Robert L Vann Of The Pittsburgh Courier Politics And Black Journalism:

Robert L. Vann of the Pittsburgh Courier: Politics and Black Journalism Andrew Bunie, 1974 The Marcus Garvey and Universal Negro Improvement Association Papers, Vol. II Marcus Garvey, 2023-09-01 This second volume of Robert A Hill's monumental ten volume survey of Marcus Mosiah Garvey's extraordinary mass movement of black social protest covers a period of rapid growth. The Universal Negro Improvement Association with its Africa for the Africans program of racial nationalism rapidly gained in strength in the aftermath of Garvey's successful meeting in Carnegie Hall in August 1919 and culminated in its spectacular First International Convention of the Negro Peoples of the World in 1920. Hill has compiled a wealth of archival documents and original manuscripts with descriptive source notes and explanatory footnotes. He provides a fascinating account of the spread of Garvey's movement which was seen and feared by officials in America, Europe, and colonial governments in Africa and the Caribbean as the major ideological force promoting radical consciousness among blacks. Hill continues the comprehensive outline begun in Volume I of Garvey's Black Star Line, the all black merchant marine, and documents the beginnings of Garvey's proposals for massive loans to the Liberian government. These controversial financial schemes led to Garvey's reputation as a swindler, and Volume II details the first charges of fraud. The federal investigation of Garvey broadened and deepened during 1919-1920 with J. Edgar Hoover then an assistant to the attorney general continuing to search for grounds to deport Garvey. Included here are numerous reports from government agents and informers which provide a valuable portrait of day to day UNIA operations. Volume II ends with the UNIA's 1920 convention presented by Garvey as a turning point in the history of black-white relations. The legislation and the elective offices produced by that convention were intended to form a virtual government in exile for Africa, fulfilling Garvey's ambition to practice statecraft and create the symbols of black nationhood and sovereignty. This volume is the second of six that focus on America, the seventh and eighth focus on Africa, and the last two on the Caribbean. Hill has brought together far more than a portrait of a single intriguing historical figure. Garvey's movement was a mass social phenomenon, an Afro-American protest movement with strong links to African and Caribbean nationalism in the first decades of the twentieth century. This second volume of Robert A Hill's monumental ten volume survey of Marcus Mosiah Garvey's extraordinary mass movement of black social protest covers a period of rapid growth. Prologue, 1979 The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick, 2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh's first public high school, a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence. Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 as Schenley High School, it was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity. Its graduates include Andy Warhol, actor Bill Nunn, and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines, and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather. The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect, the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace s reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America s oldest public schools The River Jordan Joe William Trotter Jr.,2021-10-21 Since the nineteenth century the Ohio River has represented a great divide for African Americans It provided a passage to freedom along the underground railroad and during the industrial age it was a boundary between the Jim Crow South and the urban North The Ohio became known as the River Jordan symbolizing the path to the promised land In the urban centers of Pittsburgh Cincinnati Louisville and Evansville blacks faced racial hostility from outside their immediate neighborhoods as well as class color and cultural fragmentation among themselves Yet despite these pressures African Americans were able to create vibrant new communities as former agricultural workers transformed themselves into a new urban working class Unlike most studies of black urban life Trotter s work considers several cities and compares their economic conditions demographic makeup and political and cultural conditions Beginning with the arrival of the first blacks in the Ohio Valley Trotter traces the development of African American urban centers through the civil rights movement and the developments of recent years The Double V Campaign Lea Lyon,2024-02-20 The rousing story of the Double V Campaign started during World War II to encourage Black Americans to fight for freedom overseas and at home When the United States entered World War II young African Americans across the country faced a difficult dilemma Why should they risk their lives fighting for freedoms in other nations that they did not have at home The solution fight two wars at once for freedom abroad and freedom for Black people in America A Double Victory In The Double V Campaign Lea Lyon details this fascinating little known part of American history A young journalist civil service employee and aircraft plant cafeteria worker named James G Thompson came up with the simple yet powerful Double V slogan to represent the fight for victory against the enemy abroad and the fight for victory against racial discrimination at home Lyon shows how the popular Black owned newspaper the Pittsburgh Courier along with other Black newspapers activists the NAACP and others used the Double V Campaign to push for changes in the segregation and discriminatory practices in the military and defense industry and how the campaign influenced and enhanced the Civil Rights Movement to come The Double V Campaign gave voice to African American communities throughout the war and inspired hundreds of thousands to continue speaking up against discrimination in the years that followed It is a powerful story of fighting for what is right of fighting for change and equality even when those in positions of power are telling you to stop and the strength of a united voice to effect change

African American Writers & Classical Tradition William W. Cook,James Tatum,2024-05-31 Constraints on freedom education and individual dignity have always been fundamental in determining who is able to write when and where Considering the singular experience of the African American writer William W Cook and James Tatum here argue that African American literature did not develop apart from canonical Western literary traditions but instead grew out of those literatures even as it adapted and transformed the cultural traditions and religions of Africa and the African diaspora along the way Tracing the interaction between African American writers and the literatures of ancient Greece and Rome from the time of slavery and its aftermath to the civil rights era and on into the present the authors offer a sustained and lively discussion of the life and work of Phillis Wheatley Frederick Douglass Ralph Ellison and Rita Dove among other highly acclaimed poets novelists and scholars Assembling this brilliant and diverse group of African American writers at a moment when our understanding of classical literature is ripe for change the authors paint an unforgettable portrait of our own reception of classic writing especially as it was inflected by American racial politics

The President and the Apprentice Irwin F. Gellman, 2015-07-28 More than half a century after Eisenhower left office the history of his presidency is so clouded by myth partisanship and outright fraud that most people have little understanding of how Ike s administration worked or what it accomplished We know or think we know that Eisenhower distrusted his vice president Richard Nixon and kept him at arm s length that he did little to advance civil rights that he sat by as Joseph McCarthy s reckless anticommunist campaign threatened to wreck his administration and that he planned the disastrous 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba None of this is true The President and the Apprentice reveals a different Eisenhower and a different Nixon Ike trusted and relied on Nixon sending him on many sensitive overseas missions Eisenhower not Truman desegregated the military Eisenhower and Nixon not Lyndon Johnson pushed the Civil Rights Act of 1957 through the Senate Eisenhower was determined to bring down McCarthy and did so Nixon never contrary to recent accounts saw a psychotherapist but while Ike was recovering from his heart attack in 1955 Nixon was overworked overanxious overmedicated and at the limits of his ability to function

Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton, 2011-08-15 In all of journalism nowhere are the stakes higher than in foreign news gathering For media owners it is the most difficult type of reporting to finance for editors the hardest to oversee Correspondents roaming large swaths of the planet must acquire expertise that home based reporters take for granted facility with the local language for instance or an understanding of local cultures Adding further to the challenges they must put news of the world in context for an audience with little experience and often limited interest in foreign affairs a task made all the more daunting because of the consequence to national security In Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton a historian and former foreign correspondent provides a sweeping and definitive history of American foreign news reporting from its inception to the present day and chronicles the economic and technological advances that have influenced overseas coverage as well as the

cavalcade of colorful personalities who shaped readers perceptions of the world across two centuries From the colonial era when newspaper printers hustled down to wharfs to collect mail and periodicals from incoming ships to the ongoing multimedia press coverage of the Iraq War Hamilton explores journalism s constant and not always successful efforts at dishing the foreign news as James Gordon Bennett put it in the mid nineteenth century to describe his approach in the New York Herald He details the highly partisan coverage of the French Revolution the early emergence of special correspondents and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism s Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead
