

SARD HARKER

By JOHN MASEFIELD

Fourteen years have elapsed since the issue of Mr. Masefield's last novel. In the interval he has been perfecting and refining his art and has won fame as the greatest living master of the narrative poem.

In his new book, Sard Harker, he does himself also a master of prose romance. This story tells of more or less simple as its conception and no profound in the realistic quality which characterizes all great art, is indeed one of those books that cannot only come to you in a moment—a book that is read once avidly for the beauty of its story, and then again and yet again, at leisure, for the value of the beauty of its telling.
