Making Medicare Gregory Marchildon,2012-11-23 The Canadian health care system is so indisputably tied to our national identity that its founder Tommy Douglas was voted the greatest Canadian of all time in a CBC television contest However very little has been written to date on how Medicare as we know it was developed and implemented This collection fills a serious gap in the existing literature by providing a comprehensive policy history of Medicare in Canada Making Medicare features explorations of the experiments that predated the federal government s decision to implement the Saskatchewan health care model from Newfoundland s cottage hospital system to Bennetcare in British Columbia It also includes essays by key individuals including health practitioners and two premiers who played a role in the implementation of Medicare and the landmark Royal Commission on Health Services Along with political scientists policy specialists medical historians and health practitioners this collection will appeal to anyone interested in the history and legacy of one of Canada s most visible and centrally important institutions

Healing Haunted Histories Elaine Enns,Ched Myers,2021-02-01 Healing Haunted Histories tackles the oldest and deepest injustices on the North American continent Violations which inhabit every intersection of settler and Indigenous worlds past and present Wounds inextricably woven into the fabric of our personal and political lives And it argues we can heal those wounds through the inward and outward journey of decolonization The authors write as and for settlers on this journey exploring the places peoples and spirits that have formed and deformed us They look at issues of Indigenous justice and settler response ability through the lens of Elaine s Mennonite family narrative tracing Landlines Bloodlines and Songlines like a braided river From Ukrainian steppes to Canadian prairies to California chaparral they examine her forebearers immigrant travails and trauma settler unknowing and complicity and traditions of resilience and conscience And they invite readers to do the same Part memoir part social historical and theological analysis and part practical workbook this process invites settler Christians and other people of faith into a discipleship of decolonization How are our histories landscapes and communities haunted by continuing Indigenous dispossession How do we transform our colonizing self perceptions lifeways and structures And how might we practice restorative solidarity with Indigenous communities today

Labour Relations and Health Reform K. Wetzel,2005-10-10 Over the past 25 years governments that operate publicly funded health care systems have endeavoured to modernize service delivery and to control health spending This has occasioned high profile efforts to reform and restructure previously stable health systems Health organizations are typically complex labour intensive and unionized Health reform can have enormous consequences for workers and their unions Governments ideologies determine the nature of reform initiatives This book examines the
