Lukens,2006 American society has long placed high expectations on our schools to advance this nation s prospects or to help resolve many of its ills Throughout America s history however immigrant children have experienced difficulties adjusting to their new lives in our schools This experience has been the fate of many African students who come to America with hopes of securing an excellent education a better future and a chance at the American dream instead they frequently find disappointment Much of this frustration stems from the marginalization of African and African American history and cultural studies in the curriculums of many American schools The absence of any realistic exploration of Africa or Africans in American society has led to cases of harassment teasing and racially charged environments This Isn t the America I Thought I d Find explores the African student experience and offers advice for teachers seeking to facilitate a deeper appreciation of the emotional and historical connections between people of African descent and all Americans     An Age of Voyages, 1350-1600 Merry E. In India Nanak an educated employee of an Afghan prince sparked the founding of Sikhism A similar search for reviving fundamental religious values occurred in Europe where Martin Luther challenged the practices of the Catholic church ushering in Protestantism Religious reform and resistance to it were closely connected to the state building efforts of enterprising monarchs such as Henry VIII of England India likewise experienced a fervent movement to revive pure ancient religious practices Fourteenth and fifteenth century global trade and long distance ventures such as those made by the Ming and then by the Portuguese further inspired and advanced these worldwide cultural and political developments A brisk Indian Ocean trade flourished Economic change ensued with the arrival of New World silver on the global market The advance of printing not only furthered the cause of religious reform and state building globally it also helped globalize knowledge and intellectual experimentation People of great power and those of more limited means came to live their lives differently because of this expanding web of shared knowledge and trade Cities flourished the enslavement of native Americans came to replace their use as human sacrifices and diseases migrated at a more rapid pace and greater devastation than perhaps ever before
