Smuggling Armageddon Rensselaer W. Lee, 2000-01-15 Smuggling Armageddon looks at one of the most troubling international concerns of the 1990s and beyond the illegal trade in nuclear materials that has erupted in the Newly Independent States NIS and Europe since the collapse of the former Soviet Union Rensselaer Lee raises the seldom asked question of whether such traffic poses a threat of consequence to international security and stability while showing readers a Russia beset with a variety of criminal proliferation channels increasingly sophisticated smuggling operations and nuclear stockpiles with breached security Smuggling Armageddon is sure to provoke controversy and raise the specter of nuclear destruction once again Proliferation United States. Dismantling Russia's Nonpayments System Brian Pinto, Vladimir Drebenstov, Aleksandr Morozov, 2000-01-01 One question preoccupies many scholars and practitioners How can economic growth in the Russian Federation be reinvigorated This report contributes to the current debate Nonpayments in Russia evolved into a complex inter linked system over the latter half of the 1990s becoming one of the most critical issues facing policymakers This paper analyzes this system including its origins its evolution the factors that now perpetuate it and its costs and identifies a minimum set of economic reforms needed to dismantle it The paper also proposes answers to key questions about nonpayments including How has its course been influenced by government policy at the federal and subnational levels What are the links with macroeconomic policy What is the role of the energy sector and how has the system affected the way businesses operate What are the implications for economic growth How indeed as part of Russia's transition to a monetized market economy did the nonpayments system come to exert a stranglehold on virtually every aspect of the economy This report will be of interest to policymakers and economists interested in transition economies 105-1 Hearing: Proliferation: Russian Case Studies, S.Hrg. 105-237, June 5, 1997 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Governmental Affairs, 1998* Combating Proliferation Jason D. Ellis, Geoffrey D. Kiefer, 2007-01-17 The intelligence community's flawed assessment of Iraq's weapons systems and the Bush administration's decision to go to war in part based on those assessments illustrates the political and policy challenges of combating the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction In this comprehensive assessment defense policy specialists Jason Ellis and Geoffrey Kiefer find disturbing trends in both the collection and analysis of intelligence and in its use in the development and implementation of security policy Analyzing a broad range of recent case studies Pakistan's development of nuclear weapons North Korea's defiance of U N watchdogs Russia's transfer of nuclear and missile technology to Iran and China's to Pakistan the Soviet biological warfare program weapons inspections in Iraq and others the authors find that intelligence collection and analysis relating to WMD proliferation are becoming more difficult that policy toward rogue states and regional allies requires difficult tradeoffs and that using military action to fight nuclear proliferation presents intractable operational challenges Ellis and Kiefer reveal that decisions to use or overlook intelligence are often made for starkly political reasons They document the Bush administration's policy shift from nonproliferation which emphasizes diplomatic tools such as sanctions and demarches to counterproliferation which at times employs interventionist and preemptive actions They conclude with cogent recommendations for intelligence services and policy makers The Armed Forces of Russia in Asia Greg Austin, 2000-07-21 The Armed Forces of Russia in Asia is the first attempt to bring together the known facts about this enigmatic factor in North Asian security affairs It analyzes the strategic policies underpinning deployment describes the strategic forces and their regional organization and explores the role of Russia's regional military industry regional arms sales and regional military co operation activities Patterns of Conventional Warfighting under the Nuclear Umbrella Igor Davidzon, 2020-05-04 This book explores how nuclear weapons influence conventional warfighting through three case studies of countries not party to the Non Proliferation Treaty Pakistan India and Israel The author examines how decision makers choose a preferred pattern of war management as well as how these choices affect conflicts suggesting that nuclear weaponization constitutes a clear change in the relative power of countries This distribution of power within the international system expands or reduces the selection of strategies or war management patterns available to members of the international community However historic traumatic events like military defeats countries self images and images of enemies form the perceptions of decision makers regarding material power and change thereof suggesting that choices of decision makers are not affected directly by changes in relative power relations but rather through an intermediate level of strategic culture parameter Exporting the Bomb Matthew H. Kroenig, 2011-10-15 In a vitally important book for anyone interested in nuclear proliferation defense strategy or international security Matthew Kroenig points out that nearly every country with a nuclear weapons arsenal received substantial help at some point from a more advanced nuclear state Why do some countries help others to develop nuclear weapons Many analysts assume that nuclear transfers are driven by economic considerations States in dire economic need they suggest export sensitive nuclear materials and technology and ignore the security risk in a desperate search for hard currency Kroenig challenges this conventional wisdom He finds that state decisions to provide sensitive nuclear assistance are the result of a coherent strategic logic The spread of nuclear weapons threatens powerful states more than it threatens weak states and these differential effects of nuclear proliferation encourage countries to provide sensitive nuclear assistance under certain strategic conditions Countries are more likely to export sensitive nuclear materials and technology when it would have the effect of constraining an enemy and less likely to do so when it would threaten themselves In Exporting the Bomb Kroenig examines the most important historical cases including France's nuclear assistance to Israel in the 1950s and 1960s the Soviet Union's sensitive transfers to China from 1958 to 1960 China's nuclear aid to Pakistan in the 1980s and Pakistan's recent technology transfers with the help of rogue scientist A Q Khan from 1987 to 2002 Understanding why states provide sensitive nuclear assistance not only adds to our knowledge of international politics but also aids in international efforts to control the spread of nuclear weapons

Security, Economics and Nuclear Non-Proliferation Morality Liang Tuang Nah, 2017-09-04 This book seeks to elucidate the decisions of states that have chosen to acquire nuclear arms or inherited nuclear arsenals and have either disarmed or elected to retain their warheads It examines nuclear arms policy via an interconnected framework involving the eclectic use of national security based realism economic interdependence liberalism and nuclear weapons norms or morality based constructivism Through the various chapters examining the nuclear munitions decisions of South Africa Ukraine and North Korea a case is built that a state's leadership decides whether to keep or give up the Bomb based on interlinked security economic and norms governed motivations Thereafter frameworks evaluating the likelihood of nuclear proliferation and assessing the feasibility of disarmament are then applied to North Korea and used to examine recent Iranian nuclear negotiability This book is an invaluable resource for international relations and security studies scholars WMD analysts and post graduate or undergraduate candidates focusing on nuclear arms politics related courses

Verification of the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention Malcolm R. Dando, G.S. Pearson, Tibor Toth, 2013-03-09 In the summer of 1997 some twelve lecturers and sixty students met for ten days in Budapest Hungary in a NATO Advanced Studies Institute ASI to consider New Scientific and Technical Aspects of Verification of the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention In many ways the meeting was ahead of its time The Ad Hoc Group was only then about to move to the discussion of a rolling text of the Protocol to the Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention BTWC It had been mandated to negotiate the Protocol by the Special Conference which had considered the work of the VEREX process that had taken place following the 1991 Third Review Conference of the Convention Now in late 1999 after much further negotiation of the text of the Protocol we are moving towards the endgame of the negotiations Nevertheless the scientific and technical issues discussed in the ASI in Hungary continue to be of direct relevance to the verification of the Convention and will continue to be relevant as the eventual Protocol moves from agreement through a Preparatory Commission stage and into full implementation over the next several years The papers in this volume are much as they were presented in Budapest both in order of presentation and in content They were designed by the ASI co directors Professor Graham Pearson and Ambassador Tibor Toth Chairman of the Ad Hoc Group to provide an integrated overview and in depth analysis of the issues at stake
