Promotion of Rural-based Small Industries in Asia and the Pacific ,2000      Promoting Complementarities and Investment in Selected Manufacturing Sectors Krishna Ram Khadka,United Nations. Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific,2001      Small Industry Bulletin for Asia and the Pacific ,1991      International Labour Documentation International Labour Office. Bureau of Library and Information Services,2001      APO News Asian Productivity Organization,2000      Environment, Development and Change in Rural Asia-Pacific John Connell,Eric Waddell,2006-12-05 This volume examines the economic political social and environmental challenges facing rural communities in the Asia Pacific region as global issues intersect with local contexts Such challenges from climatic change and volcanic eruption to population growth and violent civil unrest have stimulated local resilience amongst communities and led to evolving regional institutions and environment management practices changing social relationships and producing new forms of stratification Bringing together case studies from across mainland Southeast Asia and the Island Pacific an expert team of international contributors reveal how communities at the periphery take charge of their lives champion the virtues of their own local systems of production and consumption and engage in the complexities of new structures of development that demand a response to the vacillations of global politics economy and society Inherent in this is the recognition that development as we have come to know it is far from over Each chapter emphasizes the growing recognition that ecological and environmental issues are key to any understanding and analysis of structures of sustainable development Providing diverse multidisciplinary theoretical and empirical perspectives Environment Development and Change in Rural Asia Pacific makes an important contribution to the revitalization of development studies and as such will be essential reading for scholars in the field as well as those with an interest in Asia Pacific studies economic geography and political economy

Annual Report Asian Productivity Organization,2009      Macroeconomic Structural Issues in the Asia-Pacific Economies William E. James,Seiji Naya,1990      Poverty Alleviation Through Agricultural Projects Emmanuel H. D'Silva,Kaye Bysouth,1992-01-01 Of the estimated 1 billion people in the developing world who survive in conditions of extreme poverty 70 percent live in Asia The majority of these people live in rural areas and agriculture is their main occupation Most of the rural poor are small and marginal farmers landless agricultural workers fisherfolk artisans female headed households the aged and infirm and children The incidence of poverty is highest among female heads of households and children The seminar on Poverty Alleviation through Agricultural Projects provided thirty development practitioners with an opportunity to consider strategies policies and practices that help alleviate rural poverty The seminar discussed four key issues of relevance to policy makers 1 poverty cannot be measured by income alone 2 poverty cannot be alleviated through a short term piecemeal approach 3 agricultural projects constitute one of the many means available to governments for alleviating rural poverty and 4 the role of public sector in poverty alleviation needs to be reconsidered      Impact of the Changing Economy

on Small Farmers in Asia and the Pacific ,2001      Inventory of Educational Innovations in Asia and the Pacific ,1981
 Individual program summaries range from three to nine pages long and vary considerably in content depending on the nature of the program being described Topics usually addressed in brief include the program s background lists of the program s objectives and innovative features a discussion of the program s implementation and problems and the name and address of a contact person      Regional Development Dialogue ,2001 An international journal focusing on third world development problems      Enhancing Global Competitiveness A. N. Sarkar,2009 In terms of overall orientation this book has been so conceived and structured that it has followed a certain natural corollary and logical framework in comparing Indian economy with the Asian and the global economy in respect to the sectors wherein India is perceived to play a leadership role both in the regional and the global context Secondly an attempt has also been made to identify areas where India despite possessing a huge potential could not so far convincingly demonstrate its competitive advantage to compete globally Thirdly competitive advantages in certain chosen fields wherein India can excel and outperform its competitors are elaborated and highlighted with broad indication of the future strategy Last but not the least the book has dealt with the various sectoral investment opportunities in India for achieving global competitiveness      Index to International Statistics ,2002      Toward the Rural-based Development of Commerce and Industry Y?jir? Hayami,1998 A traditional paradigm in development economics assumes that the process of modern economic growth is associated with a major shift in labor from rural hinterlands to urban industrial centers However the logic of economic development does not dictate that industrialization and urbanization are intertwined and inseparable as assumed in the traditional paradigm The studies reported in this volume examine whether an alternative route of economic development might exist in which the modern production base also moves into the rural sector instead of the rural labor force alone moving into the urban sector Part I focuses on historical experiences in Japan such as technical and institutional innovations in rice marketing and the formation of Toyota s relationship with suppliers Part II reports on current developments in East Asia including the rural garment and weaving industries in Northern Thailand and rural entrepreneurship and industrial development in Korea      Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index ,2000      I.L.O. in Asia & the Pacific ILO Regional Office for Asia & the Pacific,1988
     Investment Promotion and Enterprise Development Bulletin for Asia and the Pacific ,2003      Rural Employment Creation in Asia and the Pacific ,1987      Agricultural Credit in Asia and the Pacific ,2001
