Waterman, 2006 In this study of identity in Doris Lessing's space fiction David Waterman devotes a chapter to each of the five novels in the Canopus in Argos Archives series as well as Briefing for a Descent into Hell Memoirs of a Survivor and finally The Reason for It This is an important addition to understanding the works of this prolific author His major argument is that Lessing's space fiction identifies the universal problem society's division into competitive and predatory groups and places it outside the bounds of time and space encouraging a social critique which takes into account our inherited blindness our degenerative disease which must be addressed before genuine progress can be made Lessing's examination of the relationship between individual identity and group identity produces a productive tension that accounts for so much of interest in her work over many years Nowhere is that tension more obvious or more interesting than in the space fiction that David Waterman so ably explores Waterman writes convincingly of Lessing's desire to cut through the performance the received ideas the habits and customs of our daily lives Drawing on a wide range of sources he provides an interdisciplinary reading of the space fiction and maps Lessing's brave exploration of the hierarchical landscapes that so often imprison us Waterman offers a timely reading of Lessing for contemporary readers living in the landscape of globalization Professor Margaret Moan Rowe Purdue University     The Secret Life of Genius John Chambers, 2009-06-25 A look at the metaphysical experiences that shaped the lives and work of 24 great men and women from the Renaissance to modern times Chronicles the changing relationship with God nature and spirituality from the 16th century to the 20th century Includes encounters with the paranormal of Ben Johnson Isaac Newton Mary Shelley Leo Tolstoy Doris Lessing and Winston Churchill What role did the esoteric thought of Swedenborg play in the creative output of Honor de Balzac Did a supernatural encounter prompt Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley to focus her work on the theme of immortality Building on his earlier research on communications with the spirit world that Victor Hugo author of Les Misérables experienced while in exile on the isle of Jersey John Chambers now looks at the role occult knowledge and supernatural experiences played in the lives of 24 geniuses His investigation spans the life and work of William Blake Helena

Blavatsky and W B Yeats whose esoteric interests are well known as well as those little suspected of such encounters with worlds beyond ours including Doris Lessing Leo Tolstoy Norman Mailer Yukio Mishima and Winston Churchill Chambers presents more than a collection of anecdotes and newly revealed secrets His research provides insightful historical context of the decisive turning point that took place with the collapse of Prague the occult capital of Europe in 1620 which resulted in the victory of Cartesian reality and Newton s scientific paradigm over the esoteric traditions that flourished until that time The magical and occult world shown in the lives of these 24 great men and women offers us a glimpse of what could still be ours a world that though it is now overshadowed by modern scientific and technological principles is yet still visible on the horizon through the visions and paranormal experiences of these geniuses Women in the House of Fiction Lorna Sage,1992-08-21 The novel was once upon a time the genre women felt at home in This wide ranging and detailed study of contemporary novelists explores the forms of nostalgia shared by many feminist critics for a woman s novel and the subtle or savage strategies which have turned the house of fiction upside down The result is a critique of the nature of narrative now and a celebration of the energies that are undoing our definitions of women s work 1,000 Books to Read Before You Die James Mustich,2018-10-02 The ultimate literary bucket list THE WASHINGTON POST Celebrate the pleasure of reading and the thrill of discovering new titles in an extraordinary book that s as compulsively readable entertaining surprising and enlightening as the 1 000 plus titles it recommends Covering fiction poetry science and science fiction memoir travel writing biography children s books history and more 1 000 Books to Read Before You Die ranges across cultures and through time to offer an eclectic collection of works that each deserve to come with the recommendation You have to read this But it s not a proscriptive list of the great works rather it s a celebration of the glorious mosaic that is our literary heritage Flip it open to any page and be transfixed by a fresh take on a very favorite book Or come across a title you always meant to read and never got around to Or like browsing in the best kind of bookshop stumble on a completely unknown author and work and feel that tingle of discovery There are classics of course and unexpected treasures too Lists to help pick and choose like Offbeat Escapes or A Long Climb but What a View And its alphabetical arrangement by author assures that surprises await on almost every turn of the page with Cormac McCarthy and The Road next to Robert McCloskey and Make Way for Ducklings Alice Walker next to Izaak Walton There are nuts and bolts too best editions to read other books by the author if you like this you ll like that recommendations and an interesting endnote of adaptations where appropriate Add it all up and in fact there are more than six thousand titles by nearly four thousand authors mentioned a life changing list for a lifetime of reading 948 pages later you still want more THE WASHINGTON POST Between East and West Muge Galin,1997-07-31 Considers how Lessing s exposure to a particular aspect of tasawwuf the classical Sufi Way has shaped her work Impresses upon the reader the degree to which Lessing is seriously offering her space fiction utopias as plausible and even necessary alternatives to our present Western ways of life By Way of the Heart Mark Oakley,2019-08-30 Mark Oakley is one of the church s most outstanding communicators In this series of fifty beautifully crafted reflections with characteristic wit he traverses the landscape of the Christian year His writing is shaped by a sense that language is sacramental with a poet's gift of opening up new worlds and new possibilities simply through words

Briefing for a Descent Into Hell Doris Lessing, 2009-07-14 In this ambitious novel of madness and release shortlisted for the Booker Prize Doris Lessing imagines the fantastical inner space life of an amnesiac Charles Watkins a Professor of Classics at Cambridge University has suffered a breakdown confined to a mental hospital as his friends and doctors attempt to bring him back to reality But Watkins has embarked on a tremendous psychological adventure that takes him from a spinning raft in the Atlantic to a ruined stone city on a tropical island to an outer space journey through singing planets As he travels in his mind through memory and the farther reaches of imagination his doctors try to subdue him with ever more powerful drugs in a competition for his soul In this provocative novel Lessing takes us on a harrowing voyage into the rarely glimpsed territory of the inner mind The Span of Mainstream and Science Fiction Peter Brigg,2015-09-16

From the 1960s when the advent of what many call the postmodern style made establishing genres more difficult to the present day writers have been incorporating science not only the commonly thought of science and technology but also the soft sciences such as psychology and sociology into what was previously considered mainstream fiction This book examines works by Thomas Pynchon Doris Lessing and others who incorporate science in fiction and exemplify the movement of mainstream fiction writers toward a new genre termed span It also examines works by some science fiction writers who are edging closer to the border of science fiction and slowly over into span This book maps the boundaries of the new span genre of fiction and thus helps define texts that fall outside the realms of mainstream and science fiction Diagrams are included and a bibliography and index Entering the Fray T. Michael W. Halcomb,2012-08-02

In modern times the relationship between the church and academy has been strained and tension filled Mainstream church culture has often been skeptical of Bible scholars depicting them as self serving intellectuals trying to out think God by devising new and controversial interpretations Just as well academics have often leveled harsh critiques against church culture painting pastors and laity as anti intellectual pseudo spiritualists Entering the Fray argues that in spite of the wide gap between the academic and ecclesiastical worlds the modern church should be aware of the key discussions taking place among biblical scholars To be sure the average churchgoer has not been tuned in to scholarly conversations concerning matters such as the Messianic Secret Q the Historical Jesus the pistis Christou debate and related topics In fact they may have purposefully tuned out Some however are simply unaware that any such dialogue has taken place and beyond the internet may not have the first clue as to how to explore the details This primer seeks to function as that first clue by helping congregants pastors and students of the Bible enter into the fray of scholarly discussions that over the last few hundred years have shaped both the academy and church The companion website can be found at <http://michaelhalcomb.com/enteringthefray/home.html> Plotting Terror Margaret Scanlan,2001-05-29

Is literature dangerous In the romantic view writers were rebels Shelley s unacknowledged legislators of mankind poised to change the world In relation to twentieth century literature however such a view becomes suspect By looking at a range of novels about terrorism Plotting Terror raises the possibility that the writer s relationship to actual politics may be considerably reduced in the age of television and the Internet Margaret Scanlan traces the figure of the writer as rival or double of the terrorist from its origins in the romantic conviction of the writer s originality and power through a century of political social and technological developments that undermine that belief She argues that serious writers like Friedrich D rrenmatt Doris Lessing and Don DeLillo imagine a contemporary writer's encounter with terrorists as a test of the old alliance between writer and revolutionary After considering the possibility that televised terrorism is replacing the novel or that writing as contemporary theory would have it is itself a form of violence Scanlan asks whether the revolutionary impulse itself is dying in politics as much as in literature Her analyses take the reader on a fascinating exploration of the relationship between actual bombs and stories about bombings from the modern world to its electronic representation and from the exercise of political power to the fiction writer's power in the world

Doris Lessing Elizabeth Maslen, 2014 This study covers the full range of Doris Lessing's work and explores in detail both its form and content From The Grass is Singing through to Alfred and Emily her main concerns are shown to have a remarkable continuity both in her commitment to political and cultural issues and in her explorations of inner space

Doris Lessing and the Forming of History Kevin Brazil, 2016-09-20 The death of Nobel Prize winning Doris Lessing sparked a range of commemorations that cemented her place as one of the major figures of twentieth and twenty first century world literature This volume views Lessing's writing as a whole and in retrospect focusing on her innovative attempts to rework literary form to engage with the challenges thrown up by the sweeping historical changes through which she lived The 12 original chapters provide new readings of Lessing's work via contexts ranging from post war youth politics and radical women's writing to European cinema analyse her experiments with genres from realism to autobiography and science fiction and draw on previously unstudied archive material The volume also explores how Lessing's writing can provide insight into some of the issues now shaping twenty first century scholarship including trauma ecocriticism the post human and world literature as they emerge as defining challenges to our own present moment in history
