Prophets Camel Bell:

The Prophet's Camel Bell Margaret Laurence, 2012-10-12 In 1950 as a young bride Margaret Laurence set out with her engineer husband to what was then Somaliland a British protectorate in North Africa few Canadians had ever heard of Her account of this voyage into the desert is full of wit and astonishment Laurence honestly portrays the difficulty of colonial relationships and the frustration of trying to get along with Somalis who had no reason to trust outsiders There are moments of surprise and discovery when Laurence exclaims at the beauty of a flock of birds only to discover that they are locusts or offers medical help to impoverished neighbors only to be confronted with how little she can help them During her stay Laurence moves past misunderstanding the Somalis and comes to admire memorable individuals a storyteller a poet a camel herder The Prophet's Camel Bell is both a fascinating account of Somali culture and British colonial characters and a lyrical description of life in the desert The Prophet's Camel Bell Margaret Laurence, 1988 The Prophet's Camel Bell Margaret Laurence, 1965 The Prophet's Camel Bell. [With Plates, Including Portraits.]. Margaret Laurence (Novelist.), 1963 Challenging Territory Christian Riegel, 1997-05 In a postmodern and postcolonial age how do we approach the writing of Margaret Laurence Challenging Territory demands of the reader a re evaluation of the basic assumptions that underlie their understanding of Laurence's life and writing by addressing the full range of her writing Laurence is presented as Canadian colonial and postcolonial subject as feminist humanist and political active individual and as essayist translator journalist memoir writer and fiction writer The essays stake out a critical territory as well as offer a challenge to territory previously mapped by the criticism in addition to charting critical space never before traced

Divining Margaret Laurence Nora Foster Stovel, 2008 The most complete consideration of all the major writings of Margaret Laurence Heart of a Stranger Margaret Laurence, 2003 Travel was closely connected to Margaret Laurence's creativity Laurence realized that her travels especially to Africa provided her with new perspectives on Canada Heart of a Stranger originally published in 1976 is a fascinating travelogue chronicling Laurence's geographical journeys to many lands and historic places She notes I saw somewhat to my surprise that they are all in one way or another travel articles And by travel I mean both those voyages which are outer and those voyages which are inner Laurence writes about her travels to Egypt in Good Morning to the Grandson of Ramesses the Second to Scotland in Road from the Isles and to Greece in Sayonara Agamemnon In The Very Best Intentions Laurence sees herself as a stranger in a strange land in Ghana She reflects on the many places she lived in Put Out One or Two More Flags Down East The Shack and Where the World Began Professor Nora Foster Stovel's new introduction Heart of a Traveller explores how Laurence's experiences in other lands influenced and shaped her writing She contends that Heart of a Stranger constitutes a concealed autobiography for in chronicling her literal life journey Laurence also reveals her spiritual odyssey A Writer's Life The Writers' Trust of Canada, 2011-05-24 For anyone who loves great literature or aspires to write it this is an essential collection full of insight

Literary Titans Revisited Anne Urbancic,2017-08-19 Unearthed recordings reveal the early days of the literary powerhouses who gave birth to CanLit in the 1960s From 1969 to 1970 radio interviewer Earle Toppings recorded sixteen Canadian writers and poets who went on to become pillars of Canadian literature These emerging icons of Canadian literature including Margaret Laurence Sinclair Ross and Al Purdy captured in Toppings's interviews and readings give intimate and compelling views of their developing prose and poetry in their own words The Earle Toppings tapes provide a distinctive and special glimpse into the workshops of emerging CanLit authors revealing their thoughts about writing about their successes and failures about their place in Canada and in Canadian literature This written version of Toppings s recordings presents exact transcripts of the spoken interviews complemented by brief biographies and bibliographies The interviews were carefully compiled by the inaugural group of four Northrop Frye Research Centre Undergraduate Fellows at Victoria College This rare portrait would not have been complete without an interview with Mr Toppings himself sharing his personal recollections of the authors he recorded and his own insight into their works Margaret Laurence and Jack McClelland, Letters Laura K. Davis, Linda M. Morra, 2018-05-18 Margaret Laurence and Jack McClelland one of Canada s most beloved writers and one of Canada s most significant publishers enjoyed an unusual rapport In this collection of annotated letters readers gain rare insight into the private side of these literary icons Their correspondence reveals a professional relationship that evolved into deep friendship over a period of enormous cultural change Both were committed to the idea of Canadian writing in a very real sense their mutual and separate work helped bring Canadian Literature into being With its insider s view of the book business from the late 1950s to the mid 1980s Margaret Laurence and Jack McClelland Letters presents a valuable piece of Canadian literary history curated and annotated by Davis and Morra This is essential reading for all those interested in Canada s literary culture Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada Laura K. Davis, 2017-05-18 Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada is the first book to examine how Laurence addresses decolonization and nation building in 1950s Somalia and Ghana and 1960s and 1970s English Canada Focusing on Laurence s published works as well as her unpublished letters not yet discussed by critics the book articulates how Laurence and her characters are poised between African colonies of occupation during decolonization and the settler colony of English Canada during the implementation of Canadian multiculturalism Laurence s Canadian characters are often divided subjects who are not quite members of their ancestral imperial cultures yet also not truly native to their nation Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada shows how Laurence and her characters negotiate complex tensions between self and nation and argues that Laurence s African and Canadian writing demonstrates a divided Canadian subject who holds significant implications for both the individual and the country of Canada Bringing together Laurence s writing about Africa and Canada Davis offers a unique contribution to the study of Canadian literature The book is an original interpretation of Laurence s work and reveals how she displaces the simple notion that Canada is a sum total of different cultures and conceives Canada as a mosaic that is in flux and constituted through continually changing social relations Margaret Laurence Donez Xiques, 2005-09-24 Margaret Laurence The Making of a Writer is an engaging narrative that contains new and important findings about Laurence s life and career This biography reveals the challenges successes and failures of the long apprenticeship that preceded the publication of the The Stone Angel Laurence s first commercially successful novel Donez Xiques demonstrates the importance of Margaret Laurence s early work as a journalist in her development as a writer and covers her return to Canada from Africa in the late 1950s She details the significance of Laurence's Vancouver years as well as the challenges of her year in London prior to settling at Elm Cottage in Buckinghamshire when Laurence stood on the verge of success The Margaret Laurence known to most people is a public figure of the 1960s and 1970s matriarchal matronly and accomplished The story of her early years in the harsh setting of the Canadian Prairies during the 1930s years of drought and the Great Depression and of her African years has never before been chronicled with the thoroughness and vividness that Xiques provides for the reader Appended to this powerful new biography is a short story by Margaret Laurence that has never before been published and two other stories that have not been widely available They indicate the range of her concerns and show a marked departure from her fiction in The Tomorrow Tamer and Other Stories and A Bird in the House Readers will benefit from the extensive research in this full and vibrant portrait of one of the most revered writers of twentieth century Canadian literature

Maps of Difference Wendy Roy, 2005-05-12 Roy considers the connections Jameson makes between feminism and anti racism in Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada 1838 Hubbard's insights in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador 1908 into her relationship with First Nations men who had both more and less power than she and Laurence's awareness of colonial and patriarchal oppression in her African memoir The Prophet's Camel Bell 1963 Roy also examines archival and First Nations accounts of these women's travels and the sketches photos and maps that accompany their writing to examine contradictions in and question the implied objectivity of travel narratives She concludes by looking at the myth of getting there first and the ways in which new technologies of representation including cameras allow travellers and writers to claim new travel firsts

Somalia Nina J. Fitzgerald, 2002 This country shares the status of Afghanistan until recently of being without a government It also seems to be a possible nesting ground for members of the al Qaeda terror network Somalia has been in the world spotlight numerous times in the 1990s This book brings together important issues of Somalia along with a brief version of its history and a selective bibliography

British Somaliland Brock Millman, 2013-12-04 British Somaliland provides a history of the administration of the British Somaliland Protectorate from the time when Somaliland first became governable following the defeat of Abdullah Hassan to independence Describing the interplay between general imperial policies and greater realities and developments in Somaliland the focus of the book remains on the mechanism by which the Protectorate was operated The regime that developed was in the end a highly autocratic despotism generally benign but occasionally predatory Independence when it arrived was in retrospect a tragedy Somaliland was absorbed into Somalia and a governmental style which suited the conditions of the Protectorate was dissolved into something very different Since the collapse of Somalia re emergent Somaliland appears to be attempting to re connect to a past remembered as something of a golden age Highly topical as Somaliland is re emerging this book is an invaluable resource for students and scholars of African History Imperial History and British History

Racial, Ethnic, Gender and Class Representations in Margaret Laurence's Writings Andreea Topor-Constantin, 2013-07-26 Racial Ethnic Gender and Class Representations in Margaret Laurence's Writings is a study on Canadian literature and Margaret Laurence's works in particular thus addressing various kinds of readership. This book avoids the danger of limiting the approach to solely focusing attention on Canada by presenting a thorough analysis of various literary genres allowing the book to be of interest to all literature lovers. Furthermore, the book explores the parallelism between life and fiction, emphasising Laurence's biographic and realist elements and their influence on the writer's fictional writing, revealing real and imaginary worlds which would appeal to anybody's literary needs. This major contribution to the already existent criticism of Margaret Laurence's works lies in the analysis of her work as an entity balancing both terms of the common binary oppositions: fiction versus non-fiction, Africa versus Canada, white versus Black or Metis. In spite of critical comments which might be raised, Andreea Topor Constantin comments on how the voice of the marginal makes itself heard throughout the author's books, underlying Laurence's emphasis on characterisation and her genuine concern for people. This book covers all aspects of Laurence's life and fiction, from the African to the writer's Canadian background, from adults to children's literature, from novels to short stories, from essays to letters, in order to challenge readers' perceptions of race, ethnicity, gender and class.

Racial Attitudes in English-Canadian Fiction, 1905-1980 Terrence Craig, 1987-08-31. Examines stereotypes in Canadian literature reflecting both the racist view that Jews and other aliens could never become good white Canadians because of their inherent defects and the belief that with time they could assimilate. Discusses the origins of ethnic tension in Canada. Up to 1939, English Canadian literature expressed the demand for British Protestant political and cultural dominance. The popular novelist Charles Gordon, a Presbyterian minister, viewed the British, especially the Scots, as the chosen race, and even when trying to present Jews sympathetically, he treated them as stereotypes. John Murray Gibbon was violently antisemitic. F. P. Grove saw the Jews as urban businessmen exploiting the peasant immigrants. After 1945, antisemitism became unfashionable. Works by Jews such as Mordecai Richler exposed anti-Jewish discrimination, and English Canadians produced works attacking antisemitism and racism.
