Martyn Lloyd-Jones, 2012-01-24 Some may object to my dogmatic assertions but I do not apologize for them Every preacher should believe strongly in his own method and if I cannot persuade all of the rightness of mine I can at least stimulate them to think and to consider other possibilities I can say quite honestly that I would not cross the road to listen to myself preaching and the preachers whom I have enjoyed most have been very different indeed in their method and style But my business is not to describe them but to state what I believe to be right however imperfectly I have put my own precepts into practice I can only hope that the result will be of some help and especially to young preachers called to this greatest of all tasks and especially in these sad and evil times With many others I pray that The Lord of the harvest may thrust forth many mighty preachers to proclaim the unsearchable riches of Christ

Transformational Preaching David M. Brown, 2003-02 Transformational Preaching Theory and practice is a comprehensive textbook for the beginning student of preaching the graduate student in pulpit discourse or the seasoned preacher Seeking to reclaim the pulpit for biblical preaching the book counteracts the popular teaching approach that is common today and argues that preaching must be persuasive rather than informative that the preacher is central to the act of preaching and that through the preaching event both preacher and listener together fashion the message and its meaning Both theoretical and highly practical the book offers a challenging look at all aspects of the preaching ministry It contextualizes preaching in pastoral ministry and congregational worship but most significantly argues that the practice of preaching must be informed and driven by theory As such the book draws from a wide perspective of disciplines including biblical theology classical rhetoric contemporary human communication public discourse persuasion linguistics performance and orality The book s wealth of practical guidelines for every step of sermon development encourages students to apply general principles within their own contexts of ministry How To Design Alliterated Sermons Donald
