Promising Practices To Connect Schools With The Community:

Promising Practices to Connect Schools with the Community Diana Hiatt-Michael, 2003-02-01 Recipient of AERA Outstanding Contributions Relating Theory to Practice Award Interpretive Scholarship for 2004 This is the second in a series of monographs by the Family School Community Partnership FSCP Special Interest Group of the American Educational Research Association Parent involvement as one of the eight National Education Goals in 1994 has brought heightened awareness to the importance of connecting educational institutions and their communities The goal envisions school partnerships that will increase parent involvement and participation in promoting the social emotional and academic growth of children The U S Congress additionally supported this goal in the passage of the No Child Left Behind Act in 2001 This act is the renewal of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and strongly promotes schools active involvement with families and the surrounding community Promising Practices for Partnering with Families in the Early Years Mary M. Cornish, 2008-08-01 This volume is directed toward research to practice issues related to partnering with families of children birth through age 5 This monograph and the next monograph focuses on family and school involvement issues in two age categories This sixth volume analyzes family involvement practices across a variety of settings and programs at the early childhood level The seventh monograph in this series addresses research and practices related to family school issues in middle and secondary schools The chapters address to varying degrees five themes based on the principles of familycentered partnerships 1 Recognizing and respecting one another's knowledge and expertise 2 Sharing information through two way communication 3 Sharing power and decision making 4 Acknowledging and respecting diversity and 5 Creating networks of support The monograph supports the accomplishment of these goals as a whole by providing important insights about exemplary programs and promising practices informed by current research Also it highlights policies and theoretical perspectives relevant to these aims Individual chapters offer a variety of practical strategies and recommendations that families early childhood practitioners policymakers and researchers can use to enhance their knowledge and strengthen their skills for partnering effectively Promising Practices Connecting Schools to Families of Children with Special Needs Diana Hiatt-Michael, 2004-02-01 Recipient of AERA Outstanding Contributions Relating Theory to Practice Award Interpretive Scholarship for 2004 Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools, Families, and Communities Sue Winton, Gillian Parekh, 2020-03-01 Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools Families and Communities offers scholars students and practitioners important new knowledge about how current policies impact families schools and community partnerships The book's authors share a critical orientation towards policy and policy research and invite readers to think differently about what policy is who policymakers are and what policy can achieve Their chapters discuss findings from research grounded in diverse theories including institutional ethnography critical disability theory and critical race theory The authors encourage scholars of family school and community partnerships to ask who benefits from policies and who loses and how proposed reforms maintain or disrupt existing relations of power The chapters present original research on a broad range of policies at the local state provincial and national levels in Canada and the USA Some authors look closely at the enactment of specific district policies including a school district s language translation policy and a policy to create local advisory bodies as part of decentralization efforts Other chapters reveal the often unacknowledged yet necessary work parents do to meet their children s needs and enable schools to operate A few chapters focus on challenges and paradoxes of including families and community members in policymaking processes including a case where parents demonstrated a preference for a policy that research demonstrates can be detrimental to their children s future education opportunities Another set of chapters emphasizes the centrality of policy texts and how language influences the educational experiences and engagement of students and their families Each chapter concludes with a discussion of implications of the research for educators families and other community partners

Promising Practices for Family Involvement in Schooling Across the Continents Diana Hiatt-Michael,2005-04-01 Recipient of AERA Outstanding Contributions Relating Theory to Practice Award Interpretive Scholarship for 2004 Family Involvement in Faith-Based Schools Diana Hiatt-Michael,2017-06-01 An essential read for all school principals and persons engaged in educational policy Parental interest in faith based schooling for children has surged and the contents of this book reveal the reasons for this surge This book provides insights to school choice support for faith based schooling and opening doors for increased parent involvement in schools Authors focus on promising practices that these schools utilize to engage parents in the daily life of school and the effects of such practices on the educational life of the school Their work cover Catholic Jewish Christian and Muslim schools within the U S and internationally In addition chapters suggest ways to market schools and promote social justice in faith based schools

Composing Storylines of Possibilities Martha J. Strickland,2022-01-01 In this book internationally migrant families invite us to listen to the storylines of their mostly muted voices as they navigate the local schools in their new cultural context They call us to hear them as they grapple with issues they encounter They implore us to feel like an outsider and see the school as a foreign culture with language and communication barriers The book is organized to enhance this carework Each chapter begins with a vignette that includes the voices of one or more members of international migrating families while introducing the context of the chapter At the end of each chapter readers will find specific implications to consider These are constructed with preservice teachers practicing teachers and educational administrators in mind As you read each chapter there is the call for school transformation The families in this book entreat school personnel to engage with international migrant families and to embrace a risk and resilience model as we strive together for success These storylines challenge us to examine our personal storylines for biases and deficit understandings and call us all to purposefully rewrite these in the spirit of possibilities as the families in this book have embodied for us

Teaching, Curriculum, and Community Involvement Diana Hiatt-Michael,2008-11-01 This publication features Hiatt Michael s research and practice during thirty four years as Professor of Education at the Graduate School of Education and Psychology Pepperdine University The chapters represent a range of her major thoughts on teaching curriculum and family community involvement by the author Her work has broadened the scope and understanding of the commonalities of teaching and curriculum across disciplines and professional work In addition she has expanded the concept of the site based school to include and engage the families and community as well as the students and professional staff Lastly she connects research and practice of schooling across continents noting stages of development in educational practices The forward presents personal insights to the author s professional growth A chronological reading of the chapters will reveal the development of a faculty member from early researcher to award winning author of theory to practice material in a given field of study Cases on

Strategic Partnerships for Resilient Communities and Schools Thomas, Ursula,2020-04-24 As the importance of public education increases both globally and nationally partnerships between schools and their community become key to each other s success Examining the intersection of schools with their communities reveals the most effective strategies for supporting school populations that are traditionally marginalized or underserved in both rural and urban areas Cases on Strategic Partnerships for Resilient Communities and Schools is an essential publication that uncovers the problems and pitfalls of creating strategic partnerships between schools and other members of the community in which the schools are situated that include for profit businesses not for profit entities and private organizations The book reveals that schools that are thriving effectively do not do so in isolation but as vibrant members and centers of the communities in which they serve students and families Moreover it examines the difficulty in advocating for the schools and the leadership of the schools within these communities so that they can be better served Highlighting a wide range of topics including leadership community based outreach and school advocacy this book is ideally designed for teachers school administrators principals school boards and committees non profit administrators educational advocates leadership faculty community engagement directors community outreach personnel entrepreneurs researchers academicians and students Promising Practices in Supporting Success for Indigenous Students OECD,2017-08-09 Indigenous peoples are diverse within and across nations However the Indigenous peoples have experienced colonisation processes that have undermined Indigenous young people s access to their identity language and culture Educational K-12 Title I - Use of Best Practices Dr. Carla D.

Harris,2022-08-01 This book is about Title I funding and program applications This book takes information from several industries such as corrections health care health insurance mental health housing authorities FEMA the Department of Human Services and so forth to reveal strategies for the implementation of Title I funded educational programs and outreach services This book challenges the traditional model of the K12 organizational structure and provokes educational leaders to come out of their comfort zones of working in the traditional educational model by adding value to their communities of origin School leaders often do not understand the nature and existence of the Title I program so some services may be neglected or misaligned For leaders to understand the totality of the Title I program they must have a basic understanding of the programs that the Title I program will support This book is research based due to the nature and audience it is written for Therefore the information presented in this book is based on proven research on best practices This book addresses supportive program strategies that range from emotional and behavioral disorder management systems to basic health care centers also known as wellness centers and homeless student support systems along with sustainable fundraising strategies and activities Due to the nature of the educational Title I program this book condenses information and is direct and straight to the point to provide a foundational understanding of the perceived voice of the policy makers that created the rules and regulations of the Title I program
