Savannah Nomads Wodaabe Pastoral Fulani:

Savannah Nomads Derrick J. Stenning, 1994 This 1959 account of the Nomadic pastoral Fulani of Bornu Northern Nigeria begins with a brief historical sketch of the ancient kingdom of Bornu and the Holy War of the nineteenth century and its repercussions. A detailed analysis of the family structure of the pastoralists or Wodaabe follows. The volume covers their organization into lineage groups, their forms of marriage and of inheritance, the status and functions of leaders in the lineage group and the cattle camps and the central place the herds occupy in the social structure. The volume covers the impact on the traditional structure and way of life of the British administration, in particular the effects of the introduction of village headships and of new methods of taxation. A concluding chapter describes current plans for improving the general economy of the pastoralists by developing various modifications of their methods of agricultural and animal husbandry and by establishing forms of settlement.

Savannah Nomads Derrick J. Stenning, 1994-01-01 This account of the Nomadic pastoral Fulani of Bornu Northern Nigeria begins with a brief historical sketch of the ancient kingdom of Bornu and its vicissitudes of the Holy War of the nineteenth century and its repercussions on the Fulani pastoralists themselves. There follows a detailed analysis of the family structure of the pastoralists or Wodaabe, their organization into lineage groups, their forms of marriage and of inheritance, the status and functions of leaders in the lineage group and the cattle camps and the central place in the whole social structure occupied by the herds. Part II is concerned with changes in the traditional structure and way of life consequent on the British administration, in particular the effects of the introduction of village headships and of new methods of taxation. A concluding chapter describes current plans for improving the general economy of the pastoralists by developing various modifications of their methods of agricultural and animal husbandry and by establishing forms of settlement.

Economics Literature Lee R. Martin, 1992 Conquest and Construction Mark DeLancey, 2016-06-21 In Conquest and Construction Mark Dike DeLancey investigates the palace architecture of northern Cameroon, a region that was conquered in the early nineteenth century by primarily semi-nomadic pastoralist Muslim Fulbe forces and incorporated as the largest emirate of the Sokoto Caliphate. Palace architecture is considered first and foremost as political in nature and therefore as responding not only to the needs and expectations of the conquerors but also to those of the largely sedentary agricultural non-Muslim conquered peoples who constituted the majority population. In the process of reconciling the cultures of these various constituents, new architectural forms and local identities were constructed. Nomads who Cultivate Beauty Mette Boivin, 2001 The author describes Wodaabe cultural choices as active archaisation. Different art forms are analysed in the light of identity construction by the Wodaabe. Their elaborate cultivation of beauty in make-up, tattoos, body paintings, calabash carvings, embroideries and architecture all follow the principle of symmetry and order in the cosmos. The author emphasizes the gendered aspects of social life and identity construction and explores masculinity among nomadic Wodaabe men who are living sculptures displaying their beauty as a spiritual act full of honour and dignity BOOK JACKET Architecture of First Societies Mark M. Patriarchy and the Politics of Beauty Allan D. Cooper, 2019-10-04 Political philosophers from the beginning of history have articulated the significance of beauty Allan D Cooper argues that these writings are coded to justify patriarchal structures of power and that each epoch of global history has reflected a paradigm of beauty that rationalizes protocols of gender performance Patriarchy is a system of knowledge that trains men to become soldiers but is now being challenged by human rights advocates and women's rights activists

Masks and Staffs Michaela Pelican, 2015-07-01 The Cameroon Grassfields home to three ethnic groups Grassfields societies Mbororo and Hausa provide a valuable case study for the anthropological examination of identity politics and interethnic relations In the midst of the political liberalization of Cameroon in the late 1990s and 2000s local responses to political and legal changes took the form of a series of performative and discursive expressions of ethnicity Confrontational encounters stimulated by economic and political rivalry as well as socially integrative processes transformed collective self understanding in Cameroon in conjunction with recent global discourses on human minority and indigenous rights The book provides a vital contribution to the study of ethnicity conflict

Spinage, 2012-05-07 In view of the rapidly changing ecology of Africa this work provides benchmarks for some of the major and more neglected aspects with an accent on historical data to enable habitats to be seen in relation to their previous state forming a background reference work to understanding how the ecology of Africa has been shaped by its past Reviewing historical data wherever possible it adopts an holistic view treating man as well as animals with accent on diseases both human and animal which have been a potent force in shaping Africa's ecology a role neglected in ecological studies

Livestock Development In Sub-Saharan Africa James R Simpson, 2019-08-22 The nations of Sub-Saharan Africa experienced declining levels of food production per capita throughout the 1970s and early 1980s particularly in the area of livestock production Addressing that problem the authors of this book assess in a systems context the environmental biological and social constraints on future African livestock development and consider prospects for improving productivity They focus especially on changes needed in production and marketing systems pointing to important policy considerations The book is divided into four parts containing twenty one chapters each authored by one or more respective authorities in his or her field Each section in its own way addresses the entire set of questions topics include aspects of animal breeding and nutrition anthropology economics ecology farming systems governmental policy land tenure marketing modelling and veterinary medicine Conceptualizing/Re-conceptualizing Africa Maghan Keita, 2021-10-11 Africa is a legitimizing factor in the world some might argue because of the weakness of its position in the world others might say because of the realization on the part of some African leaders that there are strengths inherent to their states positions that can be tapped Africa's place in the world is being re thought and re shaped And that is exactly what this book is about the authors invite and incite the reader to a much closer and nuanced reading of Africa and its history and the way in which that history over time and space allows for a re conceptualization of Africa's role and place in the world The authors evoke W E B Du Bois on the invention of identity in the modern world In that light these works remind us as Du Bois would that the current invention of Africa is indeed a modern one an identity configured in numerous ways with and without our interventions Contributions by Lamont de Haven King State and Ethnicity in Nigeria Jesse Benjamin Nubians and Nabateans Jeremy Prestholdt Portuguese on the Swahili Coast Thomas Ricks Slaves in Shi'i Iran AD 1500 1900 Launay Robert Late Seventeenth Century Narratives of Travel to Asia and Richard J Payne and Cassandra Veney Taiwan and Africa Precolonial African Material Culture , V. Farrar, 2020-01-20 The idea of an inherent backwardness of technology and material culture in early sub-Saharan Africa is a persistent and tenacious myth in the scholarly and popular imagination Due to the emergence of the field of African studies and the upsurge in historical and archaeological research in recent decades the stridency of this myth has weakened and the overtly racist content of arguments mustered in its defense have tended to disappear But more important are transformations in social political and cultural consciousness which have worked to reshape conceptualizations of African peoples their histories and their cultures Precolonial African Material Culture offers a thorough challenge to the myth of technological backwardness V Tarikhu Farrar revisits the early technology of sub Saharan Africa as revealed by recent research and reconsiders long possessed primary historical sources He then explores the ways that indigenous African technologies have influenced the world beyond the African continent Sustainable Development in Third World Countries Valentine U. James,1996-02-13 Sustainable development has been approached from many viewpoints over the past 15 years without a concise or precise definition of what sustainable development really stands for James has solicited contributions from an international group of experts who write about aspects of sustainable development from many different disciplines Their consensus is that sustainability depends upon concerted development across the spectrum of socioeconomic factors that affect the environment natural resources health education and welfare of the populations in the emerging nations The necessity of incorporating indigenous knowledge with technological and international expertise has become crucial
