American Painters on Technique Lance Mayer, Gay Myers, 2013 How paintings were made in the most literal sense is an important but largely unknown aspect of the story of American art This book like the authors previous volume on American painting techniques from the colonial period to 1860 is based on descriptions of the materials and methods that painters used as found in artists notebooks painting manuals magazines suppliers catalogues letters diaries books and interviews In interpreting this evidence the authors have made use of their experience as conservators who have treated many important American paintings Book jacket

Moved to Tears Rebecca Bedell, 2018-11-13 In this volume Bedell examines received ideas about sentimental art Countering its association with trite and saccharine Victorian kitsch she argues that major American artists from John Trumbull and Charles Willson Peale in the eighteenth century and Asher Durand and Winslow Homer in the nineteenth to Henry Ossawa Tanner and Frank Lloyd Wright in the early twentieth produced what was understood in their time as sentimental art art intended to develop empathetic bonds and to express or elicit social affections including sympathy compassion nostalgia and patriotism

Mapping Impressionist Painting in Transnational Contexts Emily C. Burns, Alice M. Rudy Price, 2021-05-03 This book offers microhistories related to the transnational circulations of impressionism in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The contributors rethink the role of French impressionism in shaping these iterations by placing France within its global and imperialist context and arguing that impressionisms might be framed through the mobility studies concept of constellations of mobility Artists engaging with impressionism in France as in other global contexts relied on responded to appropriated and resisted elements of form and content based on fluid and interconnected political realities and market structures Written by scholars and curators the chapters demand reconsideration of impressionism as a historical construct and the meanings assigned to that term This project frames future discussion in art history cultural studies and global studies on the politics of appropriating impressionism

Memory and Desire Kenneth McConkey, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2002 Memory and Desire is a lavishly illustrated account of the art world in Britain at the turn of the twentieth century. It calls upon rich resources of contemporary diaries, letters, and art criticism as well as the analysis of works of art to answer questions about how and why new artistic tendencies emerged and tastes changed. Eschewing the familiar narrative of an inevitable progress towards modernism, Kenneth McConkey considers a broad range of art and critical thinking in the period. Discussing the market for old master paintings which rivalled those for modern art and the question of how and why certain genres of art were particularly successful at the time, McConkey explores the detail and significance of contemporary taste. He draws upon the work of commercially successful painters such as John Singer Sargent, William Orpen, George Clausen, Alfred East, John Lavery, and Philip Wilson Steer, and their critic supporters to throw light upon current arguments about training, aesthetics, visual memory, and the creation of new art. Memory and Desire is a major contribution to our knowledge of this important period in British art.

Impressionism in Britain Kenneth McConkey, Anna Gruetzner Robins, 1995-01-01

Late in his career, Claude Monet returned to London to paint the fog that had entranced him years before. The resulting sequence of pictures represents some of the fascination that French painters felt for Britain. Similarly, many British collectors and young painters embraced and were influenced by the work of the French Impressionists. This book describes the activities of the French Impressionist painters on their visits to Britain, considers the dissemination of Impressionist painting through British dealers and collectors, explores the response of artists from Britain and Ireland to the Impressionist movement, and sets all of these against the backdrop of late Victorian and Edwardian Britain. McConkey and Robins describe the work of Monet, Pissarro, Sisley, and other Impressionists working in London, showing how this art influenced the community of young British painters disenchanted with British art schools and art exhibiting standards. The authors investigate the role played by two innovative painters who were American expatriates, James McNeill Whistler and John Singer Sargent. And they explain how such artists as William Orpen, George Clausen, Stanhope Forbes, Henry La Thangue, Walter Sickert, and Philip Wilson Steer sought out new and radical approaches to picture making, formed new secessionist art societies, and articulated new concepts of the role of art, rejecting historical pageants and fashionable aestheticism and focusing on modern rural and urban conditions. The book is the catalogue of an exhibition that will be at the Barbican Art Gallery in London from January to March 1995 and then move to Dublin.

Chinese Songs in a French Key Pauline Yu, 2025-08-19

In early 1867, a book of poems stunned the French literary world. Titled The Book of Jade, it featured Chinese calligraphy and named ancient Chinese poets as sources, leaving readers uncertain whether the collection was a translation or a French author's invention. Though the book was published under a pseudonym, the author was quickly recognized as Judith Gautier, the young daughter of a prominent writer. Resembling neither contemporary French verse nor any conventional translation of the day, The Book of Jade opened the eyes of readers throughout Europe to classical Chinese poetry. Chinese Songs in a French Key tells the extraordinary story of the birth rebirth and rich afterlife of The Book of Jade Pauline Yu traces the research and creative process behind the book including Gautier's collaboration with a Chinese refugee known as Tin Tun Ling She shows through juxtapositions with original Chinese texts how Gautier's imaginative strategies conveyed core elements of Chinese poetry to a European audience Yu explores how the work's influence reverberated across French letters Anglo American modernist poetry and the international history of translation The story also unfolds within Gautier's network of luminaries such as Victor Hugo Richard Wagner and John Singer Sargent and against the backdrop of France's discovery of China through scholarship and plunder Drawing attention to Gautier's audacity and accomplishments this deeply researched and elegantly written book provides new perspectives on the surprising routes cultural transmission can take Uncanny Spectacle Marc Simpson, John Singer Sargent, Richard Ormond, Helene Barbara Weinberg, Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute, 1997-01-01 Drawing on the correspondence of the artist his friends and his family as well as a review of contemporary critical responses this text examines the work of Sargent's early maturity The text is the catalogue for an exhibition at the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute in Summer 1997
