobjects and Objects, and Schizoid and Psychotic Patients. As Howard Bacal explains in his introduction, these papers bear witness to the way in which self psychology has increasingly become a relational self psychology, a psychology of the individual's experience in the context of relatedness. Coburn's reconstrual of countertransference as an experience of self injury in the wake of unresponsiveness to the analyst's own selfobject needs Livingston's demonstration of the ways in which dreams can be used to facilitate a playful and metaphorical communication between analyst and patient Gorney's examination of twinship experience as a fundamental goal of analytic technique and Lenoff's emphasis on the relational aspects of phantasy selfobject experience are among the highlights of the collection Enlarged by contemporary perspectives on gender and self experience and a critical examination of Kohut, Loewald and the Postmoderns Volume 14 reaffirms the position of self psychology at the forefront of clinical developmental and conceptual advance

Paradigms of Clinical Social Work Rachelle A. Dorfman, 2020-08-26 This book provokes sociological questions about the expanding number of paradigms of clinical social work and the application of clinical theory It enhances clinical social workers ability to make sense of people's lives so that we may help them in their struggles

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 15 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Volume 15 of Progress in Self Psychology conveys the rich pluralism of contemporary self psychology with respect to a central theoretical and clinical issue the nature of the self and the manner in which it can best be studied This topic is initially addressed through a series of papers reassessing selfobject transferences and the selfobject function of interpretation It is then approached via the theory of psychoanalytic technique with papers that focus on boundaries and intimacy and on Surface Depth and the Isolated Mind And it culminates in two case studies that elicit animated discussion delineating different perspectives intersubjective motivational systems and self selfobject on the self in relation to the therapeutic process Two studies comparing Melanie Klein and Heinz Kohut a discussion of how current cultural attitudes affect parenting a relational view of the therapeutic partnership and an integration of Silvan Tomkin's affect theory with self psychology add breadth to this timely and provocative collection Volume 15 includes additional letters from the Kohut Archives and a moving account of Kohut's struggle with his own impending death

Narration and Therapeutic Action Jerrold R Brandell, 2018-10-24 Narration and Therapeutic Action raises challenging questions about the limitations of science and of scientific inquiry for the practice of social work In doing so this innovative book calls upon clinical social workers psychologists and psychoanalysts to examine some of the most fundamental assumptions about the clinical process and what is therapeutic about it Written by social work clinicians and theorists the book explores the construction of meaning within the dual framework of psychoanalysis and clinical social work Readers of Narration and Therapeutic Action will find the way in which clinical illustrations are used to articulate theoretical ideas especially useful You will find chapters ranging from the highly abstract and theoretical to those that consider very specific dimensions of clinical process As contributors examine various aspects of narrative theory and its relationship to psychoanalysis and clinical social work they highlight such themes as important theoretical contributions of psychoanalytic authors including Roy Schafer Donald Spence and the French psychoanalyst Jacques Lacan to the study of narratives how to use various frameworks such as self psychology and multigenerational family systems theory as a structure for analysis of clients narratives narratives and their fit in psychoanalytic developmental theories the evolution of specific narratives in the context of ongoing psychoanalytically oriented treatment the narration of traumatic experiences in dynamic psychotherapy Clinical social workers psychoanalysts and psychologists will find Narration and Therapeutic Action filled with answers to important questions about the very nature of what is therapeutic in the psychoanalytic process and why whether existing theory can be used with modification as a guide to the unpacking of the text and if there are specific psychoanalytic theories of development better suited to the meaning making that occurs in the crucible of the psychoanalytic dialogue Narration and Therapeutic Action is ideal as a guide and reference for practitioners and students of clinical social work psychoanalysis and clinical psychology as well as for instructors of clinical theory and practice Readers will find abundant evidence of consensus and conflict disparity and complementarity and resonance and dissonance in the contributors diverse viewpoints While this provides readers with support for their preexisting theoretical and clinical assumptions it also offers a broadened perspective on other theories

Self Psychology and Diagnostic Assessment Marshall L. Silverstein, 1999-01-01 The self psychology of Heinz Kohut has been an important force in contemporary psychoanalytic thought and its ramifications for therapy have been extensively explored Now Marshall Silverstein offers the first analysis of the application of self psychology to projective diagnostic assessment Differentiating the self psychological approach from an ego psychological interpretation of classical drive theory he clearly outlines the principal contributions of Kohut including the concepts of selfobject functions empathy transmuting internalization and compensatory structure Providing numerous clinical examples he shows how the major selfobject functions of mirroring idealization and twinship can be identified on projective tests Silverstein then demonstrates how conventional assessment approaches to grandiosity self esteem and idealization can be reconceptualized within the framework of self psychology and he also contrasts ego psychological interpretations with self psychological interpretations This book makes a strong case for the importance of the clinical identification of self states It will help practitioners understand their patients varied attempts to repair an injury to the self to restore self esteem compensatory structure and the clinical consequences of self disorders including disintegration products such as narcissistic rage and affect states characterized by empty depression chronic boredom and lack of zest The Spiritual Horizon of Psychotherapy William S. Schmidt, Merle R. Jordan, 2013-09-13 This book explores the wise and conscious use of spiritual resources within counselling and psychotherapy Written by veteran clinicians from different spiritual perspectives and from various therapeutic schools of thought this book provides a broad view of how the spiritual is present within therapeutic practice The work of counselling and psychotherapy is increasingly seeking to ground its efforts within the richness of spiritual traditions One of the surprising developments of the contemporary psychotherapeutic scene is a growing reliance on both hard objective sciences such as for example neurology or Genetics whilst at the same time engaging very subjective soft sciences such as states of consciousness studies psychology of religion clinical or Pastoral Theology and the over arching tasks of meaning making Written by and for clinicians who are also teachers in the field this collection offers a variety of viewpoints in terms of the diverse spiritual traditions they draw from theoretical sources that guide and inform them or the spiritual applications they bring to their work This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Spirituality in Mental Health Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1993 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Psychotherapy Supervision Gilbert, Maria,Evans, Kenneth,2000-12-01 This book presents an integrative relational model for psychotherapy supervision Transforming Wisdom Felicity Kelcourse,K.
