Road Transport Before The Railways Russells London Flying Waggon

Dorian Gerhold

Road Transport Before The Railways Russells London Flying Waggon:

Road Transport Before the Railways Dorian Gerhold, 1993-02-26 This 1993 book examines the road haulage trade in England when it depended on horses and wagons chiefly through the letters and papers of one of the largest firms which operated between the West Country and London in the early nineteenth century Other documents extend the coverage of the firm's history from the seventeenth century to the mid nineteenth century making it possible to examine how road transport changed during the course of two centuries The Russell letters are all extraordinary and unique survival showing in detail how the firm managed to convey up to six tons at a time in all weathers how dominated it was by the capabilities and needs of the horse how reliable its services were who it served and how important it was to a variety of users In sum the book provides a full account of the road haulage industry from the seventeenth century until the coming of the railways

International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall, Terry Gourvish, Steven Tolliday, 2013-12-16 The field of business history has changed and grown dramatically over the last few years There is less interest in the traditional company centred approach and more concern about the wider business context With the growth of multi national corporations in the 1980s international and inter firm comparisons have gained in importance In addition there has been a move towards improving links with mainstream economic financial and social history through techniques and outlook The International Bibliography of Business History brings all of the strands together and provides the user with a comprehensive guide to the literature in the field The Bibliography is a unique volume which covers the depth and breadth of research in business history This exhaustive volume has been compiled by a team of subject specialists from around the world under the editorship of three prestigious business historians The Rise and Rise of Road Transport, 1700-1990 Theodore Cardwell Barker, Dorian Gerhold, Economic History Society, 1995-09-28 Most books about Britain's transport history have concentrated upon canals and railways It is now clear that a great deal of traffic went by road even before turnpikes and that goods as well as passenger services were much more highly developed than used to be supposed This book is an important survey of road transport over the past three centuries The authors summarise the new evidence and arguments and explain why we need to take a longer view of the subject They shed new light on the importance of horse drawn freight in the eighteenth century before the introduction of turnpikes offset the undue attention paid to the railways in the nineteenth century and stress that motor transport's present great importance only dates from the 1950s A full bibliography is provided for more extended study Railways and the Victorian Imagination Michael J. Freeman, 1999-01-01 Discusses the cultural and social effect that the railway had on nineteenth century society in Great Britain The Carriage Journal Jill Ryder, 2003-03-01 Features The Chariot Genteel and Otherwise 4 7 The Rebirth of the Nimrod 53 William P Sargent Co 57 The London Jobmasters 61 Preparing for the Show Ring 66 The 2002 CAA Learning Weekend 71 Departments The View from the Box 46 Memories Mostly Horsy 51 Letters to the Editor 56 Tack Room Talk 64 The Road Behind Wispings and Pouncing 69 Book Reviews 73

Making Histories in Transport Museums Colin Divall, Andrew Scott, 2001-12-20 This book is the first in 30 years to take transport museums seriously as vehicles for the making of public histories Drawing upon many years experience of visiting and working in transport museums around the world the authors argue that the sector's historical roots are more complex than is usually thought Written from a multidisciplinary perspective but firmly rooted in the practice of making public histories this book brings the study of transport museums firmly into the mainstream of academic and professional debate

The Birth of Industrial Britain Kenneth Morgan, 2014-06-11 An introductory text on economic development during Britain's Industrial Revolution It considers the significance and scale of changes and provides a concise overview of the state of current research on this key period

The World of the Tavern Beat Kümin, B. Ann Tlusty, 2017-07-05 The subject of drink received a great deal of attention from early modern Europeans Preachers physicians authorities artists and travellers all addressed it from a range of different perspectives At the same time inns taverns and alehouses served as multifunctional centres in towns and villages throughout Europe This combination resulted in a wealth of sources both institutional and cultural which are only now beginning to be explored This anthology features new research on public houses in England Russia and the German lands In a series of general thematic and regional studies contributors engage with broader debates in early modern history shedding light on such key issues as consumption travel and communication state building confessional identity fiscal practice gender and household relations and the use of public spaces The result is a volume that should appeal to anybody with an interest in early modern cultural history

The Transportation Experience William L. Garrison, David M. Levinson, 2014-03 The Transportation Experience explores the historical evolution of transportation modes and technologies The book traces how systems are innovated planned and adapted deployed and expanded and reach maturity where they may either be maintained in a polished obsolesce often propped up by subsidies be displaced by competitors or be reorganized and renewed An array of examples supports the idea that modern policies are built from past experiences William Garrison and David Levinson assert that the planning and control of nonlinear unstable processes is today's central transportation problem and that this is universal and true of all modes Modes are similar in that they all have a triad structure of network vehicles and operations but this framework counters conventional wisdom Most think of each mode as having a unique history and status and each is regarded as the private playground of experts and agencies holding unique knowledge operating in isolated silos However this book argues that while modes have an appearance of uniqueness the same patterns repeat systems policies structures and behaviors are a generic design on varying modal cloth In the end the illusion of uniqueness proves to be myopic While it is true that knowledge has accumulated from past experiences the heavy hand of these experiences places boundaries on current knowledge especially on the ways professionals define problems and think about processes The Transportation Experience provides perspective for the collections of models and techniques that are the essence of transportation science and also expands the boundaries of current knowledge of the field

Travel and the British country house Jon Stobart, 2017-11-06 Travel and the British country house explores the ways in which travel by owners visitors and material objects shaped country houses during the long eighteenth century It provides a richer and more nuanced understanding of this relationship and how it varied according to the identity of the traveller and the geography of their journeys The essays explore how travel on the Grand Tour and further afield formed an inspiration to build or remodel houses and gardens the importance of country house visiting in shaping taste amongst British and European elites and the practical aspects of travel including the expenditure involved Suitable for a scholarly audience including postgraduate and undergraduate students but also accessible to the general reader Travel and the British country house offers a series of fascinating studies of the country house that serve to animate the country house with flows of people goods and ideas
