music during an all Wagner concert in Paris in 1885 Professor Heath Lees shows that Mallarmé's early knowledge and experience of music was much greater than commentators have realized and that the French poet actually began his writing career with the explicit aim of making music's performance language of effect the ground of his poetic expression Integral to the argument is Mallarmé's reaction to the work and ideas of Richard Wagner whose impact on France came in two waves the first broke during the tempestuous 1860s days of the Paris Tannhäuser while the second arrived in the mid 1880s and gave birth to the Revue Wagnérienne In refuting the critical literature that focuses on only the second of these waves Lees shows that Mallarmé exhibited a highly informed Wagnerian background during the first wave and that his grasp of the composer's gestural motives and flexible musical prose led him towards a new kind of self-expressive gestural rhythm that aimed musically to reinvent poetic language In support of this the book examines closely what Wagner really said in the prose works that were becoming known in Paris by the 1860s in particular Wagner's important French text the Lettre sur la musique It also re-examines Baudelaire's classic Wagner brochure and reveals its author's surprisingly firm grasp of Wagner's musico-poetic fusion In musically informed commentary Professor Lees surveys the four decades of success and failure that resulted from Mallarmé's repeated attempts to draw out the musical gestures and resonances of words alone In the process he throws new light on many of Mallarmé's best-known texts hitherto judged difficult by those who have failed to
