“The goal is PROGRESS not PERFECTION.”

highlights those aspects of market processes that promote the formation of dominant economic classes Structural evolutionary conceptions of property relations and of state planning and regulation are developed and combined with the market model According to Professor Banerjee the market property relations and state administration form a self sustaining structure that simultaneously develops the economy in an uneven and clustered fashion and gives rise to a dominant alliance between a segment of the state and the fastest accumulating classes in the economy He applies his model to India during the 1956 1975 period examining the industrialization process of the Second and Third plans the crisis of the mid 1960s and the Green Revolution
