Prolonged Connections Steven Ruggles,1987 Prolonged Connections Steven Ruggles,1984 A History of Stepfamilies in Early America Lisa Wilson,2014 History of Stepfamilies in Early America A Millennium of Family Change Wally Seccombe,1995-10-17 How do changes in family form relate to changes in society as a whole In a work which combines theoretical rigour with historical scope Wally Seccombe provides a powerful study of the changing structure of families from the Middle Ages to the beginning of the Industrial Revolution Responding to feminist critiques of sex blind historical materialism Seccombe argues that family forms must be seen to be at the heart of modes of production He takes issue with the mainstream consensus in family history which argues that capitalism did not fundamentally alter the structure of the nuclear family and makes a controversial intervention in the long standing debate over European marriage patterns and their relation to industrialization Drawing on an astonishing range of studies in family history historical demography and economic history A Millennium of Family Change provides an integrated overview of the long transition from feudalism to capitalism illuminating the far reaching changes in familial relations from peasant subsistence to the making of the modern working class The Minds of the West Jon Gjerde,2000-11-09 In the century preceding World War I the American Middle West drew thousands of migrants both from Europe and from the northeastern United States In the American mind the region represented a place where social differences could be muted and a distinctly American culture created Many of the European groups however viewed the Midwest as an area of opportunity because it allowed them to retain cultural and religious traditions from their homelands Jon Gjerde examines the cultural patterns or minds that those settling the Middle West carried with them He argues that such cultural transplantation could occur because patterns of migration tended to reunite people of similar pasts and because the rural Midwest was a vast region where cultural groups could sequester themselves in tight knit settlements built around familial and community institutions Gjerde compares patterns of development and acculturation across immigrant groups exploring the frictions and fissures experienced within and between communities Finally he examines the means by which individual ethnic groups built themselves a representative voice joining the political and social debate on both a regional and national level Sociology of Families Cheryl Albers,1999-03-11 A comprehensive selection of readings provided to support David Newman s book of the same name The Weston Sisters Lee V. Chambers,2014-11-15 The Westons were among the most well known abolitionists in antebellum Massachusetts and each of the Weston sisters played an integral role in the family s work The eldest Maria Weston Chapman became one of the antislavery movement s most influential members In an extensive and original look at the connections among women domesticity and progressive political movements Lee V Chambers argues that it was the familial cooperation and support between sisters dubbed kin work that allowed women like the Westons to participate in the political process marking a major change in women s roles from the domestic to the public sphere The Weston sisters and abolitionist families like them

supported each other in meeting the challenges of sickness pregnancy child care and the myriad household responsibilities that made it difficult for women to engage in and sustain political activities By repositioning the household and family to a more significant place in the history of American politics Chambers examines connections between the female critique of slavery and patriarchy ultimately arguing that it was family ties that drew women into the activism of public life and kept them there

The Politics of Pensions Ann Shola Orloff,1993 By offering a comparative institutional analysis of how state supported pensions for the elderly developed in Britain Canada and the United States Ann Shola Orloff makes a profound contribution to understanding the growth of modern social welfare policies It is not enough Orloff demonstrates to simply examine socioeconomic factors in the growth of the welfare state She argues that welfare policies are shaped as well by the political institutions and processes that are the legacy of state formation and expansion in given nations Orloff explains why when and how poor relief was replaced by modern social insurance legislation and pensions for the elderly in the first three decades of the twentieth century She analyzes the long term social and political transformations that laid the basis for modern social politics the spread of waged work the development of New Liberal ideologies and the expansion and transformation of state administrative capacities Combining original historical research with the analysis of secondary sources Orloff s work is an excellent example of the use of comparative and historical methods to answer questions about macropolitical transformation such as the origin of the welfare state The Politics of Pensions outlines an original interdisciplinary approach that will appeal to a wide variety of readers political sociologists interested in the state social workers and specialists in old age policy and comparative researchers of all disciplines engaged in research on the welfare state

Freedom in a Slave Society Johanna Nicol Shields,2012-08-13 Before the Civil War most Southern white people were as strongly committed to freedom for their kind as to slavery for African Americans This study views that tragic reality through the lens of eight authors representatives of a South that seemed to them destined for greatness but was we know on the brink of destruction Exceptionally able and ambitious these men and women won reputations among the educated middle classes in the Southwest South and the nation even amid sectional tensions Although they sometimes described liberty in the abstract more often these authors discussed its practical significance what it meant for people to make life s important choices freely and to be responsible for the results They publicly insisted that freedom caused progress but hidden doubts clouded this optimistic vision Ultimately their association with the oppression of slavery dimmed their hopes for human improvement and fear distorted their responses to the sectional crisis

Evelina Frances Burney,2000-09-14 The reputation of Frances Burney 1752 1840 was largely established with her first novel Evelina Published anonymously in 1778 it is an epistolary account of a sheltered young woman s entrance into society and her experience of family Its comedy ranges from the violent practical joking reminiscent of Smollett s fiction to witty repartee that influenced Austen The Broadview edition is based on the second edition of the novel 1779 which incorporates Burney s revisions and corrections Its appendices include contemporary reviews of Evelina as well as eighteenth century works on the family and on comedy Women in the United States, 1830-1945 S. J. Kleinberg, 1999-08-23 Women in the United States 1830 1945 investigates women s economic social political and cultural history encompassing all ethnic and racial groups and religions It provides a general introduction to the history of women in industrializing America Both a history of women and a history of the United States its chronology is shaped by economic stages and political events Although there were vast changes in all aspects of women s lives gender the social roles imputed to the sexes continued to define women s and men s lives as much in 1945 as it had in 1830 The Changing American Family Scott J South, Stewart Tolnay, 2019-06-26 In this book leading authorities on the family show how families parents and children have been affected by changing patterns of marriage and cohabitation Taking a long historical perspective some authors consider trends such as the decline of multigenerational families and group differences in the relationships between economic opportunity and the timing of marriage But the focus is predominantly on questions of current interest patterns of union formation differences between marriage and cohabitation contact between divorced fathers and their children the division of household labor and the transmission of attitudes and behavior across generations Intended for scholars and advanced students this book offers essential analysis of the changing dimensions of the American family Contexts of Ageing Chris Gilleard, Paul Higgs, 2005-09-02 Drawing on a wide range of sources this text analyses the social nature of later life in the context of the history of welfare states the emergence of consumer society and across the lifecourse Three Centuries of Northern Population Censuses Gunnar Thorvaldsen, 2018-12-07 Over the last few decades researchers in fields such as history the social sciences and medicine have had improved access to census materials in northern Europe making an update on these infrastructures both possible and topical This book s presentation of European census history and infrastructure is not strictly limited to northern Europe although most of the Mosaic materials originated north of the forty fifth parallel The template for modern census taking was created by Adolphe Quetelet in Belgium in the 1830s and his census standards were spread almost globally by the international statistical conferences This book explores Icelandic residence patterns amongst the elderly Siberian polygamy as indicated in the Polar Census men s living arrangements in Northern Norway Sweden s pioneering register based census in 1930 unique source materials on the Soviet family and data on Ukrainian and Russian population groups in the most recent Ukrainian censuses All of these contributions stress the book s focus on Northern European census data This book was originally published as a special issue of The History of the Family A Cultural History of Marriage in the Modern Age Christina Simmons, 2021-11-04 Spanning cultures across the 20th century this volume explores how marriage especially in the West was disestablished as the primary institution organizing social life In the developing world the economic social and legal foundations of traditional marriage are stronger but also weakening Marriage changed because an industrial wage economy reduced familial patriarchal control of youth and women and spurred demands and possibilities for greater autonomy and choice in love After the Second World War when more married women pursued education and employment and gays and lesbians gained visibility feminism and gay liberation also challenged patriarchal and restrictive gender roles and helped to reshape marriage In 1920 most people married for life in the twenty first century fewer marry and serial monogamy prevails Marriage is more diverse and flexible in form but also more fragile and optional than it once was Over the century control of courtship shifted from parents to youth and friends as opposed to kin became more important in sustaining marriages Dual wage earner families replaced the male breadwinner Social and political liberalism assailed conservative laws and religious regimes expanding access to divorce and birth control Although norms of masculinity and femininity retain huge power in most cultures visions of more egalitarian and romantic love as the basis of marriage have gained traction made appealing by the global spread of capitalist social relations and also broadcast by culture industries in the developed world The legalization of same sex marriage in over twenty five nations by 2020 epitomizes a century of change toward a less gender defined ideal that includes a continued desire for social recognition and permanence A Cultural History of Marriage in the Modern Age presents an overview of the period with essays on Courtship and Ritual Religion State and Law Kinship and Social Networks the Family Economy Love and Sex the Breaking of Vows and Representations of Marriage Family History Revisited Richard Wall, Tamara K. Hareven, Josef Ehmer, 2001 This collection of original essays by scholars on the historical study of the family from various parts of the world represent a new departure in this field The essays cover a great variety of topics and many countries are represented The essays open up new debates and point to new directions in the field by examining dimensions of family relations that had not been sufficiently addressed in previous scholarship Handbook of Families and Aging Rosemary Blieszner, Victoria Hilkevitch Bedford, 2012-09-20 This comprehensive state of the art textbook and reference volume in family gerontology reviews and critiques the recent theoretical empirical and methodological literature identifies future research directions and makes recommendations for gerontology professionals This book is both an updated version of and a complement to the original Handbook of Families and Aging The many additions include the most recent demographic changes on aging families new theoretical formulations innovative research methods recent legal issues and death and bereavement as well as new material on the relationships themselves sibling partnered and intergenerational relationships for example Among the brand new topics in this edition are step family relationships aging families and immigration aging families and 21st century technology and peripheral family ties Unlike the more cursory summaries found in textbooks the essays within Handbook of Families and Aging Second Edition provide thoughtful in depth coverage of each topic No other book provides such a comprehensive and timely overview of theory and research on family relationships the contexts of family life and major turning points in late life families Nevertheless the contents are written to be engaging and accessible to a broad audience including advanced undergraduate students graduate students researchers and gerontology practitioners Serious lay readers will also find this book highly informative about contemporary family issues Voices and

Visions of Aging Robert Kastenbaum, PhD, Thomas R. Cole, PhD, W. Andrew Achenbaum, PhD, Patricia L. Jakobi, PhD, 1992-11-15 A critical gerontology requires more than a simple elaboration of existing humanistic scholarship on aging. This exceptional new work introduces a basis for genuine dialogue across humanistic scientific and professional disciplines. Among the topics addressed are industrial employment, retirement, life styles of older women and biological research. From philosophical reflections on the third age to critical perspectives on institutional adaptations to an aging society, this book presents a wide range of provocative thought.

Emotional Landscapes Marcelo J. Borges, Sonia Cancian, Linda Reeder, 2021-01-05 Love and its attendant emotions not only spur migration; they forge our response to the people who leave their homes in search of new lives. Emotional Landscapes looks at the power of love and the words we use to express it to explore the immigration experience. The authors focus on intimate emotional language and how languages of love shape the ways human beings migrate but also create meaning for migrants, their families, and their societies. Looking at sources ranging from letters of Portuguese immigrants in the 1880s to tweets passed among immigrant families in today's Italy, the essays explore the sentimental, sexual, and political meanings of love. The authors also look at how immigrants and those around them use love to justify separation and loss and how love influences us to privilege certain immigrants: wives, children, lovers, refugees over others.

Affecting and Perceptive: Emotional Landscapes moves from war and transnational families to gender and citizenship to explore the crossroads of migration and the history of emotion. Contributors: Mar a Bjerg, Marcelo J. Borges, Sonia Cancian, Tyler Carrington, Margarita Dounia, Alexander Freund, Donna R. Gabaccia, A. James Hammerton, Mirjam Milhar, i Hladnik, Emily Pope, Obed, Linda Reeder, Roberta Ricucci, Suzanne M. Sinke, and Elizabeth Zanon.

Gender Inequalities, Households and the Production of Well-Being in Modern Europe Tindara Addabbo, Marie-Pierre Arrizabalaga, Alastair Owens, 2016-04-22 Feminist scholars have long pointed out the relevance of the unpaid work that goes on within European households in sustaining the well-being of the continent's populations. However, care work and domestic labour continue to be largely unremunerated and unequally distributed by gender. This unique volume of interdisciplinary essays casts new light on the roles that households play in securing the well-being of individuals and families, uncovering the processes of bargaining and accommodation and conflict and compromise that underpin them. Contributors put gender at the centre of their analyses, demonstrating the uneven experiences of men and women as both providers and receivers of welfare in European households in both the past and the present. As European states grapple with changing family forms, a growing population of dependent people, increased participation of women in labour markets, and a profound shift in the nature and organisation of work, this book makes a timely contribution to our understanding of the critical role played by households in mediating processes of economic and social change. It offers new challenges to scholars, researchers, and policy makers eager to address gender inequalities and enhance well-being. This book is the second of four volumes being published as part of Ashgate's Gender and Well-Being series that arise from a programme of international symposia funded by the European

Science Foundation under the auspices of COST European Cooperation in the field of Scientific and Technical Research
